GOV. ROY J. TURNER

To the chief executive of the state of Oklahoma we pay our sincere respects, for a government representative of all the people; for his policies of progress in every province of this state and for his talent as administrator of one of the nation's most dynamic commonwealths.

DR. HENRY G. BENNETT

With gratitude and sincere appreciation for two decades of progress on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus, for an epochal building cycle for students and alumni; for an educational program in line with America's highest type, we salute our president, Dr. Henry G. Bennett.

A MESSAGE from the PRESIDENT

"I don't think much of a man who isn't wiser today than he was yesterday."—Abraham Lincoln.

The mind of the individual today is an empire whose bounds and whose resources are unlimited. Every year in the field of education brings us more closely to the realization that preferred destinies are within our own grasp. To this end, personal goals, industry and purpose are placing us within reach of our fondest desire . . . and we are marching forward.

The close of another year gives pause to underscore these thoughts. This volume, in part, measures the treasured pace at which you have travelled toward your particular star. You, as the very fibre of the college itself, are the light by which it sees most clearly; you and the provinces you would explore, are our challenge.

No two days, no two years are alike, for time marches on irrevocably and the technology of the mind and the universe improves. For the student and the scene on which you move at the Oklahoma A. & M. College, quality is the common denominator and the essence of our design, and you are keeping step. It can be no less, for you are the arbiters, you are the empire whose bounds and resources are unlimited.

"No excellency without great labor," is as valid for the student as for the college itself. We extol Work as the great craftsman and it is as much a truism now as on the occasion a mind invented the thought. The four letters of this word frame the door that opens onto vistas of opportunity, service, achievement, success and contentment . . . and it is the truly educated who understand the facts and nuances the term conveys.

Together the student body and friends of our school have created, "The Greater A. and M. College," and you are its reason for being. It is with high pride that we reflect on our past year, perhaps the most constructive cycle in the history of our college by way of physical, faculty and facility expansion. Each year we build for the future, but the immediate maturity here will be the fulfillment of one of our most vivid dreams.

"I don't think much of a man who isn't wiser today than he was yesterday," is your philosophy just as it was Abraham Lincoln's, and you have proven it. In linking your empire of the mind to work and purpose, your domain is the world and its store of riches. On this endeavor hangs the key to survival and happiness.

President Bennett always welcomes a talk with the students as he does here with Lloyd Murphy, O'Collegian editor; Ruth Franklin, student senate president, and Lewis Brockman, REDSKIN editor.

BOARD of REGENTS

Under the current board of regents, the Oklahoma A. & M. College has moved forward with perhaps the greatest momentum in its history. The building program as well as other progressive measures endorsed by the regents, are providing this institution with facilities for its greatest opportunities.

The present membership of the board includes R. T. Stuart, Caddo, chairman; Fred G. Drummond, Hominy, vice-chairman; W. Elmer Harber, Shawnee, secretary; P. E. Harrill, Oklahoma City; Edward T. Davis, Erick; O. L. Lackey, Hitchita; Earl Russell, Duncan; John Pat Carpenter, Red Rock, and Harold Hutton, Clinton.

The board of regents has the authority and is charged with the responsibility of directing the disposition of all moneys from the sale of bonds authorized by law for the colleges, and it is provided that the board shall have supervision or charge of the construction of all buildings provided for the college under its jurisdiction.

The board has the power to employ presidents, necessary teachers, instructors and assistants to conduct the schools under its jurisdiction.

The board of regents for the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College was created by an amendment designated as Sec. 31a, Article 6, of the Oklahoma constitution. The amendment was adopted at a special election July 11, 1944.

A majority of the board must be farmers and the ninth member is the president of the state board of agriculture. It is provided that the members of the board shall be appointed for eight years each with one term expiring each year.

Through their magnitude of vision, the Oklahoma A. & M. College has become the crossroads of outstanding educational service. Providing facilities and notable faculty staff, the board of regents has guided the destiny of the college to the high place it holds among national institutions of learning.

A. W. S.

The letters, AWS, stand for the Association of Women Students. This organization is the first that an Aggie coed joins as each woman student automatically becomes a member upon enrolling in Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The work of AWS includes regulation of matters pertaining to women students which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the faculty.

AWS is composed of an executive board, a legislative board and judicial board. The executive board is the governing body of the organization and is composed of seven girls who represent their respective campus groups and a president, vice-president, secretary and a treasurer elected by vote of all women students. Julia E. Stout, dean of women, serves as sponsor of this board.

The legislative board is headed by the AWS vice-president. Its membership is made up of a representative from each sorority and one from each floor of all women's dormitories. Estelle Hammond, assistant to the dean of women, is their sponsor.

The judicial board is composed of three coeds —a sophomore, a junior and one from the senior class. Vesta Etchison is the advisor for this group.

The first major project undertaken by the AWS this year was the annual "Howdy" picnic which is a welcoming affair held in honor of all new A. & M. women students. It was given on the banks of Theta pond.

Second on the list of major projects was the matinee tea, which serves as a welcome to women students arriving on the campus for the first time during the second semester. Entertainment for the afternoon was provided by student artists. This was also the first year AWS sponsored the Campus Chest drive. In addition, the association was in charge of Sadie Hawkins week, the booklets for freshman women and the installation dinner.

STUDENT SENTATE

OFFICERS

RUTH FRANKLIN . . . . . President

MOLLY HARTWICK . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

JIM MURPHY . . . . . President Pro-Tempore

BUDDY REGER . . . . . President Pro-Tempore

The student senate is the legislative branch of the Student association, and acting in such capacity, issues charters to newly organized groups which gain the approval of the senate, supervises the spring elections, sponsors numerous dances and pep rallies throughout the school year, and serves as the official student body representative in matters dealing with the college administration and students of the college. It is this latter responsibility which is the most important function of the senate.

Those elected in the spring of 1948 to serve on the 1948-49 senate were Ruth Franklin, president; Molly Hartwick, secretary-treasurer; Jim Murphy, senior senator who was elected president pro-tempore; Alice Lorraine Heard and Jo Ann Wiles, senior senators; Don Wyatt and Oralie Dunaway, junior senators; Joe Francis, sophomore senator; Shirley Kyle, arts and sciences senator; Buddy Reger, agriculture senator; Oleta Greer, home economics senator; Paul Teel, commerce senator; Bill Jernigan, education senator; King Gibson, veterinary medicine senator, and Tom Holberlein, engineering senator. Raymond Wegener filled Jim Murphy's term upon Murphy's graduation at midyear.

Joe Bradley, President Student Association; Oralee Dunnaway, Junior Senator; Ruth Franklin, President Student Senate, Vice-President Student Association; Oleta Greer, Home Economics Senator; Molly Hartwick, Secretary-Treasurer Student Association and Student Senate; Alice Lorraine Heard, Senior Senator; Bill Jernigan, Education Senator; Shirley Kyle, Arts & Sciences Senator; Jim Murphy, Senior Senator; Buddy Reger, Agriculture Senator; Joan Wiles, Senior Senator; Don Wyatt, Junior Senator. Francis, Greer, Holzberlein, Teel, Reger, Gibson, Campbell, Franklin, Hartwick, Murphy, Kyle, Wiles, Wyatt, Dunaway, Jernigan.

Some of the major senate activities for the school year were sponsoring the freshman election, queen race and coronation ball, Sadie Hawkins week and dance, numerous victory dances during football and basketball seasons, junior-senior prom in the spring, Western week, all-school spring elections and several listening parties and dances.

The senate presented trophies and plaques to winners and runners-up in the annual homecoming parade and house decoration contests, and sponsored an all-college leadership training conference, the first of its kind in several years. Campus forums were held to discuss current topics of interest to college students at various intervals throughout the year. The senate also created a definite victory celebration policy which gained the whole-hearted approval of the administration and students.

A January graduation exercise was held at A. & M. for the first time in the history of the school and a board of radio was set up by the senate to supervise the activities of the newly organized campus radio station.

Several group meetings were held with the student senates from the University of Tulsa and the University of Oklahoma for the purpose of discussing mutual campus and school problems and to better the friendship among the schools. Several inter-college resolutions were drafted and approved by each school. The senate also rewrote the A. & M. constitution and improved and set aside from the basic constitution most of the by-laws which formerly were a part of the constitution. The constitution was re-written to meet changing conditions and increased enrollment at A. & M.

The student senate also spearheaded an old book sale drive on the campus, the proceeds from which are being used to extend financial help to needy A. & M. students so that they may continue their education. The book sales proceeds were set up in a Student Memorial Loan fund, in honor of A. & M. World war II dead.

Senate plans for the immediate future include the naming of new and proposed buildings on the campus, a filing record of the activities of this year's senate for the use of future senate members.

DIVISION OF AGRICULTURE

The Division of Agriculture of Oklahoma A. & M. College is one of the foremost in the United States. It plays an important part in maintaining the high standing for Oklahoma's basic industry, agriculture.

The Division of Agriculture includes the School of Agriculture, the Agricultural Experiment station, and the Agricultural Extension service. The School of Agriculture is composed of the departments of agricultural chemistry research, agricultural economics, agricultural education, agricultural engineering, agricultural journalism, agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, entomology, food processing, forestry, horticulture, poultry husbandry and the department of sociology and rural life.

The experiment station finds new facts, ways and methods to be used in the field of agriculture. These results are taught the students in the regular courses. The extension service carries the instruction to state farmers who cannot leave their work.

Much of the fame that has come to the Aggie school is due to the outstanding work and untiring effort of Dean Warren Lale Blizzard. Head of the Division of Agriculture since 1939, Dean Blizzard has been a member of the A. & M. faculty since 1915.

SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Completing his 21st year with Oklahoma A. & M. College and his 13th year as dean of arts and sciences, Dean Schiller Scroggs has made the School of Arts and Sciences one of high standing

The School of Arts and Sciences provides a liberal education as background for vocations as well as offering highly specialized training. Students from all schools enroll in courses listed under the arts and sciences curricula.

The four distinctive functions of the school provide basic training for students enrolled in vocational schools; vocational training in the social, physical and biological sciences and in the humanities; an orientation for students whose inexperience or immaturity justifies a broad survey of the chief fields of knowledge preliminary to choosing a vocation, and it provides in four-year curricula the cultural background characteristic of well-educated men and women.

not only on the campus but also in the nation.

Dean Scroggs received his first degree from Southeastern State College in Durant. After receiving his A. M. degree from Columbia, he continued his study at Yale university where he was granted a Ph. D. degree.

DIVISION OF COMMERCE

Business and government are calling for scientifically trained men and women with a high degree of versatility and ability to occupy positions of leadership.

The Division of Commerce strives to accomplish its goal of preparing people to answer this call. The record of graduates reveals abundant evidence that this goal is being realized.

The Division of Commerce, however, does not rest on past laurels. Continuous study and work are being done to gain a better understanding of the purposes and functions of business. Not only are the mechanical skills and technical knowledge stressed, but also the personality traits of having the courage to face reality, to assume responsibility and to live helpfully in social groups.

The entire staff of the school is willing to counsel and advise the students, but its attitude is one of helpfulness and not over-sympathy. Self-reliance and self-direction are stressed in student relations.

Raymond D. Thomas, dean of the Division of Commerce, is an executive of whom private business would be proud. He practices the principles he teaches in his classes. His office doors are always open to both students and faculty.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

The testing bureau is located in the department of psychology. This bureau serves the students of all the schools. It administers all the psychological tests, placement tests and, in addition, administers specific tests upon requests from instructors, advisors and the students themselves.

The School of Education serves the profession of teaching in somewhat the same manner as other professional schools serve the professions for which they are designated to offer training. In view of the demands of public education, the School of Education has three rather distinct major functions. These functions include teacher education, the training of administrative and supervisory personnel, and professional service.

The School of Education also serves other schools on the campus through courses offered in philosophy, photography, psychology and religious education.

The School of Education is proud of the record that its graduates have made. They are located in schools throughout Oklahoma and other states in the nation.

Dr. Wilson Little, dean of the School of Education, holds degrees from North Texas State Teachers college and Texas university. Dr. Little assumed his duties as dean at the beginning of the school year. Before this appointment Dean Little was with the University of California. He spent two years, 1944-45, on the A. & M. college faculty as associate professor of education.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Graduate courses were first offered by the Oklahoma A. & M. College in 1910-11. At present, work leading to master's degrees is given in 44 fields or subjects, and the doctor of education or doctor of philosophy degree in seven subjects or fields.

The demand for graduate training is increasing as better qualifications are required to fill many positions. In the Graduate school the student may study in his special subject or he may take work which will increase his knowledge and skill in other fields. The student is encouraged to do independent planning and study.

The Graduate school was organized by the present dean, Daniel C. McIntosh. He is a graduate of the Indianapolis College of Pharmacy, with a Ph. G., Iowa State College, B. S., and Indiana university, with an A. B., A. M. and Ph. D.

The graduate faculty consists of the president of the college, the dean of the Graduate school, and professors and associate professors who have advanced degrees and teach graduate students or carry on research. For more than two years several committees have been working on a reorganization of the Graduate school to make the program of more value to the students.

The upward trend of graduate enrollment indicates the awareness of students to the value of advanced education.

DIVISION OF HOME ECONOMICS

The Oklahoma A. & M. Division of Home Economics has the departments of home economics education, home life, household art, household science, hotel and restaurant management, and home economics research. This school has kept pace with the fast changing demands of the business and professional world. The school has a hotel and restaurant management curricula with an enrollment of men students comparable to those enrolled in other colleges.

The purposes of the Division of Home Economics are to provide a general cultural program based on the needs of students enrolled in home economics; to educate women and men for homemaking and to train women and men for positions wherein home economics provides the major or minor preparation.

Dean Nora A. Talbot is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. and Columbia university, and has had one year of administrative work at Harvard university. She has brought laurels to A. & M.

for its progress in developing new phases of all types of home economics.

Dean Talbot has gained national recognition for her work in organizing the first home economics class for men in 1925 and which led to the present semester enrollment of 250 men enrolled in various courses in which they selected as a part of their education. Her graciousness and personality set a perfect example for her students to follow.

OKLAHOMA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

The Oklahoma Institute of Technology embraces three major divisions of activity: the Division of Engineering instruction, the Division of Engineering Research and Experiment station, and the Division of Engineering and Industrial extension. Instruction in both undergraduate and graduate courses is given in all major fields of engineering, including architecture. Two-year terminal courses are also offered in the School of Technical Training.

Dean Edward R. Stapley, administrative head of the Institute, holds degrees in engineering from Cornell university and Harvard university. He is recognized as an able professional engineer and an unusually capable engineering teacher and educational administrator. He is listed in Who's Who in Engineering, American Men of Science, and Who's Who in American Education.

Assisting in the general administration of the institute is Prof. Melvin R. Lohmann, who was named vice-dean at the beginning of the current college year. Dean Stapley and vice-dean Lohmann, along with many members of the institute staff, are registered professional engineers in Oklahoma

The reputation of the Oklahoma Institute of Technology for training engineers on undergraduate and graduate levels, and for its research and extension activity, is becoming more and more widespread with each succeeding year.

SCHOOL OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

The School of Veterinary Medicine is the youngest to be added to the schools of A. & M. college.

The school opened March 1, 1948, and now has 65 students enrolled. The purpose of the school is to train veterinarians to practice veterinary medicine in Oklahoma. With the completion of a new building, which is now under construction, the school will be well-equipped to teach required courses. To secure a degree in veterinary medicine requires two years of pre-veterinary work plus the regular four-year course in the school.

The head of the School of Veterinary Medicine is Dean Clarence Hamilton McElroy. He has been with Oklahoma A. & M. College for more than 40 years. At present he is a professor of bacteriology and is also head of that department. He is the faculty advisor for Blue Key, Phi Sigma and Phi Eta Sigma.

Dean McElroy received his B. S. degree from A. & M. and his D. V. M. from St. Joseph Veterinary college.

Dean "Mac," as he is known to all students, is always willing to advise and counsel any student who desires guidance.

A faculty of 12 graduate veterinarians has been secured by Dean McElroy. Through his efforts and the efforts of the staff the School of Veterinary Medicine at Oklahoma A. & M. will be one of the top-ranking schools of the nation.

DEAN of STUDENTS

Dean O. K. Campbell completed his first year as dean of students at Oklahoma A. & M. College. Dean Campbell's position places emphasis on the problems of men students at A. & M. His duties include counselling, orientation of new students, and general advisement of men.

Dean Campbell stated, at the first of the year, "Our office will strive to serve Aggies in every way possible. Our activities are centered around students because much of our work will be with some phases of the many student organizations."

The new dean has worked in close cooperation with the student senate this year. His advice and counsel has proved invaluable in solving the many problems confronting the students.

Dean Campbell came to A. & M. in 1939 and was appointed chairman of counsellors of men's residence halls and professor in the School of Education. Later he was appointed acting head of the educational administration department in the School of Education in addition to his former position.

DEAN of WOMEN

The department of dean of women is, in a way, a clearing house for the college activities and the guidance of women students on the campus. The services of the office are at all times open to the individual and to the many women's organizations for counsel.

Dean Julia E. Stout has been dean of women at Oklahoma A. & M. College since 1928. The position of advising and looking after the welfare of the women students in social, financial and scholastic affairs is hers.

The counselling system in women's residence halls at A. & M. works out of the office of the dean of women. All hostesses for women's halls and houses are advised by Mrs. Anna Stringfield, who heads the counselling system, and Dean Stout who is the official hostess of the college.

Mrs. Estelle Hammond, assistant to the dean, heads the women's student employment service through the department of dean of women.

YWCA, AWS, Panhellenic, Grand Council and other women's groups work closely with this office.

"Don't let housing catch up with you—we must have housing!"

In August, 1945, President Henry G. Bennett jotted these words down on a note pad; words which became a motto culminating in the opening of Veterans Village less than six months later.

Veterans Village, located on a 130-acre hillside adjoining the campus proper, officially opened Jan. 28, 1946, with 178 single efficiency and expandable trailers and 195 pre-fabricated homettes. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard West became the first village residents when they moved into a trailer at No. 9 Osage. They still occupy the same trailer.

The village continued to grow through the spring and summer of 1946 as 200 apartments and 500 homettes were added. The village reached its present size when 210 more apartments were completed.

With an estimated population of more than 4,000 the village is now a busy little community with a commissary, a branch post office, laundry, dispensary, fire station, and three nurseries. The J. W. Mooney Memorial Recreation hall, named in honor of one of the village's most highly respected and best loved citizens, was the last building to be completed.

John A. Stevens is the present manager of Veterans Village. He succeeded Val Connell, the first manager, in August of 1946.

The village has its own government with a mayor, vice-mayor, city council, and special commissioners. A fire chief and regular crew are always ready to man the two fire trucks; a maintenance crew keeps the homes in repair; two nurses are in attendance at the Ben Brumley Memorial dispensary, and a recreation director supervises the activities at the recreation hall.

Community government came to the village March 29, 1946, when John Kelly was elected mayor and Clifton J. Byrd was elected vice-mayor. Eight councilmen took office at the same time. Quentin Rizley succeeded Kelly as mayor and in turn was followed by Melvin Berger, Walter Skaggs, Robert J. Brown and Willis J. Wheat.

The center of village activities is Mooney Recreation hall. Craft classes for the wives of veterans are held under the supervision of the Homemakers club. Seasonal sports for both men and women occupy the main floor during most of the year. A reading room and several clubrooms are available to special interest groups. Several events take place on the stage each year and the recreation commission sponsors several dances for villagers each year. During the summer, movies are shown outside the hall and a lighted croquet court is available for the more active. Future plans include a fully equipped kitchen and a woodworking shop. A barber shop, a beauty shop, and a snack bar provide for other needs of the village.

The village is a planned city. The streets bear names familiar to the veterans of World war II. In the west section, the larger streets have names of Pacific islands, the engineers who built them having served in the Pacific during the war. The streets in the east section bear French names, because the engineers who built them had served in France. The smaller streets are named for counties and towns of Oklahoma.

There is a nursery for the village children.

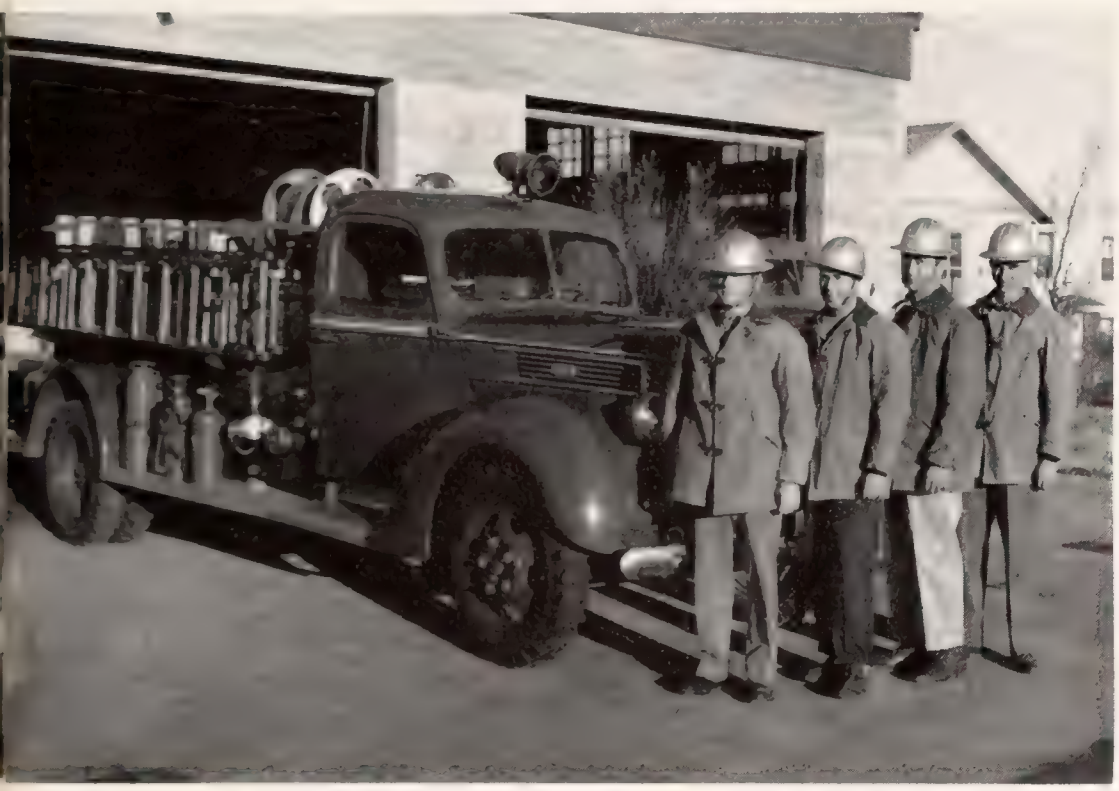

Shots and a crying baby make a typical infirmary picture.

The village commissary provides many items for the family table.

Another proud couple, Jean and Jerry Carmen and baby Phillip.

Busy village street scene with the college in the background.

Veterans Village is usually represented in every important activity that is a part of an A. & M. school year, such as the annual homecoming parade and the Varsity Revue. This year, the village took second place honors in originality for its original stork float. Helen Donceel and Mary Bogert represented the village wives as candidates for the title of "Miss Varsity Revue of 1949."

Another important item to the residents of Veterans Village is the bi-weekly newspaper, The Village Times. It was edited this year by John Jeffries and Andy O'Connor. Judy Wheat, wife of the present village mayor, wrote the society news for the paper.

During its short life, Veterans Village has amassed many firsts. It was the first college housing project for veterans of any size in the United States. For three consecutive years the first baby of the year, born in Stillwater or vicinity, called Veterans Village, home. The village laid claim to another first during the year when the political science department set up a practical course in municipal government for Veterans Village officials, one of the first, if not the first, of its kind in the United States.

Villagers have settled down and are raising families, learning professions, taking their places as useful citizens, and taking the lead in building the post-war world.

Mail and the bulletin board bring most residents to the village post office.

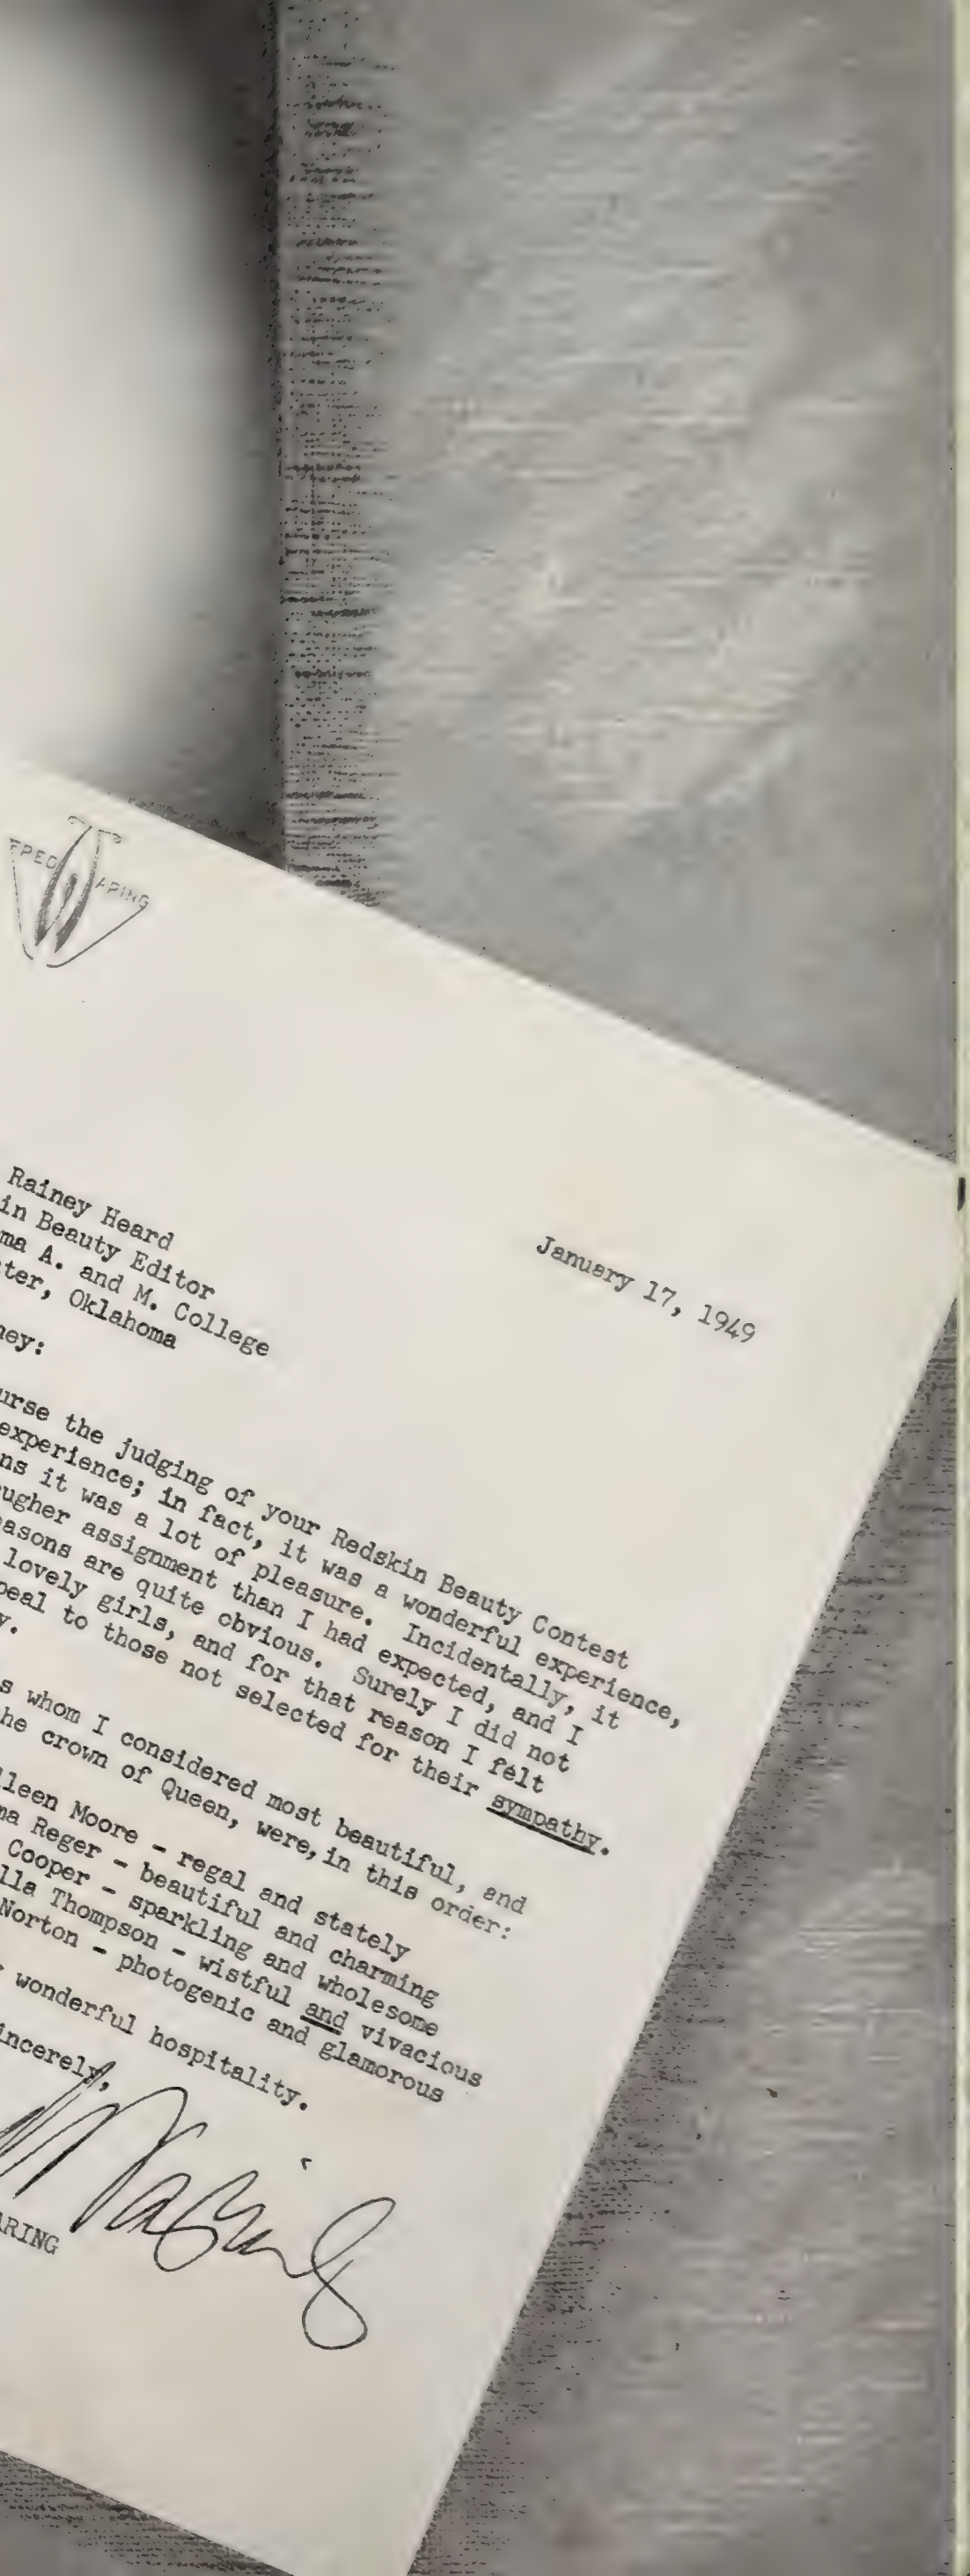

The center of much activity is the J. W. Mooney Recreation center.

Miss Rainey Heard
Redskin Beauty Editor
Oklahoma A. and M. College
Stillwater, Oklahoma

Dear Rainey:

Of course the judging of your Redskin Beauty Contest was a fine experience; in fact, it was a wonderful experience, and that means it was a lot of pleasure. Incidentally, it was a much tougher assignment than I had expected, and I believe the reasons are quite obvious. Surely I did not expect so many lovely girls, and for that reason I felt compelled to appeal to those not selected for their sympathy. To them I'm sorry.

The five girls whom I considered most beautiful, and most eligible for the crown of Queen, were, in this order:

1. Colleen Moore - regal and stately
2. Norma Reger - beautiful and charming
3. Jean Cooper - sparkling and wholesome
4. Mariella Thompson - wistful and vivacious
5. Nancy Norton - photogenic and glamorous

Thanks again for your wonderful hospitality.

Sincerely,

FRED WARING

THE 1949 REDSKIN

Theme of the 1949 REDSKIN is "A picture story of our Aggie days." This is our sincere effort to give to the students, faculty, and outside world a historical record of 1949 at A. & M. This has been another great year and one which has seen construction start on a new Student Union building, a huge men's dormitory and a new power plant. One of the world's finest dairy barns was completed and the contract let for the beautiful new library.

Along with the growing school itself, the REDSKIN has grown into a big business. To be a success it requires close harmony between the engraver, printer, photographer, and the REDSKIN staff. About the same time that last year's book was being distributed, groundwork for this year's book was being laid. After much preliminary planning, actual work began before fall enrollment. Posters in campus hangouts reminded students to fill out their REDSKIN cards in the enrollment packets. Students responded wonderfully, setting an all-time record for REDSKIN sales.

Soon after start of classes, individual picture-taking began at Osborn's new studio on Washington street. Helping the photographer from the REDSKIN staff were secretaries Sarah Barton and Mac Bradley. As thousands of these class pictures began to roll into the REDSKIN office, staffers Merky Miles, Dot Vogel, Flo Hastings, Terry Leard and secretary Dorothy Holliman began the endless task of sorting pictures. Joyce Shultz, Robert Hess and Patricia Coffey also aided in this and other varied jobs.

About this same time, after organization contracts were signed, Sales Manager Fran Ernest and assistant Bob Hess began scheduling and taking group pictures of the some 150 organizations having pages in this year's book.

FRAN ERNEST, Sales Manager

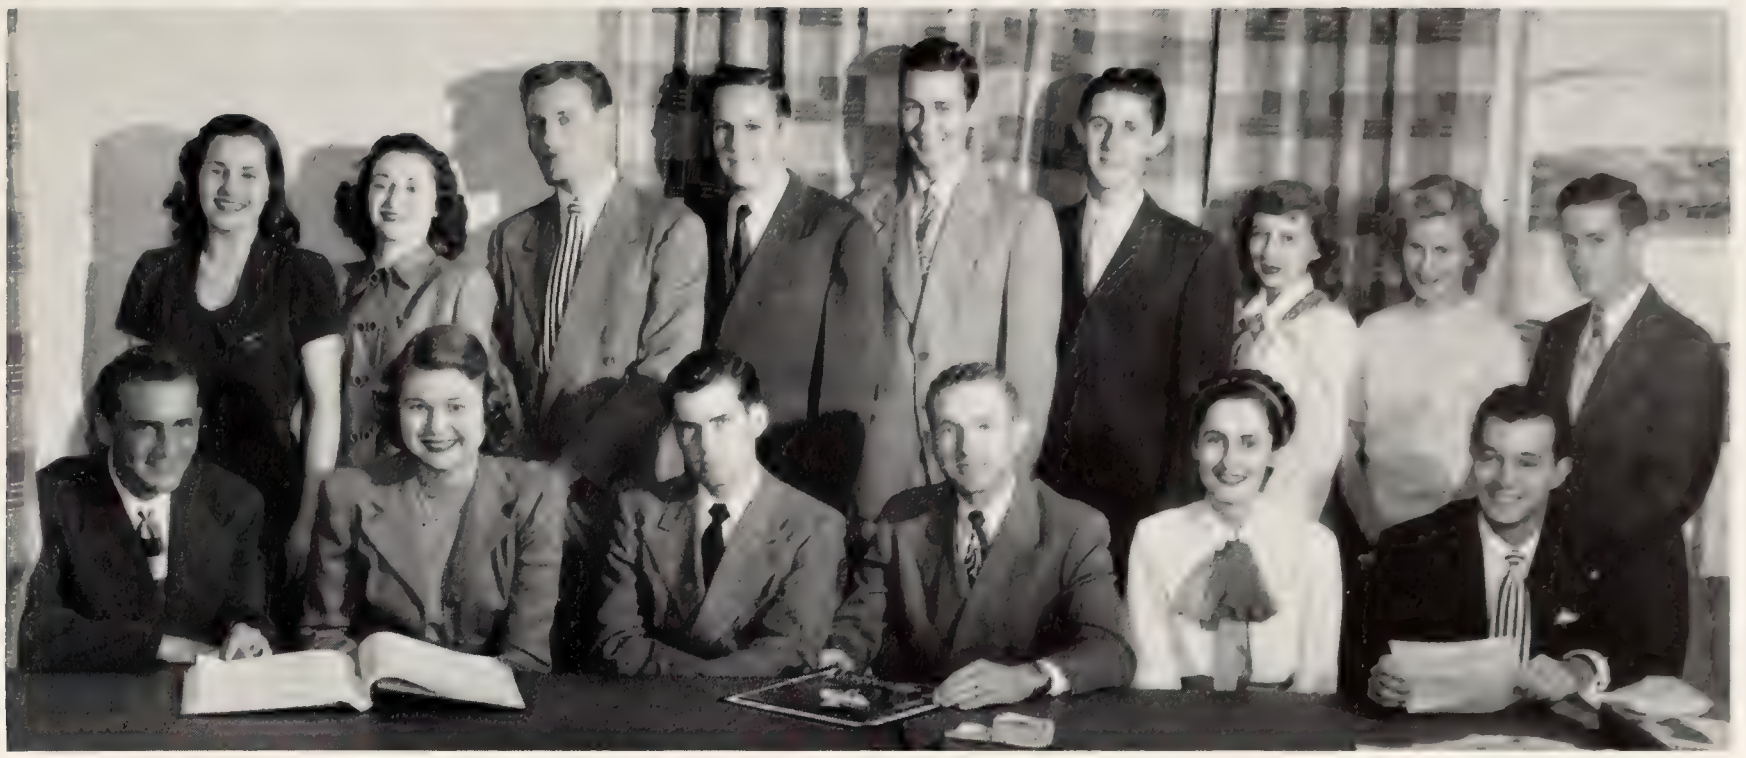

LEWIS B. BROCKMAN, Editor

The military editor, Barney Neal, did a fine job scheduling numerous companies and squadrons for pictures and in writing copy for the military section. Bill Harmon, second semester O'Collegian sports editor, doubled as REDSKIN sports editor and furnished the athletic writeups, with the aid of Otis Wile's office.

A new angle for the selection of REDSKIN beauties was used this year. Fred Waring's visit to the A. & M. campus was utilized to have the top beauties selected in person rather than from photographs as in the past. Beauty editor Rainey Heard contacted Waring and he consented to judge the contestants in person during his visit here. After much deliberation among the 32 lovely entries, Waring selected the five top winners appearing in the beauty section.

Deadlines and more deadlines again caused many hours of overtime work, especially in finishing the class sections before the holidays so that we could all go home for Christmas on time. Faithful Dorothy Holliman kept the work flowing at a fast pace and with a few long nights of work by Sarah Barton, Mac Bradley, Terry Leard and Fran Ernest we made it.

After Dorothy Holliman graduated, Sarah and Mac continued to pound the typewriters with some able assistance from Bob Shaffer until all the copy was off to the printer.

Al Johndrow served as associate editor with valuable aid in the office and dummy layout work. In fact, he even found time to get married in the process. Don Campbell also gave aid to the cause.

Many thanks to members of a swell staff for all of their time and fine effort. Yes sir, putting out a yearbook is a task, but the experience has been invaluable and fun, too!

THE O'COLLEGIAN

When the 1948-49 college year rolled around, Editor-Elect Lloyd Murphy, Jr., took one look at O'Collegian staff prospects and shuddered. Gone by graduation or by other means were the experienced copydesk staff members of the previous year. Staff prospects soon brightened, however, as Murphy collared one and then another would-be journalist.

This year was the 54th year of continuous publication of The Daily O'Collegian, the official student newspaper of Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The first semester masthead listed Murphy as editor; Herb Williams and Don Watters, assistant editors; Luellyn Wright, George Ann Vernon and Lee Carman, news editors; Loyd Hackler, sports editor; Bill Harmon and John Abrams, assistant sports editors, and Dorothy Shuler and Jeanne Oldham, co-society editors.

Gene Allen, Jack Rector, Bill Daniels and Bob Jorns comprised the advertising staff. Johnnie Holeman served as circulation manager and Carol Stephens as proofreader. Joe Bevis, assistant to the general manager, supervised the work of the business staff.

The staff was set, and with faculty editorial adviser Elmer Woodson, virtual "god-father" of the paper, somewhat apprehensive of the results, the O'Collegian began to roll on its daily schedule.

One of the earliest "staff members" added was a full-time, 10-hour night leased Associated Press wire, which kept A. & M. students informed on state, national and world news.

Another innovation was the change in November from the standard size eight-column paper to that of a five-column, eight-page tabloid.

For the second straight year, advanced classes from the technical journalism department received practical training in the newsroom of the O'Collegian, under the supervision of journalism instructors. Members of classes in advanced reporting and advanced editing not only fulfilled their regular duties on the paper, but they also were instructed as to the duties of the various departmental editors by the regular staff editors.

The system of issue editors, started two years ago, was continued. Editor Murphy named five staff members as issue editors, with each responsible for the paper one day a week.

The student publications board reelected Lloyd Murphy editor of the O'Collegian for the spring semester. Herb Williams was promoted from assistant editor to associate editor. News editors Luellyn Wright and George Ann Vernon also received new titles, being advanced to assistant editors. Loyd Hackler, first semester sports editor, was promoted to assistant editor. Marvin Murphy, member of the advanced reporting class of the first semester, was named news editor. Bill Harmon and John Abrams served as sports editors the spring semester. Bill Daniels, of the advertising staff, also took on the duties of assistant sports editor. Dot Shuler and Jeanne Oldham continued as co-society editors.

On the business staff, C. Mark Wilson served as circulation manager the second semester.

Staff cartoonists for the year were Bob "Jake" Jacobson and Norman Steffy.

Invaluable reporters who stuck with the O'Collegian most of the year included Bill Sallee, agricultural news reporter; Charles Gilmore, special assignment reporter; Steve Washenko and Dave Ross, sports writers; Bill Scheidt, engineering news reporter; Ruthie Andrews, women's sports reporter; JoLou Douglas and Ann Drummond, society reporters; Evanell Johnson, Kathleen Murphy, Bruce Johnson, George McBride, Roy Roush, Carol Price and John Williams, general news reporters. And there were others not named here.

THE AGGIEVATOR

The Aggievator, which is hardly ever a conventional magazine, was even less conventional this year; in fact, it made an earthquake look like a normal occurrence. Perhaps none, or perhaps all, of this unusual situation was due to the fact that the editor was Carl Meyerdirk, who soon picked up the nickname of "Mad" Meyerdirk.

Meyerdirk was ably abetted by Lee Carman and artist-extraordinary Bob Jacobson. With the aid of these trusty lieutenants, he sponsored a "Gamorous Man" contest. The event was done up with all the fancy trimmings—Bob Covert and his Varsitonians playing "Sweet and Lovely," numbered satin garters and an audience of cheering, whistling supporters for each pair of legs. Jack Stuart, Kappa Sig, sponsored by the Kappa Delta sorority, received the trophy and title.

The Aggievator again astounded the campus in November when the editor announced that he would have a Sadie Hawkins issue of the magazine out during the Backward week. It came out and was widely acclaimed as "the first Aggievator on time in 30 years of publication." And then came the Christmas issue, and it was on time, too.

The second semester brought two great blows to the magazine staff. Lee Carman withdrew from school, and even more catastrophic, the O'Colly printed a letter indicting the Aggievator on the charge that it printed lewd and filthy jokes. Of course this was untrue. The Aggievator staff is made up of the cream of American youth—normal young American boys and girls who are clean living and clean thinking, who feel it is their responsibility to give students of Oklahoma A. & M. College a worthwhile magazine devoted to the higher things in life. Besides, Professor Trout is a very strict censor.

BOB JACOBSON, Associate Editor

CARL MEYERDIRK, Editor

The three issues which came out during the second semester were dreams of long standing with the magazine staff. The February issue centered around a snow scene; the March issue was a "future issue" date with the year 2048, and the last issue for the year was built around a campus election theme. Coming out with a new policy shortly after the second semester began, Meyerdirk attempted to use more legs and more jokes in the magazine.

Glamour for the Aggievator this year was furnished by Marylu de Watteville and Barbara Brown. Marylu, when she dropped in, was especially good from the glamour angle (or do I mean curves?). Barbara, who was around a little more, also got in on a good share of the work. Some of the funniest stuff in the magazine flowed from her typewriter.

Other standbys throughout the year were Roger Hull and Bill Beck. Beck, well-known emcee of the Varsitonians, was especially good at hawking mags on the campus and also turned in some pretty funny stories.

The Aggievator would also like to take credit for discovering promising young cartoonist, Pappy Baker. He came wandering in about the time of the second issue and wasn't able to escape for the rest of the year. The professional big-business atmosphere of the magazine just seemed to hold him there. The log chains and bear traps also helped.

Lofty Mann, editor of the magazine last year, generally succeeded in keeping the magazine from getting too far into the red by acting as advertising manager. No matter how busy he was in putting on the Varsity Revue and other things, he always found time to sell ads.

No members of the Aggievator staff were hanged during the school year.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

The time-demanding job of supervising the editorial and business staffs of the college's three major student publications is delegated to the Board of Student Publications.

One of the oldest and most active groups on the campus, the publications board selects the editors of The Daily O'Collegian, the REDSKIN and the Oklahoma Aggievator and must approve all staff appointments on these publications.

So great has been the growth of the student newspaper, yearbook and humor magazine in the post-World war II years, that it has been necessary for the publications board to hold several special meetings, in addition to the regular ones each month, in order to take care of countless duties connected with the supervision of student publications.

Student members of the board for 1948-49 were Paul Putty, Jim Tindall, Maurine Preston, Bo Watson and Haylor Fisher. Fisher was elected to the board at the beginning of the second semester, filling the vacancy created when Tindall was graduated at mid-year.

Faculty representatives are Prof. Clement E. Trout, head of the technical journalism department, who is chairman; Prof. R. B. Thompson, head of the poultry department; Dean C. H. McElroy of the School of Veterinary Medicine, and Prof. Cecil B. Williams of the English department.

PROF. CLEMENT E. TROUT, Chairman

Elmer L. Woodson, general manager and faculty editorial adviser of student publications, is secretary of the publications board.

Each spring two student members, of junior classification, are elected by the student body to replace the two graduating members.

Woodson, Trout, Watson, Thompson, Putty, Preston, Williams, McElroy.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional and honorary journalism fraternity, completed its second year on the campus in the spring of 1949. Before receiving its national charter, the local chapter was known as the A. & M. Press club.

The purpose of the organization is to advance the standards of journalism as a profession by creating a high ethical code. By starting within the colleges with student journalists, Sigma Delta Chi has done much to raise the standards of the press since its founding.

WARREN SHULL, President

Sigma Delta Chi is one of the most active organizations on the campus. It co-sponsors the Varsity Revue, an all-campus production. Each year Sigma Delta Chi sponsors the Press princess ball. Margie Mounger won the title of 1948-49 Press princess at the 1948 ball. Plans were also made for the first annual gridiron banquet in the spring.

The A. & M. chapter also sends a delegate to its national convention. The convention was held in Milwaukee this year and Don Watters, along with Steve Washenko and Lofty Mann, attended the convention. The A. & M. chapter annually makes one of the best national showings.

Members are very active in student publications. Lloyd Murphy, Jr., edited The Daily O'Collegian in 1948-49 and Carl Meyerdirk was editor of the Aggievator. Herb Williams, associate editor; Don Watters, assistant editor; Loyd Hackler, assistant and sports editor, and Marvin Murphy, news editor, also served on the O'Collegian staff. Lofty Mann is Aggievator advertising manager.

George Church is faculty adviser.

THETA SIGMA PHI

Women of the press have only in recent years become a closely knit nationally organized group. Known as Theta Sigma Phi, the national honorary and professional organization for women journalists was founded in 1919.

The annual Varsity Revue production is co-sponsored with Sigma Delta Chi, the direction of the show alternating each year between these two groups.

Theta Sigma Phi also gives an annual Matrix Table dinner at which some prominent woman journalist is the featured speaker. This dinner is held every spring in celebration of the anniversary of the founding of the fraternity. Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer for Life magazine, was guest speaker for the 1948 Matrix Table, and Dorothy Thompson spoke for the 1949 banquet.

About 60 women students and faculty members attended the annual reception and tea honoring underclasswomen in journalism. This affair is held each fall to acquaint new students with their work and the department.

Each year Alpha Chi chapter of Theta Sigma Phi sends a delegate to the national convention. Last summer George Ann Vernon represented the local chapter at the Milwaukee, Wis., convention.

OKLAHOMA STATE ENGINEER

The Oklahoma State Engineer has been an established feature on the A. & M. campus since its inception in the fall of 1935. From the day the first issue rolled off the press right up to the present time, the magazine has been a spokesman for the students and faculty of the Oklahoma Institute of Technology. Staff members are chosen from engineering undergrads and all the articles and features are written by students enrolled in engineering.

ED PARKER, Editor

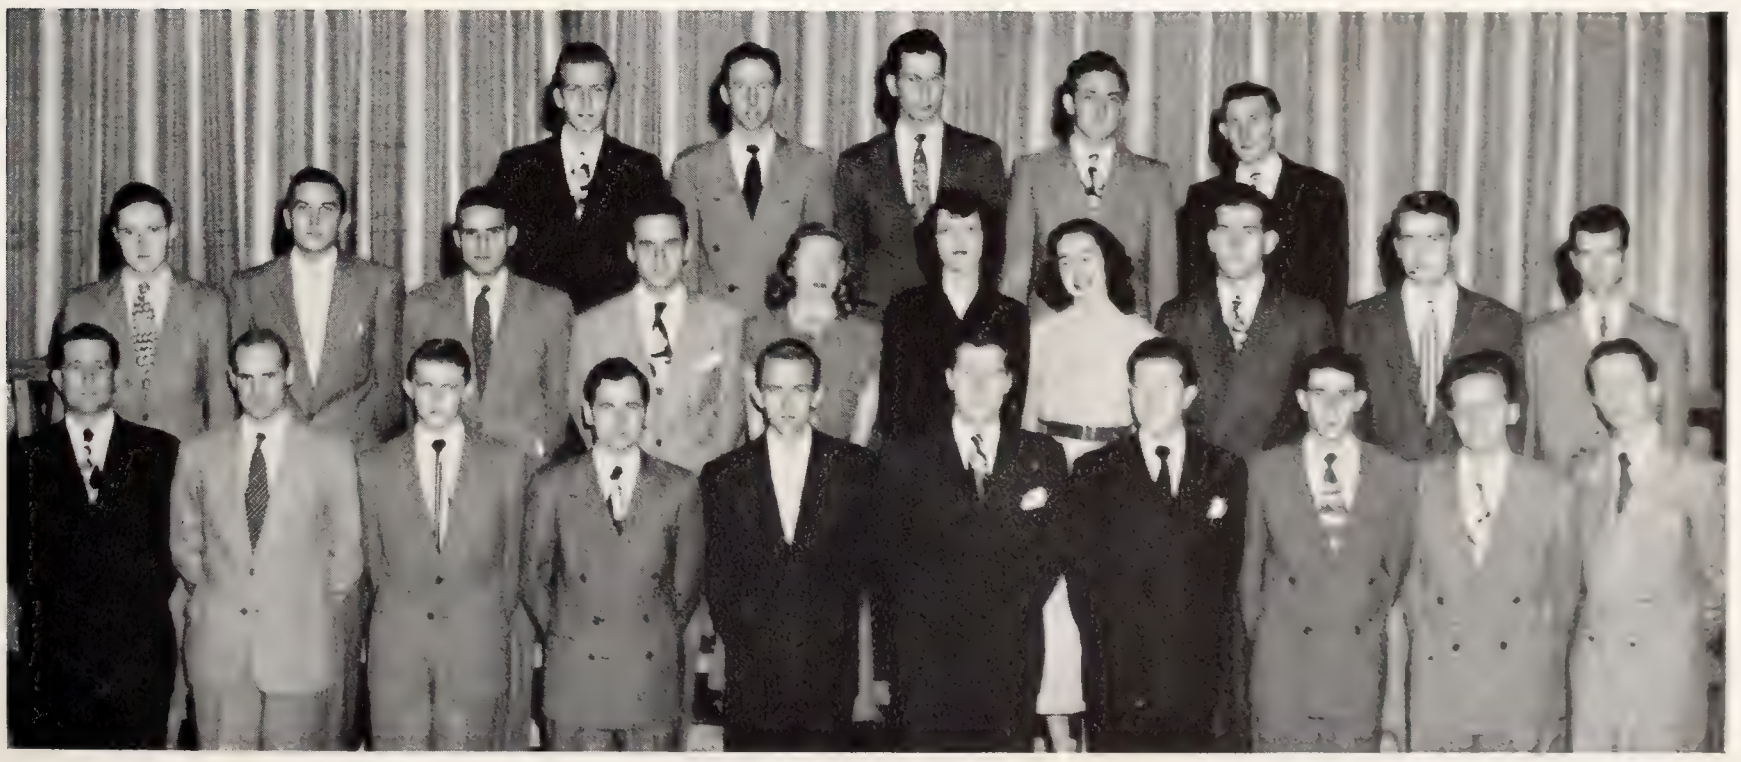

Under the capable supervision of J. O. Grantham, faculty advisor, the Oklahoma State Engineer has advanced to one of the leading magazines of this type. This year, for the first time in its history, college credit has been granted for work on the magazine. Other "firsts" for this year include an extensive training program for new staff members to acquaint them with the various phases of publication, and the devoting of each issue to different phases in a prominent Oklahoma industry.

Nine members of the staff attended the National Engineering College Magazines association convention held at Purdue, Ind. Ed Parker served as chairman of the nominations committee, Roy Allen was chairman of the ratings committee, and Bud Holzman and Tommy Smith served on the resolutions committee. Other staff members attending were Bill Johnson, Sam Harrill, "Corky" Gilbreath, Norman Cass and George Tims, faculty advisor for business.

The circulation of the Oklahoma State Engineer is 6,000, one of the three largest in the United States. Copies go to engineering students and alumni as well as Oklahoma industries.

FOMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The Former Students association of the Oklahoma A. & M. College, organized 20 years ago as the successor to all previous A. & M. alumni organizations, represents the 18,000 graduates, including the 1949 class, and some 50,000 other former students. The association headquarters, now in Old Central building, will be housed in the new Student Union building when completed and will be conveniently located for returning alumni and others who use the services provided through the office.

Purposes of the association, briefly stated, are to promote the interests and welfare of alumni and former students and to provide a means whereby they can work together for an ever greater Oklahoma A. & M. College. The program of activities set up to further these purposes includes the maintenance of alumni records, publication of the Oklahoma A. & M. College Magazine and the A. & M. College News, operation of the college placement bureau, sponsorship of homecomings and class reunions, the promotion of alumni clubs and former students meetings and an information and general service office for former students and the college. Alumni and former students are invited to visit the association office.

All A. & M. alumni are automatically members of the Former Students association for one year following graduation and should keep their addresses up to date in the office, so that they may receive their magazine and quarterly news publications and should unite with former students of other years in using the facilities of the organization regularly as a vital connecting link with their alma mater, ever remembering that alumni and institutional prestige go hand in hand and that which is beneficial to the one is profitable to the other.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

FRANK COCHRAN, President

OFFICERS

FRANK COCHRAN . . . . . President
BILL CUNNINGHAM . . . . . Vice-President
JOE GIBSON . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

Membership of the Men's Interfraternity council is composed of the president and an appointee from each of the fraternities at Oklahoma A. & M. The presidents of the council are selected successively from the fraternities in rotational order according to their installation dates. The vice-president is selected from the fraternity following, in sequence of installation, the fraternity from which the president is chosen. The secretary-treasurer is elected by a popular vote from the membership of the council.

The Men's Interfraternity council, cooperating with the Women's Panhellenic council on the selection of a date, sponsored a highly successful and entertaining ribbon dance in honor of all new pledges, fraternity and sorority.

IFC events for the year included: operation of the annual interfraternity athletic program with cups and plaques being awarded the victorious fraternities; pledging and initiation business being carried out successfully and the sponsorship of the scholastic cups awarded at the end of each semester to the fraternity with the highest grade point average.

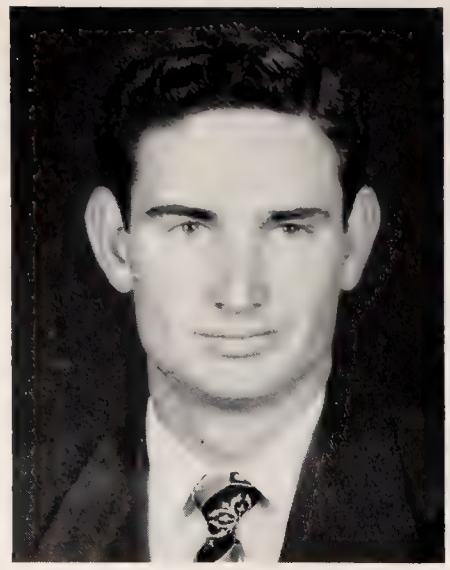

This year marked the first fraternity rush week to function under the new fall rush program which was installed on the campus by the council.

It is the purpose of the IFC to foster a spirit of friendliness and cooperative helpfulness among all fraternities on the campus and to provide an agency by means of which fraternities can cooperate in matters of common concern.

OFFICERS

DICK MALOY . . . . . President
BOB LOUIS . . . . . Vice-President
N. D. WARE . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

The Interfraternity Pledge council is sponsored by the Men's Interfraternity council but has its own constitution and acts as a separate organization. The pledge council is composed of the president and an elected representative from each of the fraternity pledge classes at Oklahoma A. & M. College.

The pledge council meets on alternate Thursdays, rotating its meeting place among various fraternity houses according to the seniority of the fraternity. The council makes policy recommendations to the participating pledge classes and assists them with their organization problems.

The Interfraternity Pledge council jointly sponsors several functions during the school year on the campus. With the cooperation of the Men's Interfraternity council and panhellenic an annual ribbon dance is held immediately after rush week each year to honor new pledges of the sororities and fraternities on the campus.

The next social function sponsored by the pledge council was a "Night Before Finals" dance for all fraternity pledges of the campus. This was held in the Old Gym on the night of January 22. Another function was a study hall sneak. By the rotation plan, Sigma Phi Epsilon furnished the president, Dick Maloy.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

OFFICERS

CELESTE SHINKLE . . . . . President
LAVONA THORNDYKE . . . . . Secretary
MARJORIE BLACKBURN . . . . . Treasurer

CELESTE SHINKLE, President

The Women's Panhellenic council is comprised of the president and one delegate from each of the nine national women's panhellenic fraternities on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus and works directly with the office of the dean of women. The officers of the Panhellenic council, held in rotation by each chapter in the order of its establishment on this campus, serve for a term of one year.

The purpose of the organization is "to maintain on a high plane, fraternity life and interfraternity relationships and to cooperate with the college authorities in their effort to maintain high social and scholastic standards throughout the college and fraternity world." Women's panhellenic acts as a forum for the discussion of questions of interest in the college and fraternity world and completes rules governing rushing, pledging and initiation on this campus.

Each woman's fraternity helps sponsor one of the annual projects during the school year. This year Alpha Chi Omega and Zeta Tau Alpha were in charge of the panhellenic workshop and altruistic program which was designed to give instruction on present day questions. Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi were in charge of the Campus Chest drive while other projects and sponsors were panhellenic dance, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Junior Panhellenic; panhellenic yearbook, Kappa Delta; rush booklets, Alpha Delta Pi and Kappa Alpha Theta, and spring reception, Delta Zeta.

OFFICERS

KARLA SUE SULLIVAN . . . . . President
LOUISE WILKINS . . . . . Secretary
JANE McMINIMY . . . . . Treasurer

The Junior Panhellenic council is a panhellenic training program for pledges. This organization, similar to the Women's Panhellenic council, is composed of the pledge president, a regular delegate and an alternate of each of the nine panhellenic women's fraternities on the campus.

The purpose of the junior panhellenic is to acquaint pledges with the organization and activities of senior panhellenic, to discuss problems common to the various fraternity pledges and to develop a broader understanding of leadership among college groups.

Junior Panhellenic council sponsors pledge teas given by each sorority pledge class on the campus, and this year shared the responsibility of the annual panhellenic dance. In addition, junior panhellenic sponsored a drive for Christmas gifts for children supported by the state welfare board. Approximately 450 gifts were distributed among these needy and appreciative Oklahoma children.

Officers are selected by the individual pledge class according to the alphabetical order of women's fraternities on the campus. The president for the year was from the Kappa Delta sorority.

GRAND COUNCIL

MOLLY HARTWICK, President

OFFICERS

MOLLY HARTWICK . . . . . President
JOAN WILES . . . . . Vice-President
LAWANDA DOTSON . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

Grand council is an organization which serves as a governing body for the women's residence halls. It encourages cooperation and serves as a representative body creating a feeling of unity for Willard, Murray and North Murray halls.

Dean Stout acts as the sponsor of the governing body which is composed of the president, secretary, social chairman and floor presidents of each hall.

Grand council was organized in June, 1943, when the women students moved from Murray hall to live in 11 of the fraternity houses called victory halls. This organization was to head the V-halls and continued to function when the girls moved back into the halls.

At the monthly meetings of the Grand council such things are discussed as ways to further scholastic standings, social activities and the activities of various organizations connected with Grand council. It assisted in the organization of Murray hall as a freshman dorm and with the adjustments that were made as a result of the change. Last year Grand council also assisted in organizing a similar council for men's dormitories.

The Grand council project for this year has been to sponsor through financial and other aid a weekly newspaper in each of the three women's dormitories.

WILLARD HALL

Willard hall first opened her doors to coeds in the fall of 1939. Although it was under the management of the navy during the war, it regained its status as women's residence hall on the campus of A. & M. in 1945.

The girls who live in Willard hall, named for Frances E. Willard, call it home, for here they find lasting friendships and a spirit of democracy. It is an architectural triumph, combining the elements of beauty, efficiency and comfort.

The hall itself is of the modified Georgian architecture, while the interior reflects modernistic treatment of the 18th century furnishings accentuated by two small living rooms done in early American and Chinese Chippendale styles.

Willard hall is under the supervision of the housemother, Mrs. Pope, and her assistants, Mrs. Tidwell, Mrs. Crozier and Mrs. Stringfield. They are aided by the house council which is the governmental organ, composed of the president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, social chairman and floor officers.

The officers, with the help of the other girls, were responsible for the fine entertainment and the winning house decorations for homecoming and the homecoming float.

Besides the regular dance hours, winter and spring formals are held to highlight the social functions of the girls who live in Willard hall. Besides dorm activities the Willard girls are active in sports and general campus activities. They are members of the scholastic honor societies and honorary fraternities and they all work for the honor of the hall making it a home of which to be proud.

MURRAY HALL

Well-known Murray hall, named for William H. Murray, governor of the state of Oklahoma when the building was constructed, became the center of interest on the campus this year. For the first time in its history this large women's dormitory, situated on the southwest corner of the Oklahoma A. & M. campus, housed all freshman girls on the campus. The only exceptions to this rule are the girls who live in Stillwater.

Head of the residence at Murray, Mrs. Maud Latimer, assisted by Mrs. Minnie Armour, Mrs. Mable Clingenpeel and Miss Elizabeth Choate, freshman advisor, aided the girls in adjusting to college life. Their understanding, counseling and careful guidance helped to give the girls the best hall possible in which to live and also to inject high ideals in each individual girl.

Although upperclassmen in Murray were represented only by the student counselors, Elizabeth Polk, Maudean Kuykendall, Clara Jander, Verna Wolfe, Dorothy Kirtley, Monette Mincher and Pat Carpenter, the freshman women lost no time in getting into the swing of college activities, both inside and outside of their dormitory. Shower duckings, house parties and pajama parties added gay diversions to regular study periods, and the beautiful "Snowball" Christmas formal was pronounced a huge success by all who attended. On the serious side, inspiring devotionals were held on each closed night. Also, a newspaper staff with Kathleen Jehlicka, editor, and Louise Wilkins, associate editor, published weekly editions of the "Murray Megaphone."

Claiming freshman girls in outside activities were various women's fraternities and campus organizations. Louise Wilkins was a member of Grand council, Delores Kurland captured the office of secretary-treasurer of the freshman class.

NORTH MURRAY HALL

North Murray, Oklahoma A. & M.'s dormitory for women who are upperclassmen, houses approximately 160 students. This is the first year the dormitory has operated as an independent unit.

The dormitory was named in honor of former Gov. William H. Murray and is a smaller replica of the four-story Georgian design found in Murray hall.

Head of North Murray hall is Mrs. Gertrude Reed, assisted by Mrs. Lillus Leach. With such capable and understanding women in the hall, it is easy to realize why the girls have learned to love living there.

Officers for the year include Lorna Allen, president; Alice Wingfield, vice-president; Nora Ruth Kirk, secretary-treasurer, and Wanda Parrish, social chairman.

Activities for the year included a Hallowe'en sock-hop, a Christmas date party and the annual spring formal, along with numerous other gala occasions.

Men's Halls

HANNER HALL

Hanner hall, Oklahoma A. & M.'s "athletic dormitory," houses approximately 162 men in its three-story structure located almost in the center of A. & M.'s campus.

Erected in 1925 in honor of Capt. Carter C. Hanner, World War I hero who fell in action, Hanner hall has in the past three years become known as the "athlete's home," with approximately 95 per cent of its boys being engaged in frosh and varsity sports.

A spirit of group living presides in this "home away from home" and this theme has been carried out extensively by the house officers throughout the year. In addition to the usual college routine of studying and advancing scholastically, the men in Hanner have their fun with hayrack rides, picnics and dances, along with their annual Christmas party. Also, after all sports events at our college the athletes' parents and friends are served coffee in the hall and are invited to spend some time as guest of men in Hanner.

Officers for the year are Zed Grissom, president; Frank Allen, vice-president; J. T. Anderson, secretary-treasurer, and William Anderson, social chairman.

It looks as though Hanner will soon become a "Hall of Fame." The picture of Captain Hanner, in whose honor the hall is named, who gave his life in World War I, and Lieutenant Karl Fredrick Hetzel who was the first A. & M. student to give his life in World War II, hang on the walls of the house living room. Recently added to these is the late Coach Edward C. Gallagher, "Grand Old Man" of the mat; also Dr. Henry G. Bennett and Dean C. H. McElroy.

The hall won the all-college intramural basketball tournament last year and also Hanner had the all-college softball champs. This year the touch football Fat-boys were in the finals. THATCHER HALL

Jessie Thatcher hall was named in honor of Jessie Thatcher Bost, the first woman graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. College. The hall was completed in 1925, being used first as a women's dormitory and later during the war by the navy.

The hall was opened to college students at the beginning of the fall term of 1946 with facilities for 150 men. The hall has since distinguished itself by a representation of at least 20 per cent of its residents on the dean's honor roll each semester.

Thatcher hall enjoyed a well-rounded social calendar during the year including dances, picnics, open house for homecoming with entries in the homecoming parade and house decorations.

There are 15 states and Puerto Rico represented in the hall, with men enrolled in every school on the campus. There has been an unusual amount of cooperation in preparing for our varied activities.

These efforts have been coordinated by the capable officers who are Paul Anthony, presi-

During the years of the war, Thatcher hall was occupied by the navy as administrative offices and classrooms for their Japanese language school. The dormitory was returned to the college during the summer of 1946. The hall was opened to college men students at the beginning of the fall term last year.

CORDELL HALL

One of the stops on a visitor's tour of the A. & M. campus will be for a view of Cordell hall. And why not? The huge structure of the men's dormitory, rising gabled and brick-red from the rolling Oklahoma prairie, dominates the entire northwest end of the campus. It is the biggest dormitory on the campus; it says so in the catalog.

You will find a lot of other stuff about Cordell hall in that catalog: All about how the dormitory was first opened in September, 1939 . . . How it is named after Harry S. Cordell, former president of the state board of agriculture . . . How it originally cost $660,000 . . . How it housed radio technicians and navy personnel during the war years.

The catalog will also say that the hall is four stories high — which anyone can see for himself . . . That it is fireproof . . . That it is designed in modified Georgian style — whatever that is.

The sightseer sees only lines and shapes; the catalog reader sees only statistics. But the men who lived in Cordell hall during 1948-49 — the men who should know — will say that it is not statistics that make a dormitory, but people, and the peculiar things these people do.

Take the year 1948-49, for example. The man in the hall — one of some 750 men who ate, slept, studied and played here — recalls such activities as sweating out lines in the battle for Sunday chow . . . Impromptu concerts on the battered baby grand in the lounge . . . Squabbles, comments . . . Bull-sessions in crowded, smoke-filled rooms upstairs . . . Pushing cars that got stuck during the big freeze between semesters . . . All-night listening parties when Truman beat Dewey.

He will remember George Alkire, Fred Black, Kenneth Barrett and the rest with their eternal card games in the lounge . . . He will chuckle at the daily arguments in the office that featured such stalwart debaters as Bill Merliss, Carl Tangner, Jim Morsey . . . He may think about the hours of labor Gene Droke, Frank Gibbs and the boys put in on floats and house decorations for homecoming . . . If he mixed around much, the average Cordellite knew about Charlie Eckles' water fights . . . Ed Brashear's aquarium of goldfish.

And how could he forget the Cordell hall cabinet, governing body of the hall? Still trying to live down the silver key ruckus of spring, 1948, and recuperating from the electioneering battles, the cabinet during 1948-49 did a creditable job. It made open house a success by laying out 50 clams for flowers for the girls . . . initiated and vigorously supported the "Aggie Baggie" campaign . . . Purchased a stack of records — but no needles — for the hall phonograph . . . Sponsored several top-notch dance hours . . . Appropriated funds for athletic equipment — which quickly disappeared — and a mimeograph machine . . . Brought in the campus Varsitonians for the fall dance and Eddie Ward from Oklahoma City for the spring formal . . . Called house meetings to decide major issues — such as corsages for the fall dance.

Members of the cabinet during 1948-49 were Gene Droke, president; Gorman Sparks, vice-president; Austin Weedn, secretary; Richard Kennedy, treasurer, and Frank Gibbs, social chairman. Ross Bailey, Eldon Hood and John Coates were wing leaders. Carrol Logan, Richard Jones, H. W. Petty, Orville Smith, Robert Streets, Ronald Everett, Jerry Greer, William Derenbecher, Jack Parrish, Max Blackman and Bob Stephens were floor leaders. Fred Black and Gordon Montgomery were hall delegates to the IMRC.

The men made the life in the hall. Sometimes they made too much of it. Then the fellows were thankful for the old guard that was there to keep things on an even keel. For their kindness and patience, orchids should go to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Prater, who stepped in during the fall of 1948 to take over the thankless task of host and hostess. Bouquets should also go to Mrs. Hazel Jarrell, housemother, who was always there to help the boys.

Yes, the men of Cordell hall won't remember the facts and figures, but as they read these pages they will recall the things they saw, the fun they had, the people they met while living there. For they know that the spirit of Cordell hall, like the spirit of A. & M., is the spirit of the men who live there.

WEST 6th STREET DORMITORY

MRS. ROBERT MORRISON
Hostess

The West Sixth street dormitory may be properly termed the "war orphan" of Oklahoma A. & M. College dormitories. Constructed as a NYA project prior to the war, it was put into service as headquarters building for the army air corps cadet training center located on the campus soon after hostilities broke out and was used in that capacity until the war ended. In order to alleviate overcrowded dormitory facilities it was immediately pressed into service as a temporary dormitory and has accommodated approximately 100 students ever since.

Dormitory organization and election of officers were accomplished during the spring semester of 1948. The fall semester of 1948 saw the dormitory initiate a complete program of social and athletic activities and also achieve campus-wide recognition by winning first prize in the house decoration contest for independent campus units during homecoming festivities. In line with the campus building theme a new study hall was opened in September, 1948, and future innovations include a recreation room and extensive reconditioning of the dormitory grounds.

Officers for this year include Martin Seretean, president; John Otto, vice-president; Phil Spingolla, secretary-treasurer; Joe Sebastian, social chairman, and John Kane, Independent Men's Residence council representative. Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Morrison are host and hostess of the West Sixth street dormitory.

Although set up as a temporary housing unit, the West Sixth street dormitory affords a pleasant home for those living here.

light has focused on A. & M. many times in basketball, wrestling, football, track, baseball and all other sports.

Much of the credit for these fine accomplishments must rest on the shoulders of Henry P. Iba. Under his superb leadership the fine Aggie coaching staff has made the athletic world recognize Coaching staff: Esslinger, Smelser, Foster, Higgins, Griffith, Johnson.

Director of Athletics at Oklahoma A. & M. is Henry P. Iba, who is nationally known as an outstanding basketball coach. 1949 completed 15 years at A. & M. for Coach Iba. During this time the Aggie orange and black has become a symbol of championship teams. The national sports spot-that Oklahoma A. & M. is always a top contender. A. & M. pays tribute to "Hank," unexcelled in his field.

The 1948-49 Aggie sports record read: Art Griffith served as coach and three wrestlers competed on the U. S. Olympic team, and A. & M. repeated as NCAA wrestling champions; football team played in the Memphis Delta bowl; basketball team repeated as Missouri Valley champions and advanced to the NCAA finals at Seattle, losing to powerful Kentucky.

JIM LOOKABAUGH

E. M. "Jim" Lookabaugh, the accomplished football coach who saw his 1944-45 teams victorious in the Cotton bowl and Sugar bowl, completed his 10th season as football coach at Oklahoma A. & M. this year.

Jim Lookabaugh directs the training of the Oklahoma A. & M. gridiron forces. He is a graduate of A. & M., having starred in both football and basketball as an Aggie in the middle 1920's. He assumed the position of football coach at Aggieland in 1939, coming here from Capitol Hill high school, Oklahoma City.

Coach Lookabaugh is a competent, well qualified coach with a great deal of confidence in his team. His loyalty and steadfastness along with his capability and willingness as a coach have marked him as one of the well-known coaches in the southwest.

He ended another good football season with a bid to play William & Mary in the Delta bowl.

1948 marked the completion of 10 seasons as head football coach at Oklahoma A. & M. for E. M. "Genial Jim" Lookabaugh. Toby Greene, assistant coach since 1939, works with the line, scouts, and doubles as baseball coach in the spring. Speegle and Esslinger completed their second year as A. & M. assistants, Esslinger being an Aggie gridder in 1922, '23, and '24, and Speegle coming from O. U. Ralph Higgins, Aggie track and field coach, also is a member of the football coaching staff. Jack Baker, A. & M. backfield coach and assistant to Lookabaugh, came here with Lookabaugh in 1939. Baker will be remembered as one of the Aggie's all-time great fullbacks under Lynn Waldorf in the early 1930's. Under the able guidance of this fine coaching staff, the Aggie grid teams have been gradually building back to the greatness they achieved in 1944 and '45.

The Pokes opened the season in Wichita, coming back from an early 14-0 deficit to bowl over the Wheatshockers, 27-14. A pass from Jack Hartman to Marshall Patton counted the first touchdown. The Aggies pushed across another before the half ended, then cinched the game with two more in the second half, including a dazzling 80-yard run by Bill Grimes.

Some 25,000 fans filled enlarged Lewis stadium the following week to see the Aggies lose a heartbreaker to T. C. U.'s touted Horned Frogs. Scoring early on a Hartman-to-Grimes pass and again in the fourth stanza on a Hartman-to-Long pass, A. &. M. played Dutch Meyer's crew to a standstill except for three fatal minutes in the second period when Pete Stout, Lindy Berry and company scored three touchdowns, as many as any opponent could muster all year.

On the following Saturday afternoon the Aggies fared better, drumming the Pioneers from Denver university, 27-7, before 14,200 home fans. Despite the score, the Pokes showed signs of an early season letdown, fumbling nine times and losing several scoring chances. After this came a welcome break and time to smooth out offensive kinks.

A. & M. 27, SAN FRANCISCO 20

Two weeks later found the Pokes in huge Kezar stadium in San Francisco. The game was a wild and wooly thriller with the lead changing hands three times before the Aggies won, 27-20. Standouts in the Portola festival feature were Hartman, Spavital and the entire Aggie line. It was Spavital's unlucky day, as he had two lengthy touchdown runs called back by the officials.

Homecoming turned up next on the A. & M. calendar, with the Temple Owls trailing west from Philadelphia for the gala Oct. 23 affair. To the delight of returning grads, the Aggies powered to a 41-7 win, their healthiest margin thus far. Coach Lookabaugh swept the bench clear of subs as the touchdowns piled up. Scoring was well distributed throughout the team.

A. & M. 7, KANSAS 13

The following Saturday afternoon in Lawrence, Kan., proved not quite so pleasing, as the Pokes shoved a favored Kansas university Jayhawker crew around the park over most of the route, only to lose, 13-7. Leading 7-6 in the second half, quarterback Hartman elected to pass in an attempt to increase the margin. An alert Kansas back grabbed a stray Hartman aerial and scampered some 50 yards across the goal. It was the second Aggie one-touchdown loss against four wins.

The Aggie football team and fans next traveled to Skelly stadium in Tulsa for the annual Golden Hurricane clash. The Aggies had little trouble gentling the oft-beaten Hurricane, 19-0, though the knuckles and elbows got a little thick at times. J. D. Cheek added spice to the contest when he grabbed a deflected punt and huffed and puffed some 50 yards before being pulled down.

A. & M. 42, KANSAS STATE 6

The Wildcats from Kansas State came a-calling next at Stillwater on Nov. 20, and the Pokes carved them up in the best Thanksgiving style, 42-6. Seven different men figured in the scoring for the Aggies, with Hartman pumping three passes for three touchdowns and fullback Bob Meinert shredding the Kansas State line for 77 yards in 11 carries. Subs played most of the last quarter.

Next came that wet Saturday afternoon and the Sooners from Norman. Driving rain slowed the famed Sooner ground attack and they were nearly halted by the eager Pokes, although O. U. left the field with a 13-0 halftime advantage. The Aggies came surging back to score, outplaying the heavily favored Sooners in the last half. They swapped counters making the score 19-13, with the Aggies punching for another as the game drew to a close. With one minute to play, the Pokes had the ball on the O. U. six-yard line, four downs to go, but four tries failed to click and O. U. took over. The Sooners deliberately grounded the ball in the end-zone in the last few seconds, giving the Pokes a safety and some measure of a moral victory. The final count: 19-15, O. U.

Following the game with O. U., the Aggies voted to accept a bid to the Delta bowl in Memphis, meeting the William and Mary aggregation from Williamsburg, Va. The Aggies outplayed the vaunted Indians the entire first half but couldn't score, and the powerful Virginians pushed them under, 20-0, in the second half, ending an otherwise successful football year.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Coached by Ralph Foster, captain of the 1944 Cotton bowl championship A. & M. team, the Aggie frosh won two and lost three. They edged Tonkawa Junior college, 7-0, then lost a thriller to the O. U. frosh, 19-13. Next the Colts trounced Wichita, 50-6, lost to a rugged Arkansas team, 59-14, then absorbed another close loss from Tulsa, 13-6.

THE BASKETBALL SQUAD

HENRY P. IBA, Director of Athletics and Basketball Coach

"Best in the nation" is what the Basketball Coaches Association of America called him in 1947. This is only one of many recognitions received by Henry P. Iba in his 15-year realm as basketball coach of Oklahoma A. & M. He was the first coach to produce two national collegiate championship teams, accomplishing this in consecutive years, 1945-46. Under his capable direction, the Aggie basketball team rode through another successful season this year, ending in second place on the Associated Press national poll of sportswriters. They repeated as Missouri Valley champions, defeated Wyoming and Oregon State in the Western NCAA and advanced to the NCAA finals against mighty Kentucky. The one big factor in this and the many past successful campaigns is the adept leadership of "Hank" Iba. His machine-like teams have conquered the nation's best on many occasions, and brought everlasting fame to A. & M. basketball teams. We salute you, Henry P. Iba.

The Oklahoma Aggies opened the 1948-49 basketball campaign with a notable 53–28 victory over the rangy Arkansas Razorbacks before 8,500 fans in Gallagher hall on Dec. 4.

The Pokes had little trouble with the Hogs, with Joe Bradley cracking the hoop for 15 points, Vernon Yates for 12, and Bob Harris 11 points.

Following the Arkansas triumph, the Cowboys embarked on their annual eastern trip, and stumbled in their second start of the season by dropping a close one to St. Josephs in Philadelphia, 46–43. The Aggies took the lead early in the contest, but suffered a lapse in their usually tight defensive game.

Continuing their eastern swing, the Ibamen moved into New York City where they met the Long Island university Blackbirds Dec. 14.

The Cowboys held a 20–15 halftime edge, but after Bob Harris left the game on fouls, LIU pulled within four points, with five minutes remaining. At this point Parks and Shelton took over to lead the Aggies in their famous ball control finish, emerging with a 46–38 triumph.

Returning to their home grounds, the Pokes played host to the powerful Baylor Bears and with Joe Bradley leading the scoring with 15 counters, shellacked the lads from Texas, 56–40. Harris led the defensive show by holding flashy Don Heathington pointless.

Warming up for the annual all-college holiday tourney, the Aggies journeyed to Fayetteville, to again take the Arkansas five, 50–45.

Moving into Oklahoma City's Municipal auditorium, the Aggies posted victories over Texas Tech, Alabama and Baylor to cop the highly coveted all-college basketball crown for the fifth consecutive year and the eighth time in the 13-year history of the tournament. In the semifinal round, the Aggies met Alabama, coached by former Aggie Floyd Burdette, and paced by big Bob Harris, romped to an easy 44–31 victory.

In the final contest it was a different story as the Aggies met their old foes, the Baylor Bears, and barely managed to scrape up a 39–36 margin in a contest which saw the score tied four times and the lead change hands eight times. It was the Pokes' coolness which gained them the victory, as they took control of the ball for the last five minutes of the contest.

Back home once again, the Aggies entertained the De-

Paul Blue Demons from Chicago, but the Pokes' coldness in the second half and at the free throw line, together with a rugged DePaul defense, combined to leave the Ibamen on the short end of a 39–32 decision for the second defeat of the season.

Then the Aggies opened their defense of the Missouri Valley cage title with a decisive 43–26 conquest of the Drake university Bulldogs. It was a fine defensive game for the Aggies as Bob Harris and J. L. Parks led the scoring parade with 11 points each.

The Cowboys next hit their peak as they routed the highly-rated Bradley Braves, 64–30, on their home court. The high-scoring Braves could not penetrate the Aggie defensive iron wall as the Pokes showed their best ball handling and shooting of the season. Bradley, Yates and Harris led the Aggie scoring.

Jan. 21 brought a thrilling overtime battle before 9,600 raving fans who packed the A. & M. Fieldhouse to see the Aggies smash mighty St. Louis, 29–27. With the score tied five times in the last half, the number one rated Billikens finally fell before the famed Aggie ball control in the overtime.

Led by Bob Harris' 23 points, the Aggies posted a new season scoring record in trouncing the hapless Tulsa Hurricanes, 69–31. Three days later the invading Long Island Blackbirds were cooled, 55–33, as the Pokes swamped the Birds' zone defense. Parks led the Aggie scoring with 14 points.

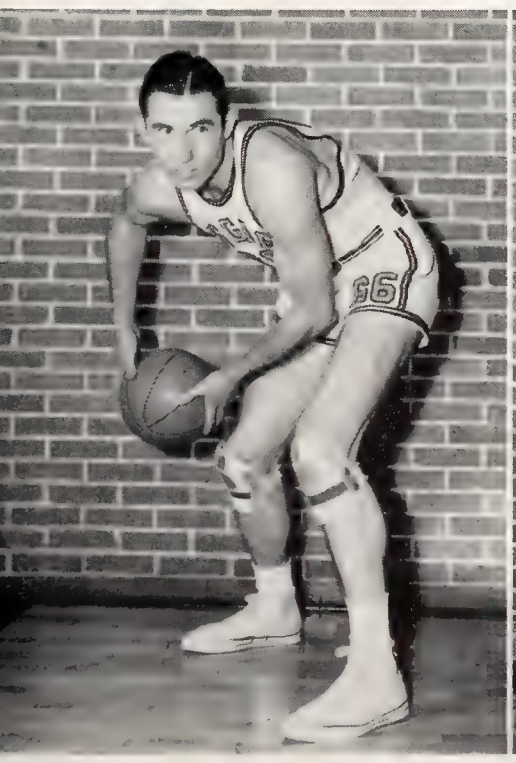

The Aggies picked up their 14th win of the season with a 43–35 victory over the Drake Bulldogs at Des Moines. Harris again led the way with 15 points. The second game of this road trip saw the Cowboys down Maryville Teachers, 44–28, with Harris scoring 12 points as Jack Shelton picked up nine.

The Aggies next invaded Norman for their traditional clash with the Sooners. O. U. played its greatest game of the year, hitting 47 percent of their shots and stomping the Pokes, 54–41. Harris repeated as high scorer with 16 points, but the Aggies simply couldn't match the hot Sooners and suffered their third loss of the season.

Next the Aggies bounced Tulsa, 58–35, in Gallagher hall as Bradley paced the scoring with 15 points. Then the Pokes copped their 22nd straight Missouri Valley win as they squeezed by the surprising Wichita Wheatshockers, 39–37, at Wichita.

The Cowboys then enjoyed sweet revenge by rolling over Bruce Drake's Sooners, 46–36, before 9,600 frenzied fans in Gallagher hall. Harris contributed 16 points and Shelton followed with 11 markers. Then the Pokes moved to St. Louis for their return engagement with the Bills. Shelton was hotter than a firecracker and his 15 points shoved the Aggies past the disappointed Bills, 40–37, to clinch at least a tie in the conference.

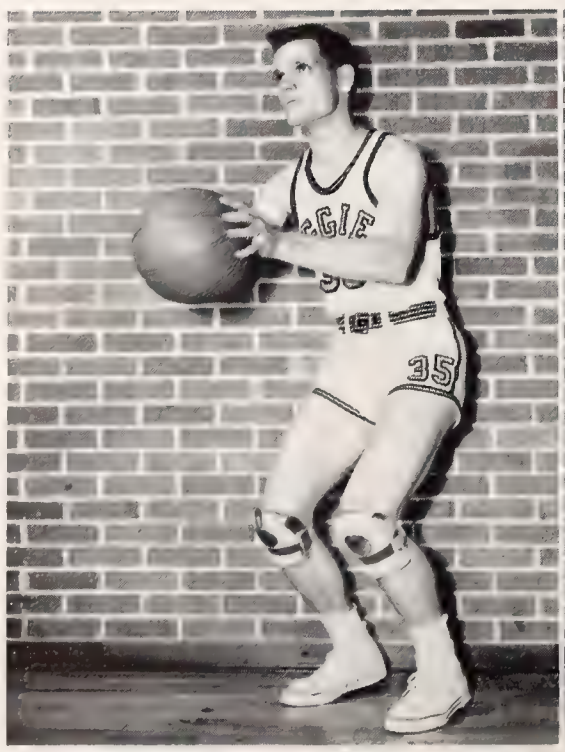

With only one day's rest from the important St. Louis tilt, the Aggies next bowed to the Bradley Braves at Peoria, Ill., 35–31. This meant that the Aggies must best Wichita at Stillwater two days later to cinch the title. The Pokes proceeded to blast the Wheatshockers, 60–36, and gain a clear valley title.

The Aggies, Missouri Valley champions, then waited until a playoff between OU and Nebraska decided the Big Seven champion—Nebraska. In the fifth district playoff, the Cowboys journeyed to Kansas City and trounced the Huskers, 52–35, March 16. The Ags controlled the rebounds against taller Nebraska and their defense stopped the Cornhuskers' fast break. Harris of A. & M. poured 20 points through the hoops.

That weekend the Aggies started NCAA play in Kansas City, first opponent being Wyoming March 18. In a real thriller, the Pokes fought an uphill battle in the last 10 minutes to overtake an inspired Wyoming team which led the Ags by 10 points with 12 minutes to go. Shelton of the Aggies was a one-man show at the finish, scoring four points in the last 16 seconds. Behind 39–38 with 11 second remaining and a center jump coming up, the Pokes called timeout. Harris outjumped his taller opponent to tip to Bradley, who passed to Parks. McArthur received the ball from Parks and he fired it to Shelton who hit from a long post to win, 40–39.

The following night the Aggies copped the western NCAA title by defeating Oregon State, 55–30. The Beavers had moved to the finals by beating Arkansas. Hitting 48 percent of their field attempts and 21 of 24 free throws, A. & M. never was pressed in one of its best performances of the year. Harris turned in another terrific game, blistering the net with 23 points. This victory gave the Aggies the right to meet the eastern winner in Seattle for the national NCAA title. Their opponent turned out to be none other than the Kentucky Wildcats, who won the eastern title by breezing past Villanova and Illinois.

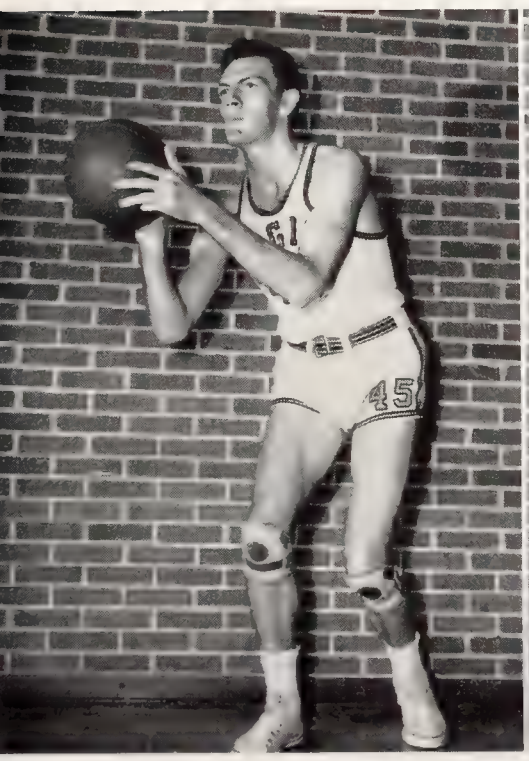

Sports writers called it basketball's "dream game." Unfortunately the Aggies were cold and Kentucky, of Olympic fame, managed to down the Aggies, 46–36, in the NCAA finals. All-American Alex Groza poured in 25 points to lead the Wildcats to a victory which Coach Rupp called sweet. J. L. Parks of the Aggies held all-American Ralph Beard to three points, as big Jack Shelton was again leading the Aggie scoring with 12 points.

So, for the third time in five years, Coach Henry Iba had led his team to the NCAA finals. Twice during that time, the Aggies won the NCAA title. Late in March, 1949, New York basketball writers named Iba coach of the year.

WRESTLING

Last year's National Collegiate Athletic association champion Aggies had another very successful year on the mats. In last year's NCAA, Nate Bauer, Paul McDaniel, Jack St. Clair, Bill Jernigan and Dick Hutton qualified for the Olympic tryouts. Out of these and other Aggies who qualified for the Olympic finals, Dick Hutton, Bill Jernigan and Hal Moore won berths on the U. S. Olympic team. Topping this honor to Aggie wrestling, the Olympic committee selected Coach Art Griffith to coach the U. S. Olympic wrestling team.

Coach Griffith took over the helm of Aggie wrestling in 1941. With the team's 10th consecutive win this season the 1949 matmen matched the record of former Coach Ed Gallagher in 68 consecutive dual wins since 1937. In all wrestling history here, the Aggie wrestlers have won 175 dual matches, lost 5, and tied 4, with 3 of these losses coming prior to 1921. The present team has truly become known as record makers rather than record keepers.

matching the 68 consecutive win record, a group of wrestlers representing A. & M. easily won the fifth straight state AAU title for the orange and black. Aiding in piling up their decisive 41 points were Pete Chrisenberry, 115 title, Joe Seifred, 121 title, Lee Hudsonpillar, 128 title, Mike Fucci, 155 title, and Melbourne Flesner, 165 title. Tom Keys lost to teammate Hudsonpillar in the 128 finals; and George Layman, 135; John Heron, 115, and William Hunt, 145, lost out in the semi-finals.

The strong Aggie team was never pressed in its 10 dual meets of the 1949 season. A. & M.

lost only three matches and tied one in the 10 meets. The season opened with a 34–0 win over Omaha university followed by a 23–5 win over Nebraska's Big Seven champions. This same road trip ended with a 32–0 victory over Kansas State. Oklahoma's Sooners were the next victims of Griffith's powerful lads, losing 25–5 to the Aggies at Norman. The always powerful Southwestern Tech Bulldogs then fell, 34–0. Next a record wrestling crowd of 5,700 attended A. & M.'s first wrestling homecoming to see the speedy Aggies down OU, 28–0. Southwestern Tech and Iowa State were next in that order and were blanked 36–0 and 34–0, respectively. A late season Colorado road trip saw Colorado State fall, 28–0, and Colorado A. & M. go down, 22–5, in the record-tying match.

The Aggie grapplers then prepared to defend their NCAA title at Fort Collins, Colo., in late March, 1949. In this tournament the Pokes scored 32 points to 27 for Iowa State Teachers, to repeat as national champions. Charles Hetrick won the 128-pound title and trophy as outstanding wrestler in the meet and Jim Gregson won an upset 175-pound title victory.

TRACK

The track team had a great year in 1948, losing only to powerful Texas A. & M. in dual competition. The Aggies topped Colorado, 73 1/2 to 56 1/2; Wichita, 96 1/3 to 36 2/3; Arkansas, 84 to 47, and O. U., 76 to 55. The Pokes then proceeded to repeat as Missouri Valley champions, with Maurice Fuquay's 100-yard dash victory bringing four straight wins and permanent possession of the Shannon Douglas sprint trophy to A. & M. The Aggies outpointed their nearest rival, Wichita, 103 to 72, in the Missouri Valley gathering at Omaha. 1949 prospects looked very good, A. & M. taking early season victories over McMurray college and in the Aggie Relays.

BASEBALL

The Aggies fielded another great baseball team in 1948, losing only six games while winning twenty in tough competition. Then they beat Nebraska to represent the midwest district in the NCAA playoffs, losing out to the powerful Southern California Trojans, who went on to become national champs. Leading pitchers were Bill Hutchison, Turk Tomlinson and Tom Jaquet. The Pokes were powerful at bat with six regulars, led by Nim Free with a .383 average, swatting over the .300 mark.

TENNIS

The 1948 Aggie tennis team won seven, lost five and tied two, upsetting favored Tulsa, 10-9, to earn a clean sweep in the Missouri Valley meet at Omaha. Buddy McCune and John Wylie paced the team at the meet, McCune winning the Missouri Valley singles championship. Other members of the team were Dick Barnhill and John Smith, with McCune and Wylie and Barnhill and Smith making up the doubles. Coach Art Griffith, doubling as tennis coach after the wrestling season, guided the Pokes to a very successful season on the courts.

GOLF

A. & M. golfers had another very successful season, winning 11 while losing only two matches. The linksmen then posted a score of 904 in the Missouri Valley meet at Omaha under Tulsa's 990 to repeat as conference champs. The Aggies also participated in the NCAA tournament, placing fifth. Individual stars were Bo Wininger and Loddie Kempa, state amateur champion and runner-up, respectively. Bill Maxwell and Dick Turner rounded out one of the country's best collegiate teams. Coach of this experienced varsity crew is Labron Harris.

The "O" club, composed of winners of the varsity athletic "O", is the oldest student organization on the campus of the Oklahoma A. & M. College and occupies an enviable position among other student organizations.

The purpose of the club is the promotion of fellowship and a feeling of goodwill among lettermen, as well as the supporting of all enterprises for the betterment of Oklahoma A. & M. Before a man can be a member of this organization, he must be properly initiated and remain active in the organization.

The "O" club has one of the finest clubrooms on the campus. It is located in the east wing of the Fieldhouse, on the second floor. The room is magnificently equipped, including modernistic furniture, radio, drapes, ash trays and potted plants. All trophies of the past years are exhibited in glass enclosed wall cases that surround the entire room.

The highlight of the year was the annual "O" club queen race held prior to the annual homecoming football game. The contestants are submitted from sorority houses on the campus and all independent halls housing women students. Nita Joyce Poole held the honor this year.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic association was founded on the A. & M. campus in 1920. WAA strives to promote good health, cooperation good sportsmanship and play. A combination of individual and team sports contests is held throughout the year for all women students. The highlight of the year is the award given to the sorority and dormitory floor with the highest number of points accumulated through participation in all of the activities of the year.

Honorary varsities are chosen in team sports and individual sports awards are also given. An "O" award may be won by participating on three winning teams, or individual sports or by being chosen for three varsity teams or a combination of any of these three. To remain active a member must participate in at least one activity per semester. Last year's "O" winners are Francis Wood, Freda Everett, Juanita Hull, Ruth Lindsey, Joyce Ogden, Jo Oliver, Ruthie Andrews, Martha Cox, Ruth Fisher, Pat Flikkema, Jean Kendrick, Mary Shike, Betty Schroeder, Doris Simonton, Inez Spaeth, Mary Schurch and Activities held during the year included a sports jamboree for all women on the campus, especially in recognition of new freshman students, a homecoming float, initiation in January, breakfast hike in March, honor awards banquet, another initiation in May and the annual weekend camping trip at Yost just before finals in May.

WAA is the organization that tests each participant's attitude, tactfulness and spirit of cooperation. Through WAA programs and tournaments it is hoped that a stronger, deeper understanding among women on the campus may be realized through fair play, good exercise and clean entertainment. It is open to any college woman with an interest in one or all sports or to anyone who enjoys mixing with people, with plenty of opportunities for fun, fame, frolic and friends in WAA.

Miss Valerie Colvin, professor in the health and physical education department, is the faculty sponsor of the organization.

Cabinet officers of WAA include Freda Everett, president; Pat Flikkema, vice-president; Laverne Bradford, secretary; Joan Steanson, business manager; Sheila Alexander, publicity chairman; Mary B. Shull, sorority sports leader; Ruthie Andrews, sorority member-at-large; Nannabelle Nelson, North Murray sports leader, and Juanita Hull, Willard sports leader.

"We, the members of Aggiettes pep organization of the Oklahoma A. & M. College, in order to form a women's pep order, establish friends, insure loyalty and spirit to the athletic teams of this college . . ."

The fourth year of reorganization for the Aggiettes has proved they are definitely behind the athletic teams. Decked out in their white Aggiette sweaters and black skirts, the organization has undertaken to live up to the standards established by its first members in 1928.

Applications for pledging were not accepted until October so that the pep clubs might have "Courtesy week" together, during the week preceding homecoming. Ending the pledges' activities was an initiation tea at which time the prospective members took the oath of membership.

The Aggiettes were co-sponsors with the Mustangs for the pep rally preceding our game with Denver university and with the Ruf-Nex for the rally before the game with O. U.

The organization limits its membership to insure cooperation in furnishing the necessary enthusiasm befitting an active pep organizaton.

PEPPERS

Peppers was organized in 1921 and holds the honor of having been the first girls' pep club on the A. & M. campus. Since its beginning, Peppers has been active in maintaining school spirit and bringing pep to various athletic events on the campus.

Activity has keynoted Peppers throughout this school year. The club was joint-sponsor of two pep rallies preceding the football games with Kansas State and Temple. Plans have been made to secure new uniforms for the fall semester of the next year. The club's constitution has been revised in order that Peppers may function more effectively.

Membership in Peppers is determined by each sorority, each group having a maximum of 12 Pepper members.

PUNCHERS

The Punchers pep club was founded on the A. & M. campus in the spring of 1948 as an organization composed of independent and fraternity men joined by a common desire to be of service to teams and the school. Men are selected not only for their Aggie spirit but also upon a basis of their scholastic achievement and value to the organization.

This successful year has been marked by enthusiastic participation in all pep events, a large increase in membership, and by a financial stability that few such organizations are able to achieve. Much of this year's success was due to the leadership of our faculty sponsor, Dr. R. R. Oglesby.

Hell Hounds, Pi Epsilon Pi, received a charter from the national organization in January, 1927. The purpose of the organization is to foster a spirit of pep at all athletic functions. The organization is primarily made up of members of men's Greek social fraternities. Of the 115 members, 85 are Greeks, and 30 are independents.

One of the pre-game football pep rallies was sponsored by the Hell Hounds. At this rally Aggie students were introduced to a new yell, called the Atom Bomb, which was the winner of a $50 prize offered by the Hell Hounds.

A large group of the members made the trip to the Tulsa university-Oklahoma A. & M. football game and sat in a group at the game in Skelly stadium to give the Aggie team plenty of backing in the 19-0 Aggie win. The annual Hell Hound dance was held in the Old Gym the second semester.

Membership in Hell Hounds is open to any male student regularly enrolled at A. & M. At the beginning of each semester smokers are held before pledging ceremonies.

The Ag-He-Ruf-Nex organization, based on the principles of good fellowship and school loyalty, was organized in 1924 by a group of far-sighted students, including the present dean of veterinary medicine, Dr. C. H. McElroy.

Each year, to express school loyalty, the Ruf-Nex members make two trips to out of town athletic events, one in the fall and one in the spring.

The "hair wager" is also an annual affair. Each year the Ruf-Nex president, called the Chief Hi, sends his challenge to the president of the OU Ruf-Neks, and the vice-president, called exalted Hi, challenges the president of the TU Windbags. These challenges provide that the officer of the losing school's pep club will sacrifice his hair to the winner.

Honorary members include Henry P. Iba, Ed Brewer, Ed Headrick, Pat O'Bryan, Francis Irvine and Willis McBride.

As in the past, and in the years to come, the Ruf-Nex stand ready to do all they can to keep alive the Aggie traditions for a good school, clean athletics, school loyalty and good fellowship.

When the need was realized for a new pep club at A. & M., 16 men met in the lounge of Cordell hall Oct. 1, 1946, and laid the foundation for an organization which was soon recognized as a truly "peppy" group.

A really independent organization was started without affiliation with a national group. The name "Mustangs" was chosen because of its appropriateness with the traditional team name, Cowboys.

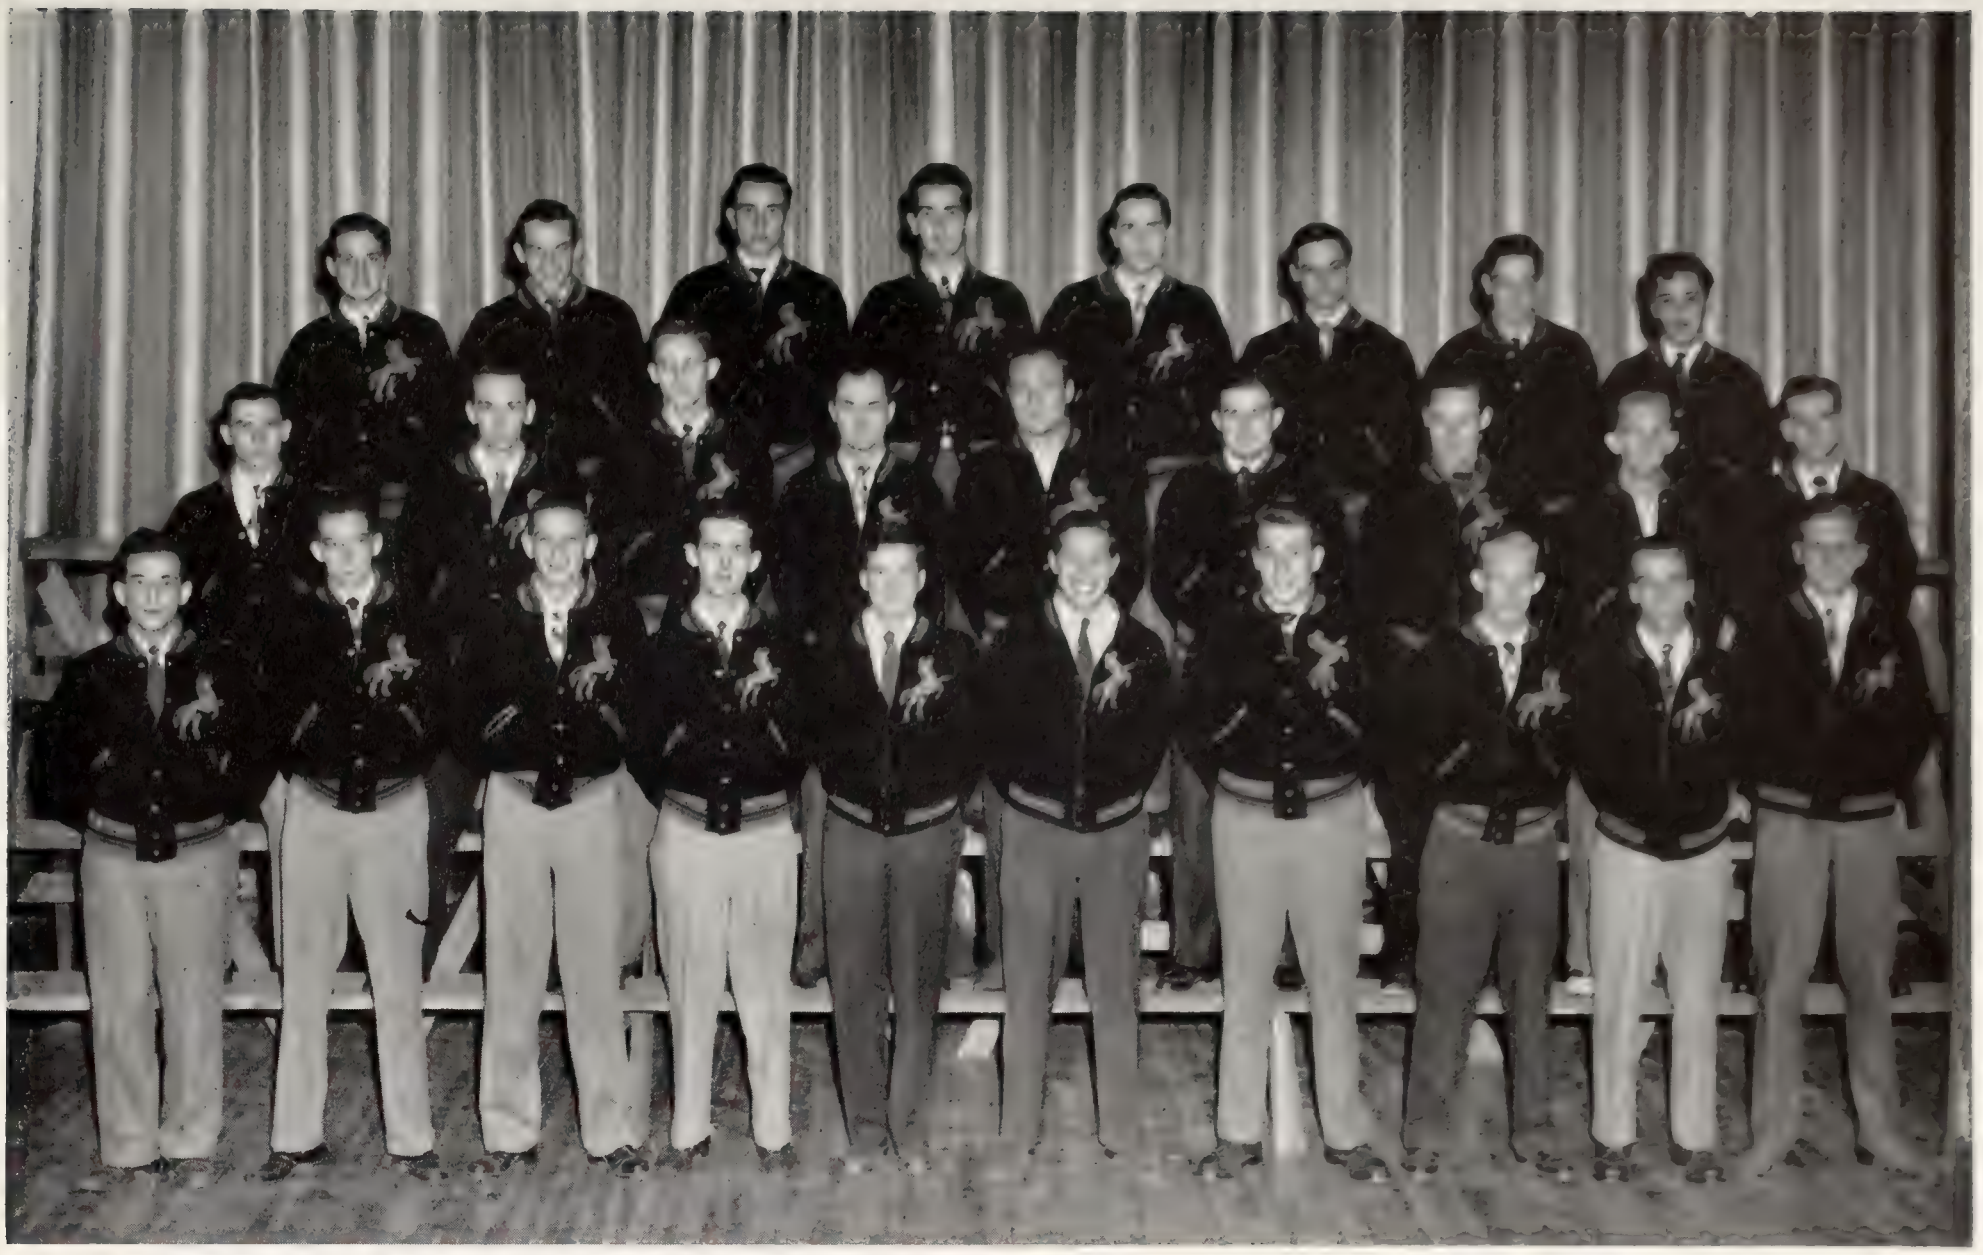

The organization was granted a charter by the student senate Oct. 7, 1946.

To the surprise of some the Mustangs very successfully created an enthusiastic pep club and disposed of the traditional "hazing" of the pledges by members during pledge week. The belief that a man does not have to be put to "the test" to prove himself but instead can be accepted on his strong character is one of the primary principles of the club.

The pep club acquired a large bell shortly after the club was organized which is fast becoming a tradition at football games. For the past two years the big bell has rung out to cheer the Aggies.

COMMANDANT

The ROTC unit which was established 57 years ago and required women students to take military training including drill, due to a misunderstanding of the Morrill act, has grown into one of the largest and finest cadet corps in the United States.

The ROTC unit of A. & M. College, more commonly referred to as the military department, offers four years of military training—two years of basic and two years of advanced. The advanced program includes infantry, airforce, engineer, ordnance and signal corps. Students who successfully complete the four-year course are commissioned second lieutenants in the army and airforce reserve.

COLONEL PETE T. HEFFNER, JR.

Col. Pete T. Heffner, Jr., a veteran of 31 years of service, has been head of the military department for the past three years. Colonel Heffner commanded the 347th infantry regiment during World war II and saw action in the Pacific and European theaters of operation. For outstanding service during his colorful career, Colonel Heffner has been awarded the following decorations: Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Combat Infantry Badge, European theater ribbon with four campaign stars, the French Croix de Guerre with palms and the Pacific theater ribbon.

MILITARY STAFF

The commandant is assisted in his duties by a military staff composed of officers and enlisted men of the army and airforce. The majority of personnel on the staff are instructors, the remainder having been assigned to handle numerous administrative details surrounding the military department.

Maj. Kary C. Emerson, a former Aggie, is in charge of the basic section and is coach of the ROTC rifle team which has repeatedly carried off honors in national and district meets.

Former Aggies on the staff besides Major Emerson are Maj. Harold S. Griffith, Capt. Donald Shanklin, Capt. Leon R. Clark and First Lieut. John Shaw.

CADET CORPS STAFF

Each year the commandant selects a cadet corps staff from outstanding ROTC students of the advanced course. It is the responsibility of the staff to conduct the weekly drill periods held each Tuesday afternoon. The corps staff is commanded by a cadet colonel, who also commands the cadet corps. The staff is supervised by members of the military department and assisted by other student officers of the advanced corps.

It is the custom for members of the cadet corps to elect an honorary cadet colonel annually from the ranks of beautiful campus coeds. The honorary cadet colonel reigns at military balls and ceremonies beside the corps cadet colonel. This enviable position was won by Colleen Moore for the past school year and the picture at the right indicates why she won the heart and vote of the cadet corps.

INFANTRY REGIMENT STAFF

The infantry branch, oldest of the ROTC units at A. & M., has an enviable record for producing reserve officers and soldiers who have taken their place with the nation's best in the United States army. The training offered to infantry ROTC cadets not only prepares them to be future officers, but also offers a lasting lesson in good citizenship and everyday courtesy.

The composite regiment includes the signal corps, engineer and ordnance branches. Each of these units offers an open field of study to those students interested in a specialized course of military instruction. The training is closely related to the student's academic work thereby eliminating the possibility of a split course of study. Like infantry and air force, successful completion of any of the above fields of work results in a reserve commission in the U. S. army. If it is maintaining field communication sets, building bridges or repairing ordnance equipment that you want to know about, then speak to one of the cadet officers from the composite regiment.

Young men who are selected for the two-year advanced ROTC course of instruction have such subjects as air force supply, maintenance, administration, engineering and transportation from which to choose a field of study. Successful completion of the course wins each student a commission as 2nd lieutenant in the United States airforce reserve. The air ROTC has confidence in the slogan, "Air power is peace power," and strives ever forward toward that goal.

OFFICERS CLUB

The Officers club is an organization of all the advanced ROTC students. It is both a service and a social organization. Officers club was re-organized on April 8, 1946, after disbanding during the war.

The Oklahoma A. & M. Officers club is an organization comparable to any officers' clubs on various army and airforce posts throughout the nation. Since most of the students in advanced ROTC may some day have the opportunity of becoming an officer, either in the regular army or in the reserve corps, it is felt that the Officers club here on the campus serves a duo-purpose—that of providing a social organization for men in college and of preparing the students for what they will have when they do go on active duty with the army or airforce.

REX DEMAREE, President

Perry Myers, vice-president; Fred Lang, secretary; David Martin, treasurer; Jack Douglas, social chairman.

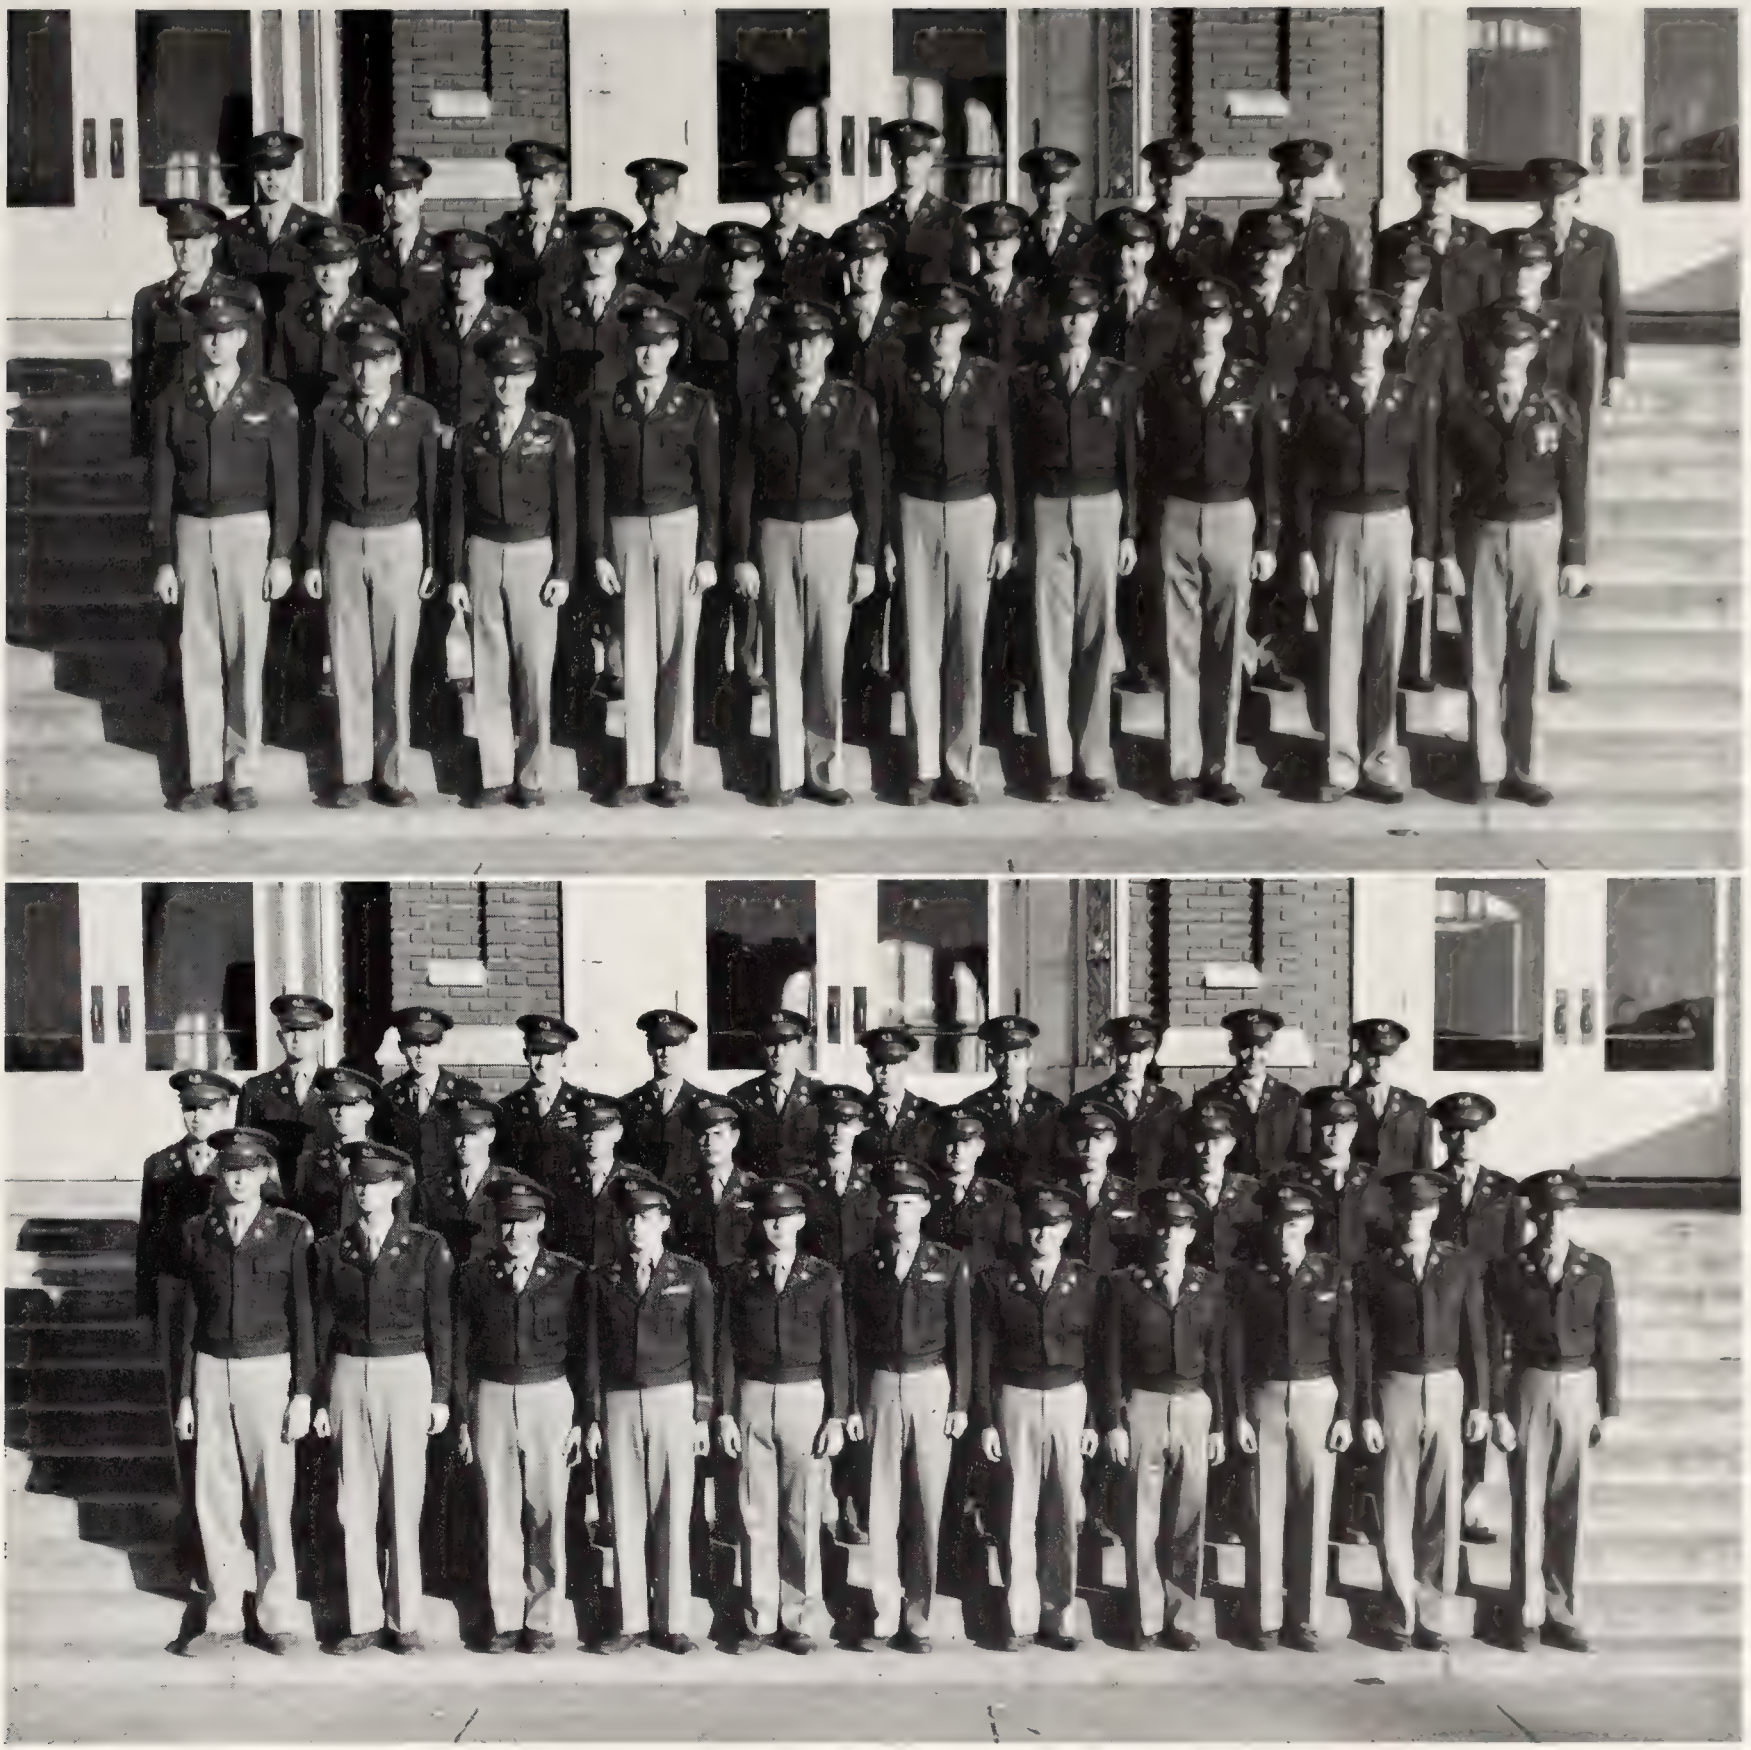

Socially the club sponsors smokers, stag parties, dances and picnics. The annual military ball is held each semester and highlights the social activities of the year for the Officers club.

Crowned each spring at the military ball is the honorary cadet colonel, who is selected by the cadet corps, and sponsored by the Officers club. Traditionally, the Officers club honorary colonel is one of the most striking campus beauties. She participates in all major parades and reviews of the corps and acts as honorary commander of the ROTC corps.

Upon completion of two semesters of advanced ROTC, six weeks of summer camp training is required. This six weeks consists of specialized training in the respective branches of the services. Members of the Officers club at A. & M. are in the infantry, signal corps, ordnance, engineer and airforce.

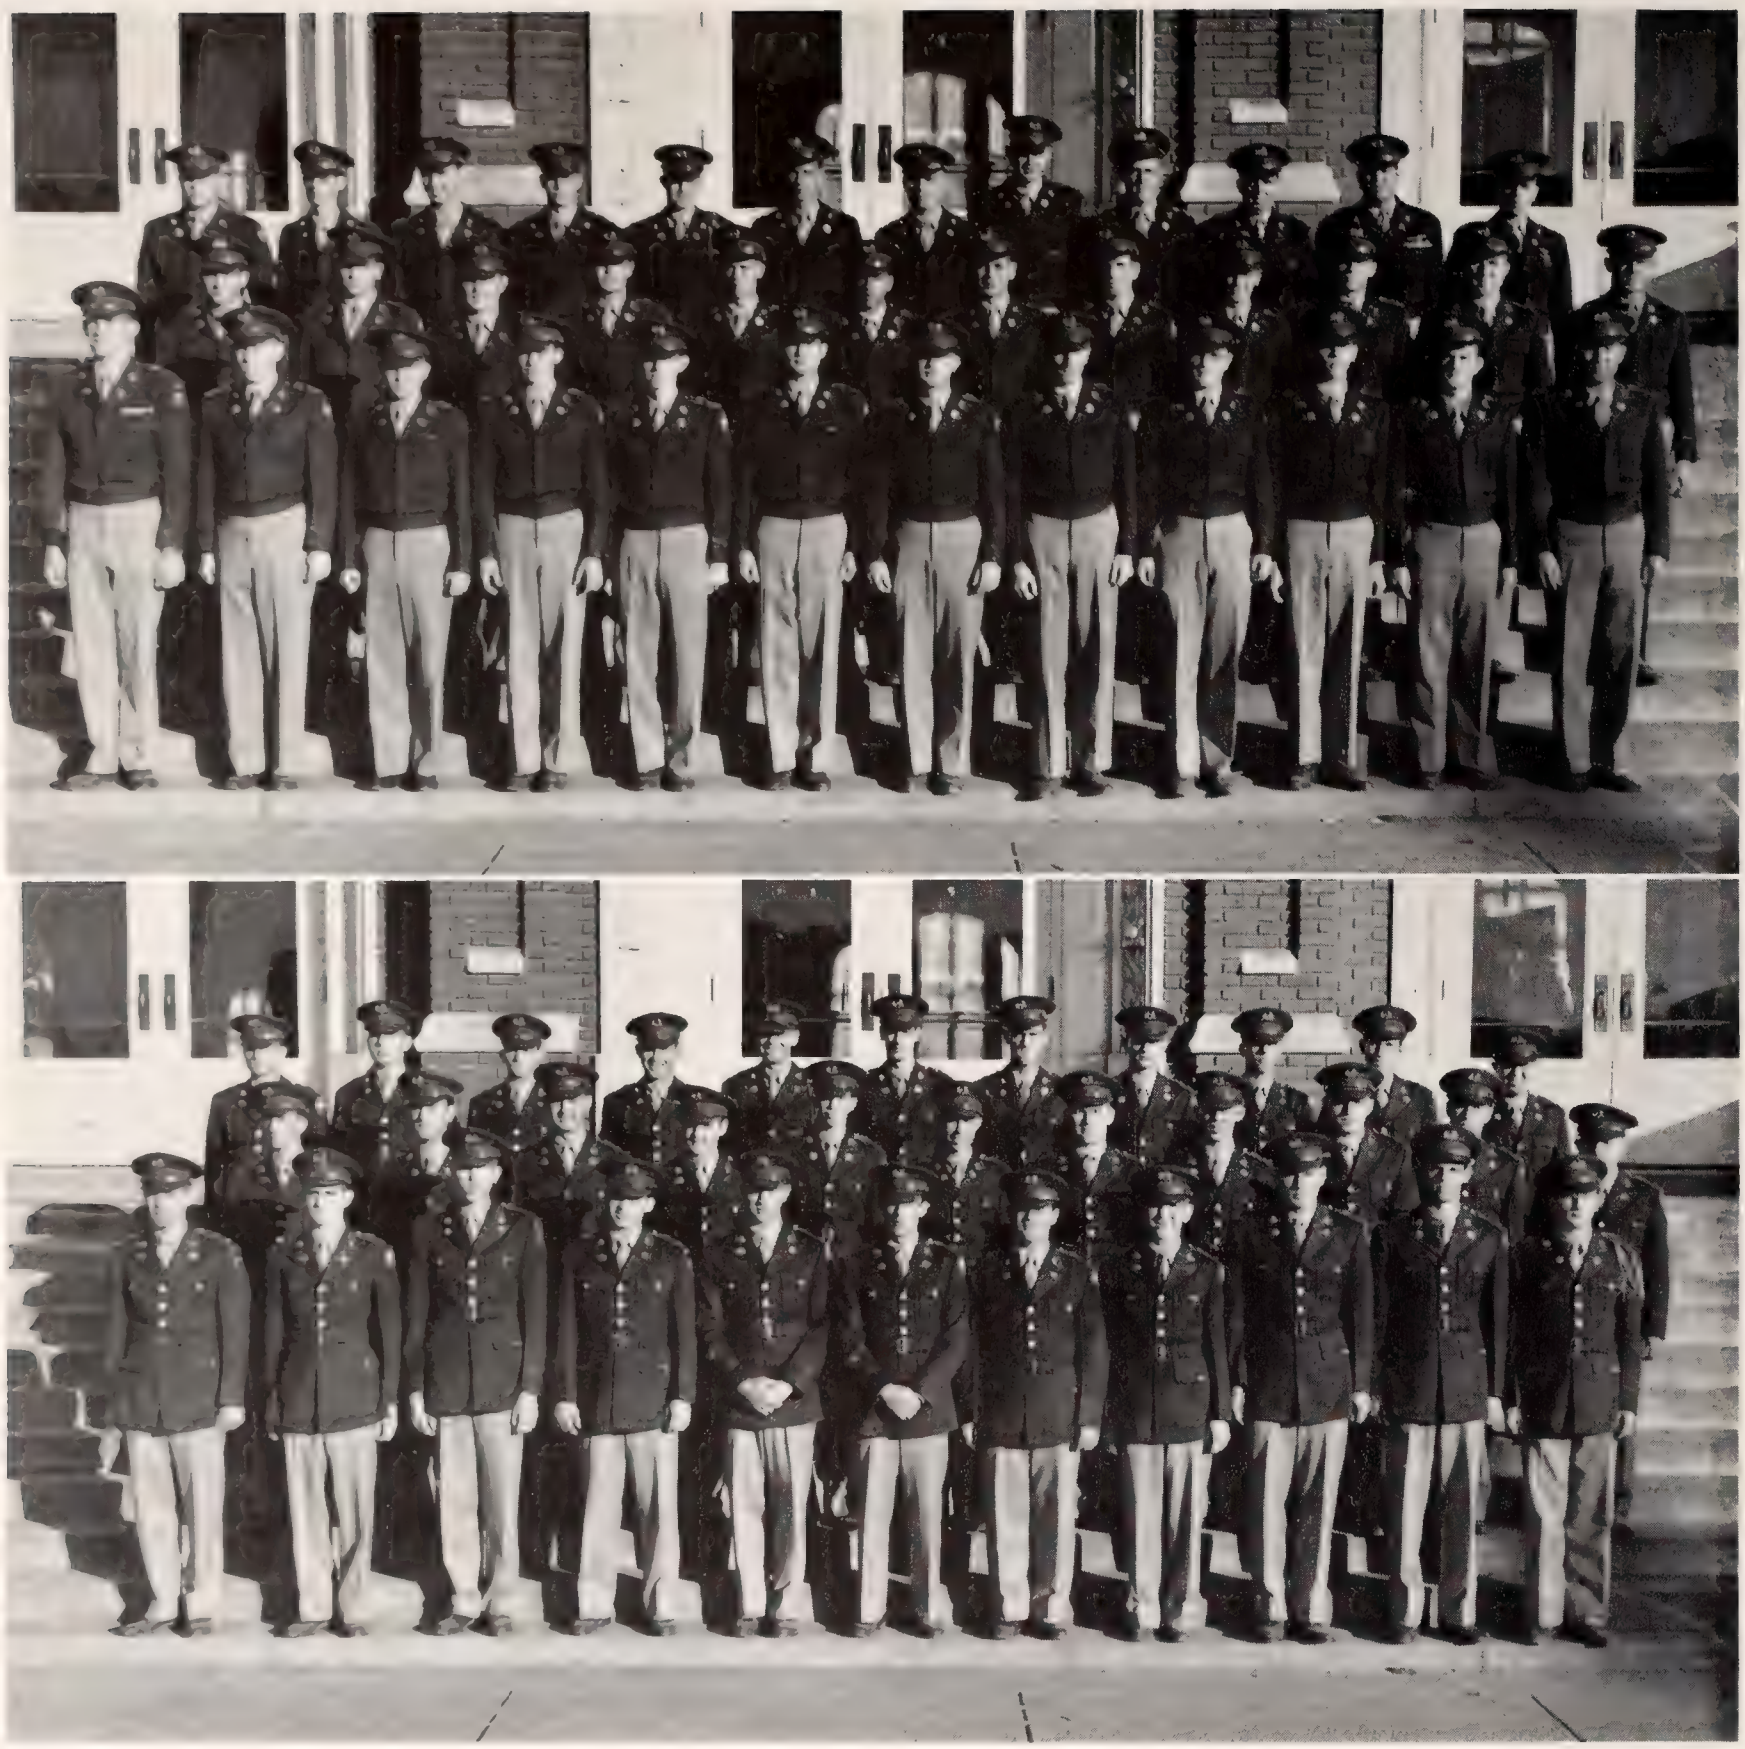

President of the Officers club for the 1948-49 year was Rex Demaree, also cadet colonel of the ROTC corps. Other officers are Fred Lang, David Martin and Jack Douglas.

R. O. T. C. RIFLE TEAM

Another string of victories was chalked up during the past year by the Oklahoma A. & M. ROTC rifle team. The team won first place in the Fourth army Hearst and the shoulder-to-shoulder National Intercollegiate sectional matches and second place in the Fourth army sponsored matches. The team won 20 postal matches with colleges throughout the country and took great delight in beating the rifle team of Oklahoma university.

These honors, plus all of those won by past ROTC rifle teams, represent one of the most impressive sets of achievements to be found anywhere on the Oklahoma A. & M. College campus.

The rifle team coach is First Sgt. Roy Edwards and the range officer is Maj. Kary C. Emerson.

Scabbard and Blade, the national honorary military fraternity for cadets in advanced ROTC, has become the nation's foremost college military organization. At A. & M. in the 1948-49 school year, Scabbard and Blade took long strides forward in making itself one of the college's top organizations.

To be eligible for membership in Scabbard and Blade, an advanced ROTC student must have completed at least one semester of advanced training, have a "B" average in the advanced course, have an accumulative grade-point average of all subjects of at least 2.0, have demonstrated leadership ability and be of good character and have a high proficiency rating. The Scabbard and Blade member can be recognized by the red and blue service bar of the fraternity worn on the student's ROTC uniform. The bar is superimposed with five gold stars.

Scabbard and Blade was founded at the University of Wisconsin in the fall of 1904 by five cadets who saw a need for an organization to unite in closer relationship the students of like interests and ambitions in military departments of the various colleges and universities of this country. The local chapter, "K" company, second regiment, was installed on the campus in 1920.

Company C-7 of Pershing Rifles located at Oklahoma A. & M. College has grown in the last year until now it has the largest membership since before the war.

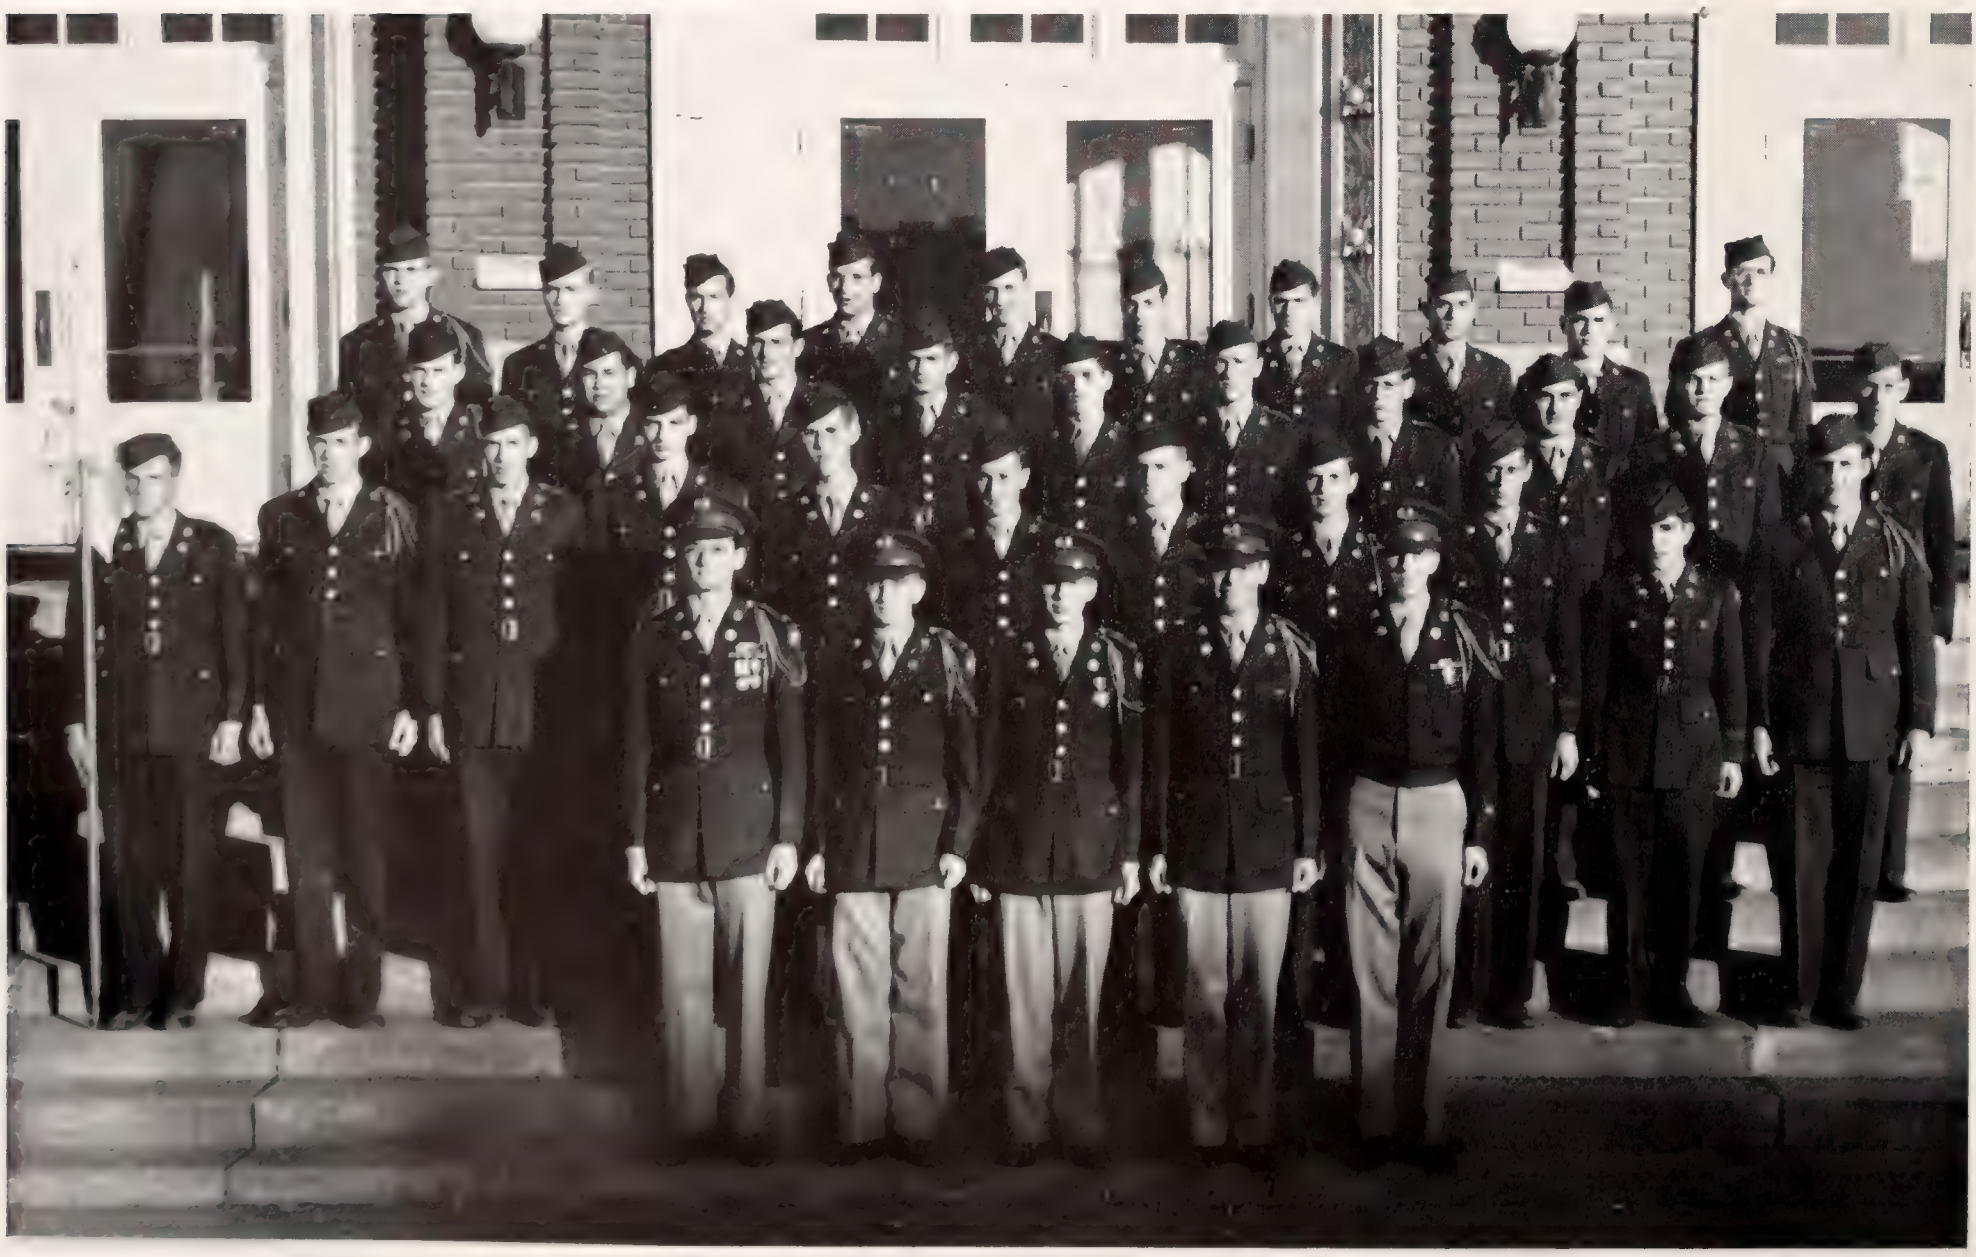

Pershing Riflemen were the color guard for the military department, they served at military funerals and they made up the cannon squad at all football games.

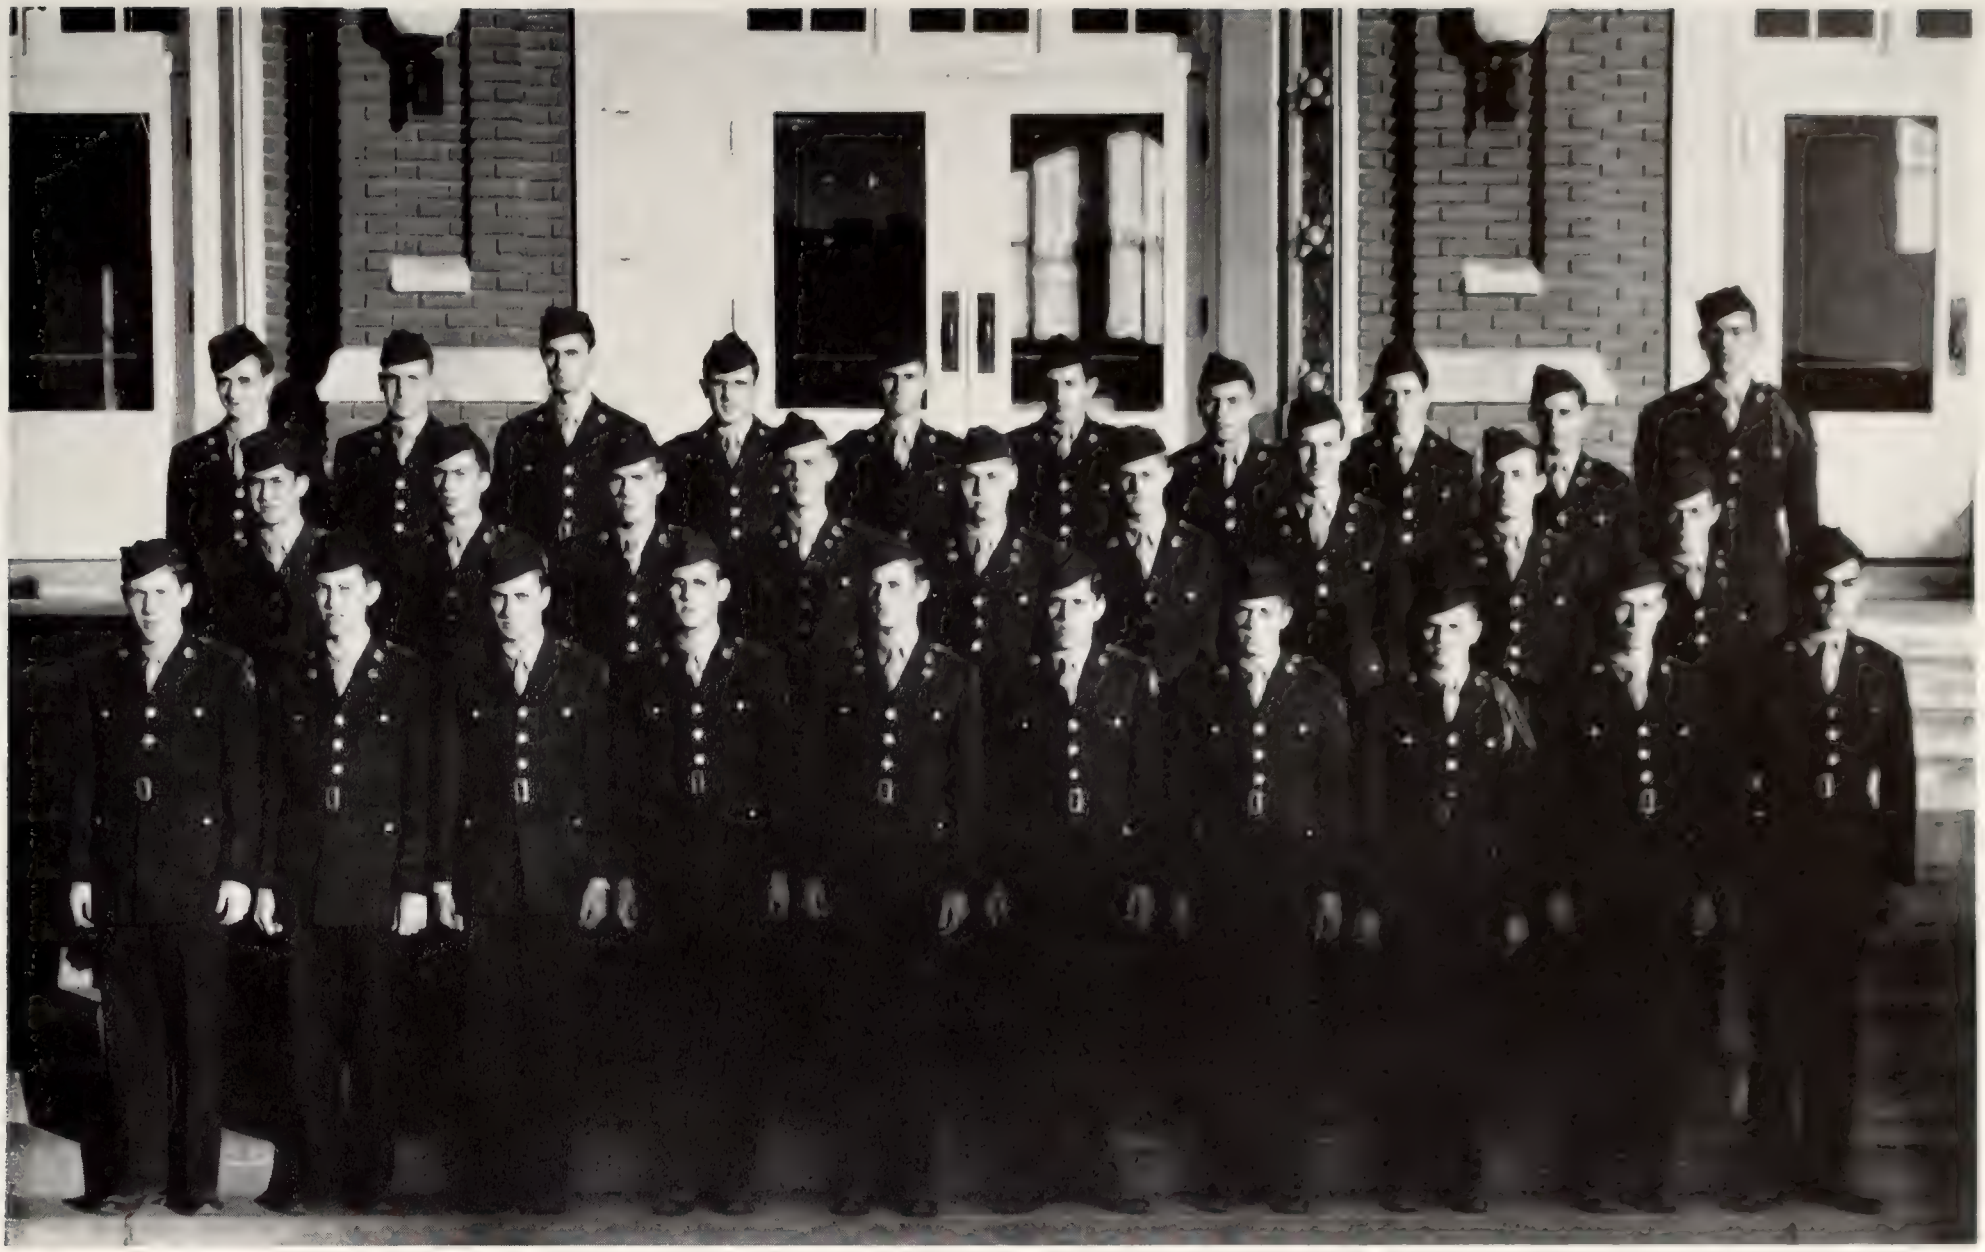

This last year, a Pershing Rifle team won the national rifle trophy. This is the first time since the war that company C-7 has had possession of this trophy.

The company C-7 drill team is training for the national drill meet at national headquarters, Lincoln, Nebr., this spring. There should be a very good chance for C-7 to win the meet, for two members of the drill team won the best drilled cadet freshman and sophomore awards offered by the military department at the college this last year.

Company C-7 was well represented at the national assembly held in New York this year. Capt. Tom Murton attended as representative of C-7, and brought back many helpful suggestions and ideas.

REGIMENTAL PERSHING RIFLES

By keeping in close contact with each of the seven companies, the Pershing Rifles Seventh regimental headquarters received complete co-operation on every detail from the companies which are scattered over a four-state area.

Six new officers were initiated into the regimental headquarters to take over some of the responsibilities of the old staff officers. A goal of the best regiment in Pershing Rifles was set up by the Seventh regimental headquarters, located at A. & M., this last year, and judging by the accomplishments the goal was reached.

A regimental drill assembly has been planned for this spring at Oklahoma A. & M. College.

One new company, H-7 at Oklahoma university, was installed and it made the company roll now read seven.

WOMEN'S RIFLE TEAM

The women's rifle team of Oklahoma A. & M. College set a record this year of which any rifle team could be proud. For even though it is only three years old, the team brought in a second place in the National Intercollegiate Women's Rifle matches, and one of the team members, Laverne Bradford, won tenth in the individual scores for the same match. The national intercollegiate matches are entered by nearly every college and girls' school in the nation, and some colleges that participated in the match have had rifle teams for over ten years.

The team, which was organized in 1947, has never lost a postal match. Women's rifle shooting has proven to be one of the most popular sports on the campus.

Maj. K. C. Emerson is the supervisor for the team.

AGGIE X

The Aggie-X club was chartered in January, 1929, as the departmental club for students majoring in agricultural economics.

This year the local club prompted a movement to coordinate the activities of similar clubs through national association. Its goal was realized at Green Lake, Wis., September, 1948, when delegates of clubs from Oklahoma A. & M. College and other colleges were granted charters of affiliation through an organization known as the student section of the American Farm Economic association.

The purpose of the Aggie-X club is to create interest and study in the economic problems of agriculture, and to promote and further a closer fellowship between the students, faculty and alumni members in agriculture.

The Aggie society is one of the oldest organizations on the campus, having been formed in 1900. Enrollment in the Division of Agriculture automatically makes a student a member of Aggie society.

The primary purpose of Aggie society is to promote wider acquaintance and better cooperation among the students in agriculture.

The big events of the year for the Aggie society occur during the spring of the year. One event is the election of the Aggie princess, who is crowned on Aggie day. Aggie day takes place in the spring and consists of a picnic and a dance.

This year the Aggie society gave a loving cup for the best departmental float in the homecoming parade. The Agronomy club won the cup.

The Aggie council is the governing body of Aggie society, and is composed of the officers of the society and the presidents of all agricultural organizations. The Aggie council works in cooperation with Aggie society and the departmental clubs.

The Agronomy club is composed of students interested in field crops, soils and related fields. It was founded in 1922 and affiliated with the junior section of the American Society of Agronomy in 1934. The purpose of the club is for its members to have fellowship and widen their acquaintance in the field of agronomy.

The club annually sponsors a freshman-sophomore and a junior-senior crops judging contest. Members of the club also enter in national crops judging contests. This year the team won first in Kansas City and Chicago. Club members also placed first, second and ninth in the American Society of Agronomy essay contest this year.

The Agronomy club's homecoming float placed first among clubs in the School of Agriculture. Shem Sooter, a member of the local club, is retiring president of the junior section of the American Society of Agronomy. Eldon Hood will serve the national organization as treasurer for the coming year.

The main social event of the year is the annual spring picnic. Members also have one social meeting each month.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers was founded in 1896 for the purpose of promoting production and utilization of electricity and the welfare of those employed in these industries. This charter was adopted by 40 members who represented the national organization at that time. Provisions were soon made in 1902 for the formation of student branches in various accredited colleges.

From this meager start the American Institute of Electrical Engineers now has many thousand members and approximately 130 student branches of several hundred members each. The work of the organization has steadily increased, offering many advantages to the student and professional electrical engineer.

The student is materially benefitted both locally and through the national organization. The Oklahoma A. & M. College student branch presents outstanding speakers in regular monthly meetings to a group of over 300 members. These speakers are chosen for their professional abilities in the field of electrical engineering which will be of particular interest to the student.

Row 1: Holeman, Vandegrift, Wyatt, Bates, Skaggs, Hitt, Rigg, Darwin, Beazley, Spangler, Thiesen, Forrester, McDowell, Pittman.
Row 2: Donavant, Hutchison, Dayton, Driebeek, Krueger, Magill, Ice, Cooper, Lappan, Haddock, Fair, Olson.
Row 3: Smith, Reynolds, Lawson, Argue, Goode, Scott, Baird, Brooke, Leonard, Grigsby, Morphis, Gibbs, Redelsperger.
Row 4: Loveless, Burkitt, Fowler, Morton, Dobson, Webb, Loafman, Gibson, McGlamery, Ewing, McClure, Estill, Misch.

Row 1: Cole, Pickett, Howse, Cude, Hartos, McGaughey, Naeter, Pier, Siler, Gilmore, Byers, Ruppe, Corder.
Row 2: Edwards, Meyer, Davis, Cox, Affholder, Claybaker, Lynch, Stephens, Kagan, Hart, Smith, Freeman.
Row 3: Smith, Eldredge, Malone, Powers, Canada, Brown, Johnson, Richardson, Bryant, Payne, Huckleberry, Disco, Abstine.
Row 4: Stater, Earthman, Argo, Hackler, Coleman, Rudisell, Gray, Seow, Williams, Holt, Capek, Seamands.
Row 5: Eland, Waugh, Johnson, Bickel, Gelmers, Derenbecher, Bailey, Moser, McCuen, Bryan, Lawhead, Burns, Aslaksen.

Every undergraduate gains an insight into various phases of his future social and professional privileges and obligations.

One of the outstanding speakers to address the members of AIEE this year was Dr. Robert A. Milliken, author of several textbooks and the vice-chairman of the board of trustees of the California Institute of Technology. He is well-known for his work in isolating and measuring the electron and is a Nobel prize winner. Dr. Milliken spoke at a special joint meeting of AIEE and ASCE in February.

To cultivate the student's latent abilities he is encouraged to take active part in this large group by presenting technical papers which may be the result of his own reading and investigation. Thus through an early connection with the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, he may assume individual activity and initiative which is not afforded in the classroom and which will be of material gain to his future life.

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter was organized before World War II and reactivated in 1945. This year is the first time since the beginning of the organization that the membership has exceeded 50. The membership is theoretically for electrical engineers but in the charter it states that any engineer in an accredited college may be a member of the departmental organization.

AIEE was in charge of the exhibits and displays of the electrical engineering department at the annual engineering open house which was held the first week of May this year. The organization also headed a coordinating committee in connection with Eta Kappa Nu and the Radio club for the open house.

When Alvin Rigg was graduated at the end of the first semester, Alvin Skaggs became chairman for the second semester.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional commerce fraternity, since its charter was granted on April 19, 1920, has continued to promote professional activities that introduce its members to concrete problems of the business world. Alpha Kappa Psi has 65 chapters in colleges and universities of the United States.

The aims of Alpha Kappa Psi are to further the individual welfare of its members, to foster scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounting, and finance, to educate the public to appreciate and demand higher ideals therein and to promote and advance courses leading to degrees in the Division of Commerce.

ALPHA PI MU

Alpha Pi Mu, honorary premedical fraternity, was jointly established at Oklahoma A. & M. and at Oklahoma university in the fall of 1931. The fraternity was founded for the purpose of bringing together persons of medical inclinations so as to furnish them with an atmosphere for the exchange of ideas pertaining to medical science.

Modern emancipation of women has resulted in the transformation of the fraternity from a men's organization into one including both men and women.

Prerequisites to the fraternity are 28 hours of college credits, 14 of which must have been obtained at this college, a grade point average required by medical schools and approval by the members of the fraternity.

ALPHA SIGMA ETA

Beta chapter of Alpha Sigma Eta was organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in May of 1930. The fraternity is an honorary scouting organization for college students who have attained the rank of Eagle and are willing to pledge themselves for the purpose of the order.

Alpha Sigma Eta is organized on the campus for leadership, fellowship and service to both the college and the community. Among the projects of outstanding value are the memorial chapel drive, leadership among all the local scouting activities, and traffic control during homecoming.

The social events include camps, dances, picnics and scouting activities.

ART STUDENT GUILD

The Art Guild is an organization for art students on the campus of Oklahoma A. & M. College. The purpose of this group is to foster interest in art, with guest speakers being sponsored to broaden the knowledge of the field, besides the regular semi-monthly business meetings. It was established in 1927 using the title name of the Sketch Box.

The minimum requirements are to be an art major or minor, completion of 25 hours, interest in the field and a grade average of at least "B" in art and "C" in all subjects.

The Art Guild this year plans to have an all-member show in the campus art gallery in 400 Morrill hall.

A. S. A. E.

The purpose of the ASAE is to promote interest of students in agricultural engineering, promote leadership, provide extracurricular activities for its members and foster closer relationship between faculty and students. Members are undergraduate students enrolled in agricultural engineering. Reorganized in 1945, the organization has grown from 20 to 83 members and is very active on the campus.

Bruce Blanchard is president of the southwest section of student branches which was organized by the initiative of the OAMC branch. The branch is endeavoring to organize an honorary agricultural engineering fraternity of national unity. Prominent professional speakers have been guests of the branch this year.

A. S. C. E.

The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, consisting of civil and general engineering and architectural students, was organized in 1922 as a student branch of the national senior organization.

Functioning in union with its parent organization, its purpose is to develop a close association of engineers and students of the civil and related engineering professions through social and educational facilities. Its activities include the sponsoring of speakers, field trips and an annual social outing.

Membership in the organization is open to all students enrolled in civil and general engineering and architecture. Prof. J. E. Lothers is faculty advisor for the organization.

A. S. M. E.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was founded in 1880. Regularly enrolled students in the School of Engineering, following a curriculum leading to an engineering degree, may apply for local student membership in the society. The objectives of the student branches are to develop initiative and familiarity with technical societies and also to foster association among others in mechanical engineering.

Through the medium of the national society's monthly magazine, "Mechanical Engineering," students may keep abreast of developments in the profession. Upon graduation, student members may apply for promotion to junior membership in the parent organization. William Ledgerwood received this year's certificate of award for being the outstanding student in this chapter.

BEAUX ARTS

The Beaux Arts architectural society was or-organized on this campus 10 years ago and has grown into a progressive departmental organization.

The natural feeling of comradeship developed in the drafting rooms among students who spend long hours together at arduous tasks is given further impetus by the society in recreation and opportunities to keep abreast of developments affecting the actual training of the young architect.

The society tries to present as much of a social calendar as the very full schedule of the members will permit. This usually includes several dinner meetings, the annual Beaux Arts ball and the spring picnic. Bud Garland served the organization as social chairman this year.

The Block and Bridle club is a national organization composed of students majoring in animal husbandry. It was founded in 1919 and has spread to the campuses of 26 agricultural colleges. The local chapter of Block and Bridle was organized in 1920 as the Hoof and Horn club, changing its name in 1922 when it became a part of the National Block and Bridle club.

The objectives of the organization are to promote all phases of animal husbandry, encourage high scholarship and foster closer relationship between the students, faculty and others in animal husbandry.

Last year Block and Bridle paid out more than $2,000 to help send the college livestock and meats judging teams to intercollegiate contests throughout the nation. This money is raised by means of two rodeos held during the year. The fall rodeo is a one-day show held in connection with the annual Little International Livestock show, also sponsored by the club. The spring rodeo is a two-day affair climaxing "western week," a campus-wide activity which finds western apparel and chin whiskers the order of the day. The Aggie princess for the past two years was sponsored by Block and Bridle.

BLUE KEY

OFFICERS

BOB EDWARDS . . . . . President

GEORGE GEYER . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer
TOMMY BRYANT . . . . . Corresponding Secretary

Blue Key had its beginning at Oklahoma A. & M. College May 18, 1932, when the local chapter was installed with 12 charter members.

Civic service is the central aim of the Blue Key national honor fraternity and is symbolized by the oath each member takes when he is initiated into the organization.

Since its small beginning in 1920, Blue Key has grown into a national organization with 76 collegiate chapters distributed throughout the United States.

Leadership is recognized as the principal prerequisite for membership. Blue Key members are prominent leaders in the Student association on the A. & M. campus, active in specialized professional honorary societies in departments throughout the institution, and rank high in scholastic leadership. Blue Key stamps a man as one of all-around ability, good character, possessing qualities for leadership and the confidence of his fellow students.

Blue Key's annual fund-raising event, the Blue Key carnival, was held in the fall this year between quonset huts near Morrill hall.

Haylor Fisher was elected to represent the A. & M. chapter at the annual Blue Key convention in Chicago this year.

Chi Epsilon is a national honorary civil engineering fraternity for the purpose of recognizing and bringing together the outstanding students in civil engineering or related fields of study. Membership is composed of those student engineers, in the upper third of the junior and senior classes, possessed of the qualities of scholarship, character, practicability and sociability so necessary for a successful engineer.

Chi Epsilon was founded at the University of Illinois in 1922. Since then 22 chapters representing the campuses of the colleges and universities from all parts of the United States have been organized. The Oklahoma A. & M. chapter, the 19th, was chartered in May, 1941, with 27 charter members. Today, over 100 men have been initiated into the fraternity.

Activities of the chapter include cooperation with the American Society of Civil Engineers in promotion of events and projects of general interest and benefit of the civil and general engineering departments.

CHI GAMMA IOTA

OFFICERS

MARTIN SERETEAN . . . . . President
JACK A. HUMPHREY . . . . . Vice-President
WALTER S. NEWMAN . . . . . Secretary
CHARLES LEE . . . . . Treasurer

During the latter part of 1947 a group of returning servicemen at the University of Illinois conceived the idea of awarding veterans recognition for scholastic achievement. With this thought in mind a society called Chi Gamma Iota was formed. In April, 1948, the Beta chapter at Oklahoma A. & M. College, with a nucleus of 37 members, was chartered. It currently has a membership of 96.

This society has a two-fold purpose; firstly to encourage and recognize those returning veterans who have attained high scholastic achievement, and secondly to promote human relations by accepting all students who meet the requirements regardless of race, creed, color or sex.

It is one of the few honorary fraternities on the campus which is open to all students regardless of the division in which they are enrolled.

Membership is open to veterans having an all-college average of 3.0 or above for two or more consecutive semesters. Graduate students must maintain an average of 3.5.

CHORAL CLUB

OFFICERS

JOHN WILLIAMS . . . . . President

ELINOR MILLER . . . . . Vice-President

MARY JO CARRIER . . . Secretary and Accompanist

The Choral club presented its annual Christmas cantata, "The Holy Advent," Tuesday, Dec. 14, 1948. The cantata included Break Forth into Joy, The Harps of Gold are Ringing, Hark a Thrilling Voice is Sounding, Look Above Ye Shepherds, O Holy Night, Where is He, Bethlehem, Rest Thee Jesus and Unto Us a Child is Born. Soloists in the cantata were Dick Chambers, baritone; Jayne Peer, contralto, and Jo Ann Dickerson, soprano.

The Choral club is one of the oldest vocal musical organizations on the campus and has one of the largest membership rolls. Because of its consistently large enrollment, the club's activities are necessarily limited to one program each semester. Plans have been made for the presentation of a similar program during the Easter season next spring.

The purpose of the Choral club is to afford every student on the campus who is not a music major an opportunity to learn to use his voice in its proper vocal setting. This will enable the student, in later life, to participate in other musical organizations and to develop a greater appreciation for music.

The collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America was organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus, March 3, 1932. The chapter is sponsored by the department of agricultural education and is the oldest collegiate chapter in the United States. The chapter was organized especially for students in agricultural education, but its members include students majoring in every department in the School of Agriculture.

The organization has as its objectives to promote a spirit of cooperation and good will among high school and college students who are members of the FFA organization, to provide training for leadership in the activities of the FFA for young men at Oklahoma A. & M. who are planning to be leaders in the Oklahoma division of the organization, to promote vocational education in agriculture in the secondary schools of the state, to cooperate with the state and national organization in promoting the activities, purposes and ideals of the FFA.

Social activities for this year included a get-acquainted party, spring picnic, dances, queen race and a donkey basketball game.

COMMERCE STUDENT COUNCIL

OFFICERS

PAUL TEEL . . . . . President
RON KERSTEN . . . . . Vice-President
BELVA DOCKUM . . . . . Secretary-Treasurer

The Commerce Student council, the only advisory group of its kind operating in any of the various schools of the college, is composed of students from the School of Commerce and is limited to 35 members. Each year the council from the previous year, along with a committee of faculty members, selects new members for the council.

The council is a medium for commerce students to express their wishes, likes and dislikes to the administration of the School of Commerce, for it is through suggestions and ideas of the commerce student body that the council functions in its advisory capacity.

The council discusses at its regular meetings the problems, proposals and ideas relating to students, faculty and courses; and, upon favorable consideration, the suggestions are made known to the administration of the school.

Each year the council sponsors a commerce car in the homecoming parade carrying the First Lady of Commerce who is chosen at an annual election in which all students enrolled in the school vote. The council also sponsors an annual Commerce day.

DAIRY SCIENCE CLUB

The present Dairy Science club was formed this year from the reorganization of the existing National Dairy club. The National Dairy club had been established on the A. & M. campus since 1924, but the members felt that a local club would better suit their needs.

The purpose of the club is to promote closer relations between dairy students and members of the faculty and to promote good fellowship among the dairy students.

This year the Dairy Science club participated in the homecoming parade and honored returning alumni at a homecoming breakfast. Activities included the freshman dairy cattle judging contest, the freshman dairy products judging contest and the dairy division of the high school interscholastic meet. E. R. Berousek and M. Lowenstein are advisors.

DELTA SIGMA ALPHA

Delta Sigma Alpha was first organized on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in 1919.

In 1924 it adopted the name of Collegiate 4-H club and held this name until 1942, when it assumed its original name of Delta Sigma Alpha. The organization is comprised of a group of young men and women who come together to gain further training in cooperation, fellowship and leadership, to cooperate with county and state extension workers for a better rural life in our state, to keep in touch with the 4-H club movement and to continue friendships made with 4-H club members.

Delta Sigma Alpha cooperated with the extension service by assisting with the programs and activities of the state 4-H club round-up held on the A. & M. campus each spring.

DELTA SIGMA PI

In March, 1948, a group of men students saw the need for another fraternity in the School of Commerce. In order to obtain a group of men who were interested in a new organization, notices were posted and two informal meetings were held. As a result a large group of men signed the membership roll.

At the first formal meeting held April 28, 1948, the name of Beta Alpha was chosen for the new organization, officers were elected and the group voted to petition for a charter of the international fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi.

Beta Alpha was organized to foster the study of business in this school, to encourage scholarship and the association of students of commerce, and to further a high standard of commercial ethics and culture.

DELTA SIGMA THETA

Nu chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, national religious fraternity for college men of Methodist preference, was installed at Oklahoma A. & M. College in the spring of 1940.

Delta Sigma Theta resulted from the merger of Phi Tau Theta, founded at the University of Nebraska in 1925, and Sigma Epsilon Theta, founded at the University of Indiana in 1936. The union of these two groups was accomplished in Cedar Falls, Iowa, Nov. 30, 1941, shortly after the unification of Methodism.

The purposes of Delta Sigma Theta are to create Christian fellowship, develop leadership, give religious training, develop an understanding and appreciation of the Methodist church and promote wholesome social activities.

For some time in the Oklahoma Institute of Technology a growing need has been felt for a small, compact organization to unite the engineering students and the numerous specialized societies within the division. The Engineering Student council was designed to meet that need. The groundwork for the council was laid in the fall semester when several meetings were held for the purpose of drawing up a constitution to be formally adopted at that first regular meeting this semester. Present plans call for semi-monthly scheduled meetings thereafter.

The Engineering Student council actually grew out of the old Engineering society, which was abandoned at the end of the fall term. It will take over such former activities of the society as the engineering float in the homecoming parade, the preparations for the engineering open house and the big event of the engineers' year, the St. Pat's ball. It will manage the engineering clubroom, the Oklahoma State Engineer and the election of the Engineering queen. Planning for the open house is now underway by a council-appointed chairman and his committee.

The dean of engineering is faculty advisor for the council, which is composed of one member elected from each of the departmental and honorary organizations in the Oklahoma Institute of Technology, the engineers' student senator, the editor of the Oklahoma State Engineer and representatives from the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Oklahoma Society of Professional Engineers. Thus, it is a group which is representative of the entire engineering student body. It will be able to coordinate the activities of the students and the various organizations. In matters concerning the relationship between the faculty and the students, the Engineering Student council will be in a position to speak authoritatively for the students. It should become increasingly more important in engineering affairs on the campus.

ETA KAPPA NU

Eta Kappa Nu in the fullest sense is an honorary organization. The main purpose of the organization is to promote and reward high scholarship of electrical engineering students. To attain these ends, the Omega chapter awards a gold medal to the outstanding electrical engineering senior, and an electrical handbook to the freshman electrical engineer with the highest average for the school year.

Early every semester a smoker is held for the prospective candidates. Courtesy week follows pledging, and every effort is made to get the members and pledges acquainted.

The chapter fosters close cooperation between the students and faculty. Members of the faculty are encouraged to attend and participate in chapter meetings.

FIREMEN'S CLUB

Firemen must live together in close cooperation. Realizing this fact, the late Chief J. Ray Pence in 1939 organized the Firemen's club, an organization composed of all members of the Stillwater and Veterans Village fire departments.

As part of their college work, members receive fire protection training and answer fire alarms and emergency calls. They study and sleep in the fire stations and eat in the dining hall operated by the club at the Campus fire station.

Before becoming a member, each rookie must complete a "Hell week," which is designed to familiarize him with the fire fighting equipment in order that he may be a better fireman, and a greater help in the protection of life and property from fire.

GIRLS BAND

The Girls' band is in its third year on the campus and is one of the most colorful organizations of its kind in the country. It is one of the few all-girl college bands, and none has finer equipment and uniforms for their organization.

The band performs at all home football games in the fall and at other athletic events and campus programs during the year. During the second semester it is a concert group.

The main purpose of this organization is to give every girl enrolled in college an opportunity to continue playing the instrument that she played in her high school band. Hiram Henry of the music department is director of the group.

GIRLS GLEE CLUB

The Women's Glee club, a campus-wide organization, has enjoyed various activities during 1949. The glee club's activities included giving a program at Orlando, with the help of the varsity quartet and a trombone trio; singing at the Baptist church in Stillwater; the annual fine arts concert for children Feb. 12 with the Terpsichorean club, at which the glee club sang its own group and background for a pantomimed Hansel and Gretel; the spring concert April 26 with the Terpsichorean club and brass ensemble as guests, as well as appearing on Terpsichorean's March 24 concert.

Some of the plans for the spring were a picnic with the Men's Glee club, a small tour of Oklahoma and a more extensive tour by a girls' sextet selected from the glee club.

The Home Economics club, which was founded in 1910 at A. & M., is composed of girls enrolled in the School of Home Economics.

The objects of the Home Economics club are to participate actively in improving personal, home and campus living, to experience real achievement on the part of all members, to participate in cooperative planning and group activities, to promote fellowship among college students, to develop some leadership ability, to participate in enjoyable recreational activities, to do life's work, however humble, with dignity and respect, to promote better student-faculty relationship, and to be able to establish and enjoy an all-round campus life.

The annual sack supper, a mixer honoring the freshman students, served as an introduction to the club. This was followed with pledging and initiation of 200 girls. A pie supper and barn dance highlighted the activities.

Projects sponsored included sending gifts to needy European children through the "World Christmas Festival," the home economics bazaar and a food concession booth at the Blue Key carnival.

The club is a member of the college Home Economics Clubs of Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Home Economics association and the American Home Economics association.

When the International Relations club was founded on the campus, it took as its main function the promotion of world understanding through free and open discussions of the problems which confront the world today.

As the world once looked to Rome, or later to Great Britain, it now in this 20th century looks to the United States for leadership—we are our brother's keeper. It is up to the American to understand world problems because it is the people in our country who shape the foreign policy and set its objectives. Through taking part in discussions, saying what we believe, and knowing individual votes count, we can best achieve our objective of world peace.

With the ever-growing number of students from various parts of this world coming to our campus, the club has emphasized acquaintance with these students from other lands, for the club feels we can better know and understand a country through a knowledge of its people. At present the membership includes students from Peru,

KAPPA KAPPA PSI

Kappa Kappa Psi, the only national honorary fraternity for college bandsmen in the United States, was founded on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in 1919 by William A. Scroggs. Since that founding the fraternity has over 45 active chapters located in most of the 48 states.

The purpose of the organization is to promote more brotherhood among college bandsmen and to give recognition to outstanding bandsmen both in college and in the professional field. For this purpose, the Alpha chapter presents each spring an award to the outstanding freshman band student in the A. & M. band.

The national shrine is located on the Aggie campus in Crutchfield hall, where the first meeting was held in 1919.

Kappa Phi is a national organization for Methodist preference women on state college and university campuses. It was founded in 1916 at Kansas university. Theta chapter on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus was installed in 1920. The aim of Kappa Phi is "Every Methodist woman in the university world today a leader in the church of tomorrow." Kappa Phi meets the need to form closer fellowship among Methodist college girls, to make their work more beneficial and a challenge to others. It provides a religious background which leads one into deeper and more enriching service in the church of tomorrow.

The theme for this year's work was "Let your light so shine." Programs were based on many phases of light such as First Lights, Christ's Light and Highlights.

To promote a better understanding among related organizations, Kappa Phi and Delta Sigma Theta, Methodist men's fraternity, exchanged two programs.

Outstanding among our social events were the annual Christmas banquet and the Mother's club buffet suppers.

KAPPA TAU PI

Kappa Tau Pi, national honorary religious fraternity, consists of men from all the major churches who have asserted themselves as leaders in the field of Christian endeavor and who must make a minimum of 36 grade points the semester previous to initiation.

The organization was founded at the University of Oklahoma in 1918 by eight men who saw the need for greater cooperation and fellowship among Christian students of different denominations. In 1920 it was chartered as a national fraternity, Beta chapter being installed on our campus the same year.

The aim of the fraternity is to create a spirit of loyalty and cooperation by bringing together the representatives of the various churches into an organization. Activities include weekly meetings, initiation banquets and a joint Christmas party with Pi Zeta Kappa.

MU KAPPA TAU

Mu Kappa Tau, the professional marketing fraternity in the Division of Commerce, was established on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus in April, 1939. Since there was no organization in American colleges which devoted its activities to marketing interests, the fraternity was formed for the purpose of fostering higher scholastic achievement in the marketing classes in the school. Members and guests of Mu Kappa Tau get first hand information from the various programs planned in every phase of the marketing field.

Although the fraternity was inactive during the war, it was reactivated in April, 1948, and now has a greater membership than ever before. The future for Mu Kappa Tau includes plans to incorporate the organization and to invite other colleges and universities to install chapters.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

The Men's Glee club completed its most successful year in its history, opening the season with a concert in Tulsa and following with appearances in nearly every section of the state. Radio broadcasts, recording sessions and several tours were included in the year's activities.

The 60-voice group was invited to appear on the program of the Southwestern music educators conference in Colorado Springs during the second semester. In Stillwater, they presented winter and spring concerts including the January baccalaureate service.

Through the courtesy of President Henry G. Bennett, the glee club was outfitted in attractive blue tux-style coats and maroon ties at the beginning of the year.

MORTAR BOARD

Membership in Mortar Board is the highest status attainable to a senior woman on any campus, and one of the highlights of the spring semester occurs when Mortar Board "taps" worthy girls from the junior class to carry on its ideals for the coming year. This honor is based on scholarship, leadership and service on completion of five-eighths of the college curriculum.

This national senior women's honor society was first organized as Achafoa in 1930. A dream of 10 years was realized Nov. 16, 1940, when national Mortar Board granted Achafoa membership. Mortar Board strives to promote college loyalty and service, to encourage leadership, to maintain a high standard of scholarship and to stimulate the development of a finer college woman.

A & M VETERINARY SOCIETY

Pushing aside bones, dissecting kits and cadavers, 28 members of the first veterinary medicine class formulated and chartered the Oklahoma A. & M. student Veterinary society in the spring of 1948.

Linking together many common interests, the organization was designed to promote more friendly relations among members and to gain professional knowledge through organized effort.

With the entrance of 40 freshman vet students in September, the organization gathered steam to cop the much coveted top originality prize in the homecoming parade — a feat never accomplished before by a new organization. Other activities included special lectures, a Christmas party, picnic, dance, full participation in athletics such as bowling, basketball, swimming and softball.

Gilbert and Sullivan's colorful operetta "The Gondoliers" was presented by the Opera club Nov. 18 and 19. The Opera club, which was organized in 1946, is directed jointly by L. N. Perkins of the music department and Norman DeMarco of the speech department. Scenery for "The Gondoliers" was made by members of Opera club and Players club. Mrs. Jerlyn Black was in charge of the dance sequences.

The Oklahoma A. & M. Opera club members present one big production a year and it is given in the College auditorium. They are accompanied by the symphonic orchestra. Their objectives are to further the opera on the A. & M. campus, and to give those students who have the ability an opportunity to display their talents before the student body.

The Alpha student chapter of the Oklahoma Society of Professional Engineers was organized in the spring of 1948. The chapter has both state and national affiliation. The Alpha chapter was the first student chapter organized under the provisions of the by-laws of the Oklahoma state chapter. Membership in the Alpha student chapter of OSPE is open to any student regularly enrolled in an engineering curriculum at Oklahoma A. & M. College who is interested in the advancement of engineering professionally.

The purposes of this organization are to familiarize the student engineer with the duties, obligations and privileges of his profession; to provide a connecting link between the student and the practicing engineer on a professional rather than a purely technical basis; to acquaint the engineering student with professional problems and permit him to express his opinions on matters affecting his future, and to acquaint the student with honorable and ethical standards of his profession. The organization also attempts to develop among its members a consciousness of their duties as members of the social, political, religious and educational organizations of their communities.

Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholarship fraternity for freshman men, was founded March 22, 1923, on the campus of the University of Illinois for the purpose of recognizing and encouraging high scholastic attainment among the men of the freshman class. The fundamental idea behind Phi Eta Sigma is that if recognition of ability and conscientious work is not given until the junior and senior years the purpose of such recognition is lost to a great extent. Phi Eta Sigma believes that early recognition of scholastic application is a stimulus to even greater endeavor in the following years.

Among the 57 chapters of Phi Eta Sigma, the Oklahoma A. & M. chapter was the 28th to be installed, the installation taking place Feb. 19, 1931. Dean C. H. McElroy has served faithfully in his capacity as faculty sponsor since that time.

All freshman men who make a scholastic grade point average of 3.5 or better are eligible for membership. The membership is not limited.

PHI LAMBDA UPSILON

Phi Lambda Upsilon was founded as an honorary chemical society at the University of Illinois in March, 1899. The purpose for which the society was founded, as stated in the constitution, was "the promotion of high scholarship and original investigation in all branches of pure and applied chemistry."

Alpha Delta chapter was installed on this campus in 1929. Juniors, seniors and graduate students, who are majoring in chemistry, chemical engineering or some applied chemical field, and who have maintained a high scholastic average are eligible for membership.

Chapter activities consist of business and dinner meetings, educational programs which feature speakers, and occasional social events.

PHI SIGMA

The A. & M. chapter, Alpha Eta of Phi Sigma, was founded Jan. 25, 1930. It was inactivated in June of 1942, and was reinstalled in the spring of 1947. Phi Sigma is an honorary biological fraternity established to promote research and further interest in biological science. The national chapter was established in 1915, recognizing the benefits which would be derived by students working in the biological sciences from an organization acting as a stimulus to research and affording an opportunity for free discussion.

Requirements for membership are a 2.5 grade average and at least 15 hours in biological science, as well as outstanding ability.

The colors of the society are yellow, green and white; the official flower is the shasta daisy.

PI EPSILON ALPHA

Pi Epsilon Alpha, interdenominational religious sorority, was founded on the A. & M. campus in 1925 as the result of efforts made by a group of young college women from the South Methodist church. Pi Epsilon Alpha became interdenominational in 1940.

The purpose of the sorority, to develop Christian leadership, is exercised by a different plan of study each year. This year the theme is women of the Bible with the devotions centered on the promises of the Bible.

In meeting the present and future needs of the girls through this religious development, the social needs are not overlooked. The highlight of the year is the formal Dixie banquet.

PI ZETA KAPPA

Pi Zeta Kappa, national interdenominational religious sorority, was founded on the campus of the University of Oklahoma. The group at Oklahoma A. & M. College was begun in 1920.

Members of Pi Zeta Kappa are selected on the basis of their leadership in church activities and personal integrity. Girls must also attain a certain grade point average before becoming members.

Pi Zeta Kappa is interested in working for the well-being of not only its members but also of all students with whom it comes in contact.

Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1915. Since that time, 41 chapters have been established in the leading colleges, universities and technical schools throughout the United States. Oklahoma A. & M. Lambda chapter was installed in the spring of 1931, and since that time has become an active force on the A. & M. campus.

In the fall of 1948, 48 pledges donned the green shirt and white tie of Pi Tau Sigma. They carried, in miniature, an emblem of progress, a wheel overlaid with the Carnot cycle. This symbolized man's first engineering feat, the invention of the wheel, and a Frenchman's theory of perfect expansion of gases, a process known by his name, the Carnot cycle. These men of the mechanical engineering department were chosen from the upper one-third of the senior class and upper one-fourth of the junior class. They excelled in the qualities of engineering ability, leadership, trustworthiness, industry, dependability and personality.

Each year Pi Tau Sigma offers an award to the highest ranking sophomore in mechanical engineering.

PLAYERS CLUB

Led by D. T. Martin, head of the speech department, and their president, Sol Smith, Omega Tau Mu has sought to produce plays and skits at regular intervals to entertain Aggie students. The group won cups in the 1948 production of the Varsity Revue and the Blue Key carnival. "Years Ago," a three-act comedy, was presented recently and skits were given for other campus organizations.

Players club is an organization for all students interested in any phases of play production. It was chartered under this name by the student senate Oct. 29, 1925. A new constitution was drafted and adopted for use last year. Another purpose of the club is to support any outside production or talent worthy of support.

The purpose of the club is to promote a better understanding of geology and to give the members an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other and with the faculty members of the geology department. At the present time the club is petitioning Sigma Gamma Epsilon, a national geology fraternity, for a chapter to replace the present organization.

Officers elected in the spring of 1949 were Sam West, president; Emery Tower, vice-president; Charles Fair, secretary-treasurer; and Don Burnell, program chairman.

Psi Chi, the national honorary society in psychology, was founded at New Haven, Conn., in September of 1929. The purpose is primarily to advance the science of psychology; and secondly to encourage, stimulate and maintain scholarship of the individual members in all academic fields, particularly in psychology.

Membership in this organization is comprised of majors and minors in psychology and those persons majoring in personnel management.

The Oklahoma A. & M. College chapter of Psi Chi was installed into the national organization at a banquet Nov. 10, 1948, with Dean J. S. McLeod of the University of Tulsa serving as the installation officer.

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, was founded at the University of Nebraska in 1904, and was the first honor society to be admitted to full membership in the Association of College Honor Societies. Sigma chapter was installed at Oklahoma A. & M. in 1923, and includes students of all branches of engineering.

To qualify scholastically a student must rank in the upper third of the junior and senior classes and further selection is based on sociability and practicality.

Dinner meetings are held bi-weekly, and social functions are sponsored throughout the year, such as the annual dinner-dance during the spring semester.

Sigma Tau annually presents an award to the outstanding engineering freshman and to the department presenting the best display during the Engineering and Science exposition.

Officers elected for the spring semester were Bud Lawrence, president; Bill Preston, vice-president; Bob Greaves, recording secretary; Roy Allen, corresponding secretary; Joe Hunt, treasurer, and Delbert Fair, historian.

Twenty-six chapters of Sigma Tau are now installed at leading engineering schools throughout the United States. Many faculty members are honorary and alumni members of Sigma Tau.

SOCIETY of INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS

Well on its way to becoming one of the most progressive of the technical organizations is the Industrial Engineering society, consisting of students in the department of industrial engineering. Since it was organized in 1924, the society has furnished an oportunity for student social and educational functions, and has played an important part in the development of leadership so necessary in industry today.

Some of the social functions sponsored each semester by the society are a "first meeting" smoker, a field trip to Oklahoma industries and a dinner party honoring graduating seniors for members and dates.

Since a national Society of Industrial Engineers has lately been organized, plans are being made for affiliation with the national professional society.

SOCIAL DANCE CLUB

OFFICERS

ERWIN BUCHANAN . . . . . President
BEN SMITH . . . . . Vice-President
MARIE STRODE . . . . . Secretary
HENRY GILDMEISTER . . . . . Treasurer
FLORA MAY ELLIS . . . . . Sponsor

The Social Dance club was organized in September, 1948. The instructor-sponsor is Miss Flora May Ellis, who has held voluntary social dance classes for college students since the spring semester, 1942. Technique, style and social customs are emphasized as well as the learning of a variety of steps for the different social dance rhythms. Fox-trot, jitterbug and waltz were taught the beginning group this year. The advanced group was taught rumba, tango and samba. The purpose of the club is to give the students interested in becoming proficient in the various types of social dance an opportunity to help the sponsor plan the program for the year, decide on the type dances taught, help in selecting suitable dance records and in various other ways promote the interests of the group.

The Oklahoma A. & M. student branch of the Society of Automotive Engineers is at present one of the larger professional societies in the Oklahoma Institute of Technology. The object of this organization is to promote interest in new developments in the automotive industry and to further acquaintance and good fellowship among the students.

As the principal means to accomplish its purpose, the student branch endeavors to have semi-monthly meetings with the presentation of technical papers by practicing engineers, several field trips each year, and participation in national, sectional, and intercollegiate meetings.

Highlights of this year were the debate between the O. U. and A. & M. branches at the national fuels and lubricants meeting in Tulsa, Nov. 5, and the presentation of citations to President Bennett, Vice-President Donnell and Dean Stapely in recognition of their efforts in bringing national prominence to the college by acquisition of the Klockner-Humboldt-Deutz Diesel Research laboratory.

SPUR AND COMB

The Spur and Comb club was organized Nov. 30, 1930, by poultry majors and faculty members of the poultry department under the supervision of Prof. R. B. Thompson, head of the department.

The purpose of the club is to create an interest in poultry among students in the School of Agriculture and to sponsor such projects as suggested by the department. Some of the annual projects sponsored by the club are the freshman-sophomore poultry judging contest, the interscholastic poultry judging contest for FFA, and the junior college poultry judging contest.

A. & M. was represented at the first annual Southern Collegiate poultry judging contest by Wayne Norwood, John High, Joe David, Claud Fite, alternate, and C. A. Roberts, coach. The team placed fifth, and Norwood placed second individually.

SYMPHONIC BAND

The symphonic band is one of the oldest organizations on the campus. During its existence it has given many years of service and education to its members and the college.

Members of the symphonic band are from all schools on the campus, with a large group being music majors. It is a select group of students who enjoy playing some of the finest music available for concert bands.

This group is joined with other players during the football season to form a football band of all boys. This band performs at all home football games in cooperation with the girls' band and gives some of the most colorful half-time shows in the nation.

Officers included: Max Mitchell, conductor; Hiram Henry, assistant conductor; Thomas Hardin, president; and Bill Darwin, drum major.

SYMPHONIC CHOIR

The symphonic choir, under the direction of Prof. Paul T. Klingstedt, is a mixed choral group composed of students from all schools of the college.

The choir has had many successful years under its able director. Last spring the choir presented Mozart's "Requiem Mass," a performance which, in the words of a critic, "pleased the most fastidious."

The annual Christmas concert given in the College auditorium, Dec. 12, was this season's first appearance of the group. The Christmas portion of Handel's "The Messiah," together with selected musical settings of the nativity and other traditional numbers formed the program.

Professor Klingstedt gives to the choir much of his knowledge and experience of the musical world, having written a widely accepted book on voice pedagogue.

The symphonic choir assisted with the seventh annual all-state high school choral festival held on the campus.

TAU BETA SIGMA

Alpha chapter of Tau Beta Sigma, national honorary band sorority for college bandswomen at Oklahoma A. & M. College, was granted its official charter in March, 1946. The sorority was founded at Lubbock, Tex., in 1939. The Tau Beta Sigma charter was granted by the state of Oklahoma, after the organization was transferred from Texas, and became the Alpha chapter, known as the mother chapter. It has assisted in installing eight other chapters on campuses over the nation.

Tau Beta Sigma is a sister sorority to Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary fraternity for college bandsmen. The growing interest of college women in the field of band music gives a bright outlook to Tau Beta Sigma.

TAU GAMMA

Because of the growing demand for an organization for college women living off the campus, Tau Gamma was organized at Oklahoma A. & M., first as the Townettes in the fall of 1939. In the spring of 1941, the present organization was formed and the name Tau Gamma was adopted.

Tau Gamma, Beta chapter, is not a national organization. It has no sister sororities. The purpose of Tau Gamma is to give the members a greater opportunity for participation in student government, to create a spirit of fellowship among college women living "off campus" and in private homes, and to create leadership among college women.

This year the program of Tau Gamma has consisted of bi-monthly recreational activities and informative business meetings.

The Tech society is a social and professional organization which was organized in 1937 to serve students enrolled in the School of Technical Training. The purpose of the organization is to provide an opportunity for social, professional and industrial contacts that will lead to the development of the students enrolled in the school and to further the interest of the School of Technical Training.

The Tech society is one of the newer organizations of this type on the campus. Any student enrolled in this school is eligible to become a member of the society. Curriculums included in the society include tech electricity, diesel engine mechanics, welding, machine shop, radio and electronics, fire protection, drafting, air conditioning and refrigeration and cabinet making.

Specialized courses are offered in the School of Technical Training for the purpose of meeting the needs of persons who prefer to take training leading to immediate employment. The primary purpose of this school is to train men and women for positions which occupy an area between the skilled crafts and highly scientific professions.

TERPSICHOREAN

Terpsichorean club is an honorary dance club. It was founded in 1927 by Flora M. Ellis, director of physical education for women.

The purposes of the club are to further dance as a creative art; to provide dance programs of quality to the various campus organizations and classes requesting them; to further develop the abilities and appreciations of experienced dancers, and to introduce dance to the novice as an enjoyable and worthwhile experience.

Terpsichorean dance club takes modern dance beyond the classroom into the realm of theater art, culminating in the annual spring dance concert. This year the club, together with the Women's Glee club, launched a new program, a fine arts concert for children.

VARSITY RADIO CLUB

The Varsity Radio club organization was founded during the summer of 1948, and received its charter during the fall semester.

The object of the club is to give students who expect to go into the radio field practical experience in the operation of a radio station, in the writing and production of plays and in building and maintaining a wired-wireless radio station to cover the campus.

The station operated by the club is known as KVRO, and began its operation during the spring semester. KVRO is self-supporting through advertising. The station is on the air at peak listening hours, bringing a balanced program of drama, music, elections, campus news, senate reports, sports events and addresses by guest speakers.

Proud of being able to provide music that pleases for Aggie students, the Varsitonians finished their 17th year on the A. & M. campus and closed the books on another successful season.

The Varsitonians, nearly as much a part of A. & M. tradition as is Old Central, have been a first rate hit on the campus since 1932.

Representing the finest in college musicianship, the 15 Varsitonians concentrate on presenting for Aggieland and the southwest, the easiest listening and most danceable music possible.

Featuring the vocalizings of their vocal quintet, the Varsitonians, as well as Patt Cash, Dean Hafner, Dick Niswonger and Jimmy Hunt, under the very capable leadership of trombonist Bob Covert, presented their distinctive stylings in music for most of the outstanding campus social functions.

Deserving of special recognition were lovely Patt Cash, the Aggievator girl of the month for October and featured vocalists of the Silver Lounge in Oklahoma City during August, 1948.

and Coleman Smith for his original compositions and fine work on fraternity and sorority songs, popular hits and many of the old standards.

The Varsitonians, now nationally-known, gathered in honors as a group, too, when they were chosen by the Mutual Broadcasting system as the nation's most outstanding college dance band, and were subsequently featured last summer on the 13-week MBS show, "Campus Capers," which was aired from coast to coast in the United States, parts of Canada and was short waved to many overseas stations.

America and many parts of the world got an earful of Oklahoma A. & M. and the famous Varsitonian-brand music on "Campus Capers," which was a show designed for college listeners. Every week a different large American college or university was saluted on the show. The Varsitonians presented for the first time on the air, six of their original compositions which were received with enthusiastic commendation from radio listeners all over America.

Although the Varsitonians have played for nearly all the major campus functions, and had broadcast locally and had two previous national hookups, last summer marked the first appearance of any Oklahoma college dance band on a series of national broadcasts. According to Bob McKinsey, formerly of Stillwater, who was the producer of the show, the Varsitonians band is the only college dance band ever to be signed for a similar broadcast series.

Bob Covert and the band topped off the year 1948 by accompanying A. & M.'s football team to Memphis, Tenn., where they played for the official Delta bowl dance in Ellis auditorium on New Year's eve.

Second semester added more laurels for the Varsitonians, when they were selected to write the music and play for the biggest, most popular all-school function of the year, the 1949 Varsity Revue "Newscapers," which was a great success.

The personnel of the band this year included leader Bob Covert, Tom Hardin, trombone; Dean Hafner, trumpet and featured male vocalist; Jim Clayton, Lynn Pearson, trumpets. Saxaphone men were R. V. Lindsey, baritone; Dudley Conner, tenor; Dick Niswonger, alto, blues vocals; Jimmy Hunt, alto, vocalist, and Skip Cain, tenor. Furnishing the beat were Max Fox, drums; Wayne Mueller, bass; Coleman Smith, pianist composer and arranger.

The female vocal spotlight was filled by Patt Cash and the master of ceremonies and business manager chores were handled by Bill Beck.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

Wesley foundation coordinates the religious activities of Methodist preference students on the campus and channels these activities through the local church. Its purpose is to plan and supervise religious activities, to create and maintain a Christian atmosphere among students and to offer training in Christian leadership. This movement was organized at the University of Illinois in 1913. The local foundation was established in 1926.

Activities this year include worship, weekly recreation, spiritual and planning retreats, vespers, meditations, a choir, dramatics, forums and religious education classes and discussions. Its affiliated organizations consist of Wesley players, the Camera club and Wesley choir.

Playing a major role in the lives of students at Oklahoma A. & M. College is the YMCA, whose office is located by the "Y" triangle on the east side of the "Y" hut. One of the major service undertakings of the YMCA each fall is the publishing and distribution of the Oklahoma A. & M. Student Directory. Other services provided by the YMCA include publishing the Freshman handbook in cooperation with the YWCA, taking entertainment programs to civic clubs and schools in Oklahoma, providing religious programs for nearby churches and communities, and in attempting to enlighten the public through the media of a weekly radio show.

The current "Y" program places primary emphasis, however, on the development of the qualities of leadership through participation in an active coordinated program. This is accomplished through a series of working committees which include political and world affairs groups, persons studying problems of alcohol, a field trip commission, a religious activities commission and other miscellaneous committees. These active committees present the program for our general meetings. The motto is Christian leadership through Christian action.

Monday night is YW night at A. & M. A separate program for freshman girls has been initiated for the first time this year to promote a better orientation program. General meetings and interest groups have been held for sophomores and upperclassmen. These meetings are helping fulfill the pledge YW members took when they became members of the world-wide Christian organization.

"We, the members of the Young Women's Christian association of Oklahoma A. & M. College, unite to build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus, to share His love for all people and to grow in the knowledge and love of God."

The Gym is open to all students as a part of the physical education program.

"Dogpatch Days" is a traditional College period of fun and frolic.

Ample space for classes is a feature in both the "Tech" and College divisions of the Branch College. Picture shows one of typical classes, small enough for individual attention. In the foreground, views of the campus chapel and residence accommodations are shown.

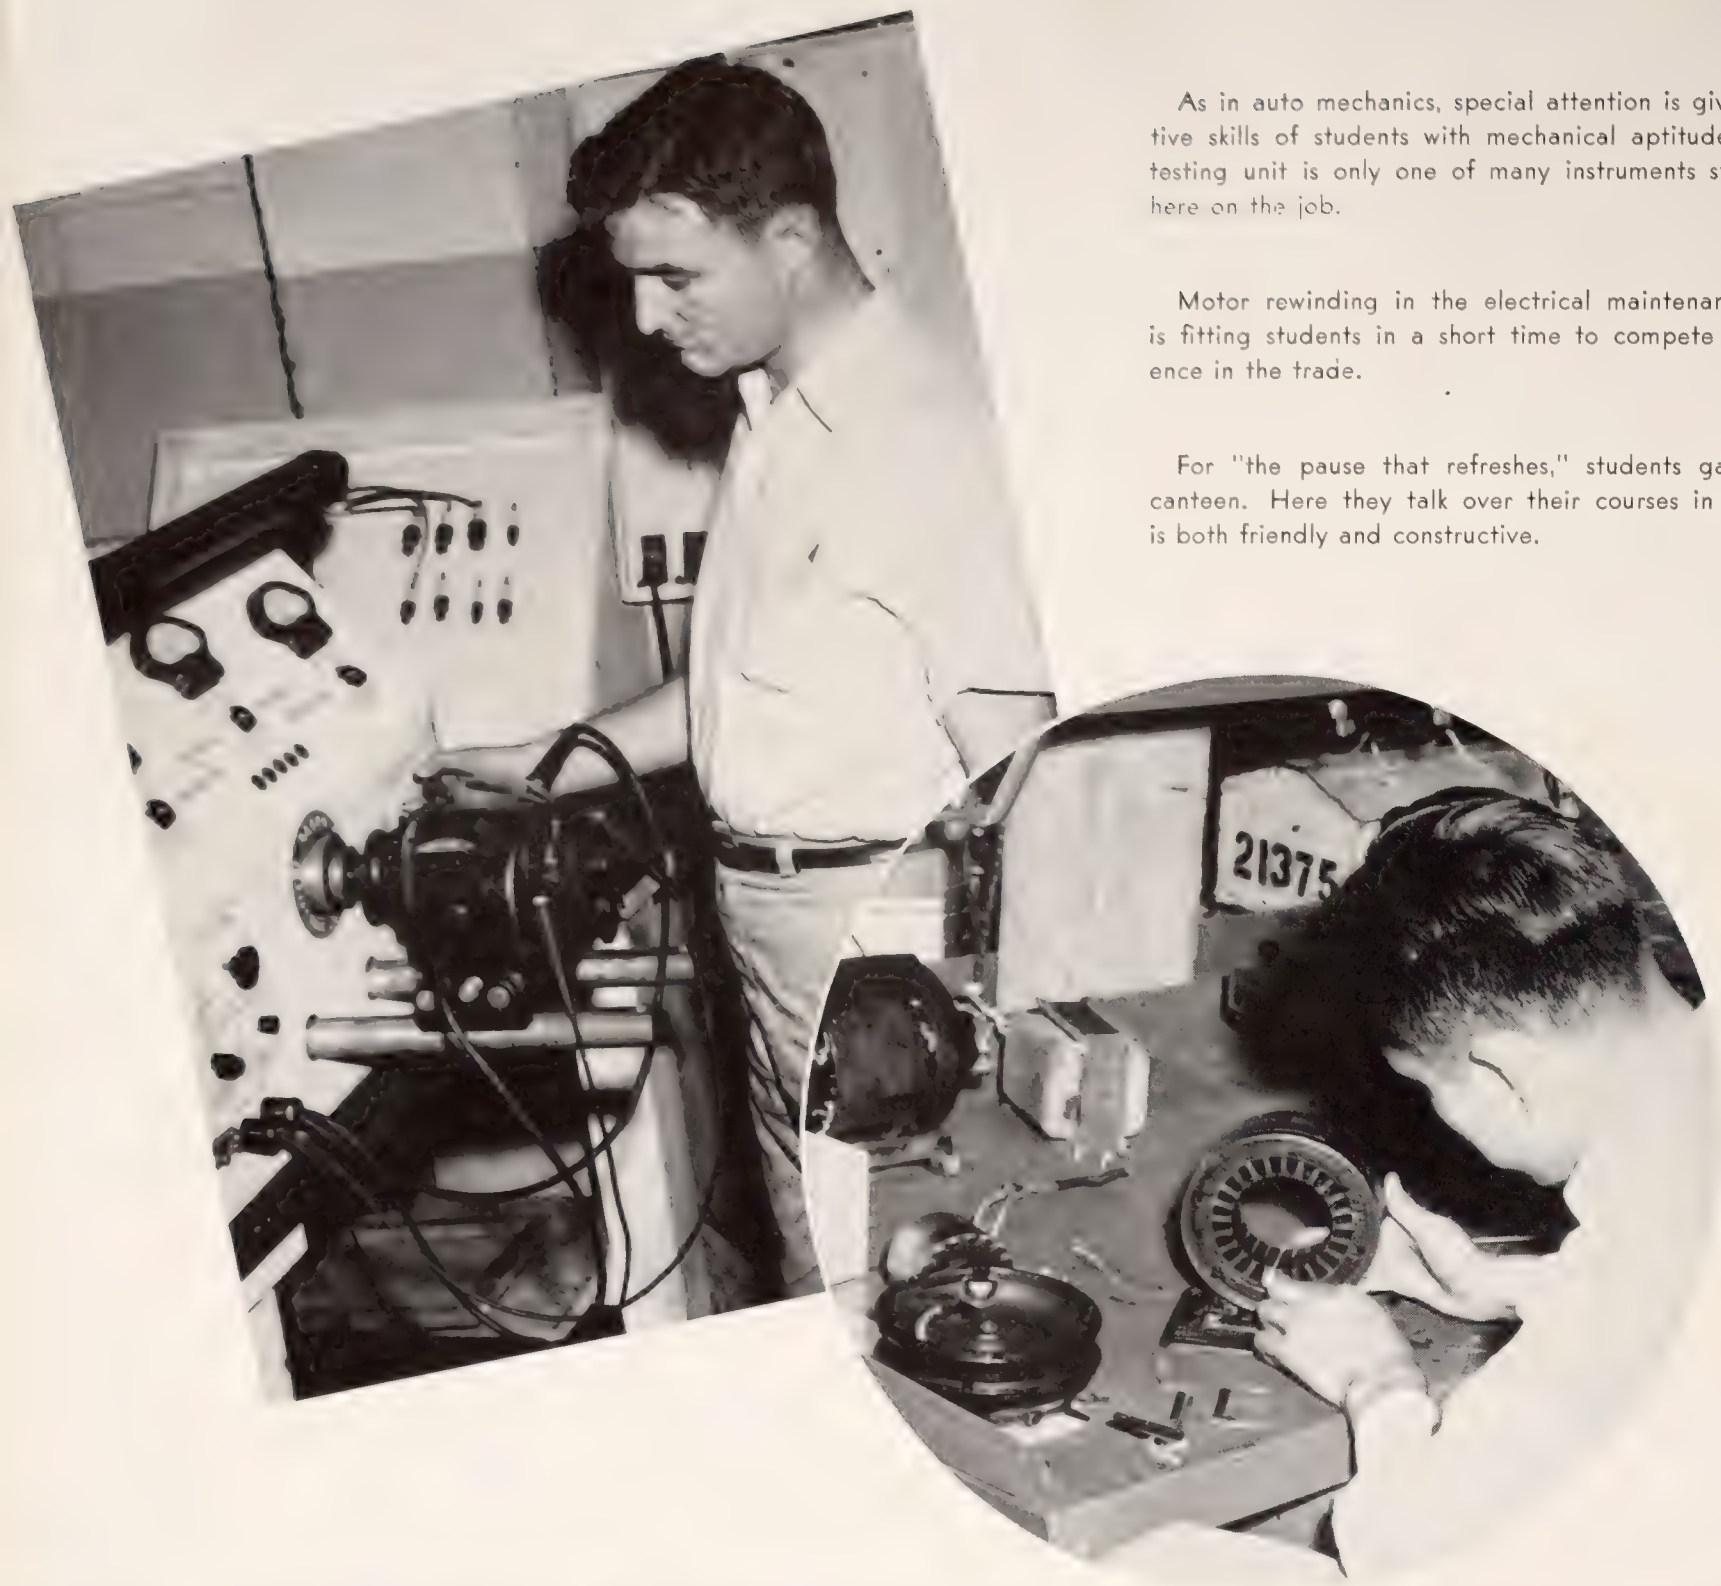

The Oklahoma A. & M. Branch college, at Okmulgee, in the heart of Oklahoma's industrial and agricultural economy, was opened for veterans in September of 1946. The services of the college have been extended to civilian students as needs of veterans have been met. The college offers two divisions of training. They are the "Tech school" and the College division, whose freshman and sophomore courses parallel those of the parent college and lead to degrees. The Technical Training division specializes in trade and industrial courses, preparing students for immediate employment. Entry is based on aptitude and skill of the individual in "Tech school" rather than on completed high school credits. With nearly 100 buildings on a 165-acre campus, housing is not a problem here for a registration that exceeded 900 during the past year. As a training center for "the people" the Branch college is serving a broad field by way of "concentrated practical education." For the handicapped its special training courses are opening new doors to success.

The picture above shows members of the advisory board in the well organized bakery division of the Branch College. They assemble regularly to give constructive assistance to this phase of training here. Similar boards, symbolizing contact with public occupations and trades, work with other fields of training at the college. The main divisions of training in the "Tech school" are: agriculture, food trades, intensive business and industrial trades. For the severely handicapped in the I. T. department, art leatherwork, jewelry manufacturing, fixit shop and furniture renovation are outstanding.

Apartments for married students are available here and the "community kitchen" is a feature of college services for students. The dormitory accommodations for unmarried men students are spacious, comfortable and equipped with private study tables. The college cafeteria, operated by dietitians and food experts, serves well prepared, tasty meals at a nominal fee. A hobby club, recreation program, and entertainment bureau add up to a diversity of activities arranged for Branch College students. Almost every state in the union is represented in the registration and rolls are not closed to out of state students. For full information on the Branch College services, write: L. K. Covelle, Director of the Oklahoma A. & M. Branch College, Okmulgee, Oklahoma.

As in auto mechanics, special attention is given to the manipulative skills of students with mechanical aptitudes. The auto starter testing unit is only one of many instruments students learn to use here on the job.

Motor rewinding in the electrical maintenance and repair shop is fitting students in a short time to compete with men of experience in the trade.

For "the pause that refreshes," students gather in the college canteen. Here they talk over their courses in an atmosphere that is both friendly and constructive.

Shoe rebuilding and repairing is one of the many trades students learn, by doing. The latest type of machinery is provided in their carefully appointed laboratory.

Jewelry manufacturing offered by the Branch College is unique in Oklahoma and this region. This area of training is offering work in a long neglected field.

The commercial art department of the college is a highly developed province that is giving registrants an opportunity for "concentrated knowledge" and practice. Here they prepare for interesting and well-paid careers.

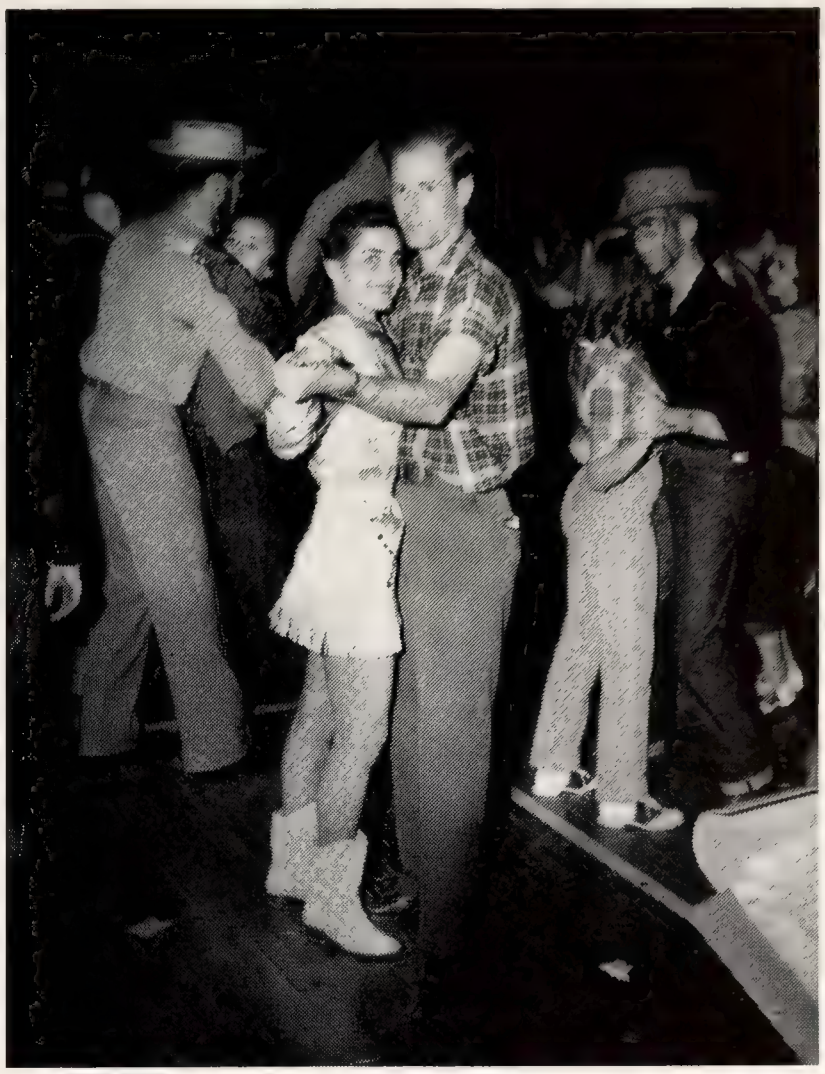

Above: Careful supervision is given students in architectural drafting in the building construction and related work division. Other courses include surveying, carpentry, masonry, air conditioning, inspection and building custodianship.

Upper Left: The interesting furniture renovation and automobile upholstery workshops are typical of a dozen or more laboratories scattered over the campus. These are turning out expert craftsmen.

Left Center: The radio laboratory is turning out specialists in the construction, repair and rebuilding field. Expert instruction is given students in this department.

Lower Left: The finest equipment and most excellent guidance obtainable serves men in the baking business under the foods units.

EVOLUTION OF AN AGGIE

MATRICULATE —

Remove the cowbell from Bossy, pack an extra shirt, take a compass reading and head for Stillwater. One week and 30 gallons of coffee — Swim's coffee, that is — later, you're an Aggie.

CONCENTRATE —

Learn the points of interest around the campus. Establish headquarters at Swim's. Be regular in attendance at Lewis Field in the Fall and at Gallagher Hall in the winter.

These Scenes are needed . . .

PROCRASTINATE —

Spend all of your cash on large volumes of uninteresting books. Stick them under the bed. Just before the finals, take them out and give them a good going over. Recuperate at Swim's.

GRADUATE —

If you're lucky, four or five years later you will have collected enough grade points to be invited to a very impressive ceremony. You leave Stillwater only to return about once a year to assure students that things just aren't the same any more.

Your Gas Company . . .

from WELL to BURNER TIP

THROUGH 5,000 MILES OF PIPE !

That's a lot of pipe!
And it's a tremendous task to see that you, the customer, get the gas you need, whenever you need it.

It's a 24-hour-a-day job bringing gas from widely scattered fields, over rocky hills and across rivers . . . maintaining proper pressures all along the line . . . planning and constructing new lines, and replacing old ones. It's a job that requires the tireless efforts of hundreds of men and women all working to see that your home, factories and office buildings will get sufficient fuel even on winter's coldest day.
So you see, 5,000 miles of pipe is not just a number . . . instead, it represents a living, dramatic journey from distant wells to the burner tips in your home.
